The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 1, 1906.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE "UTOPIAN" PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THERE seem to be a number of difficulties in the way of Mr. Alden's scheme for trade reform—for instance, human nature, economic law, and probably the law of the land—and in our judgment it may quite rightly be called Utopian, if not chimerical. To take the last point first, the American Publishers' Association has avoided becoming a trust in the eye of the law by leaving to individual publishers the entire control of their own business, going no further than to enforce the prices and conditions established by the publishers individually. Mr. Alden adopts this feature in his scheme, but in making the Association into a selling combination with aggregated capital and selling methods it would very likely come within the legal definition and prohibition of a trust.

Economic law requires that there should be machinery of supply to encourage demand, especially in a business like the book trade, which deals with goods on the borderland of luxury. To concentrate the business of a stated number of publishers in a single retail business, even with sub-agencies, in a great city like New York or a dozen others, would not only interfere with existing machinery, but would in all probability lessen instead of increase the sale of books. Nor can we see that it would be practicable to make such combinations either in the greater or the smaller cities. What is needed is the best means of strengthening existing book dealers and establishing book dealers in smaller centres large enough to support a bookstore but under present conditions lacking one. This is where Germany has succeeded and America has so far failed; and, as we have often pointed out, it is to the publishers that we must look for a solution of this not easy problem.

Competition is the life of trade, not in the sense of under-selling and cut-throat prices, but in the sense of competition in inviting the public to buy goods and in making it easy for the public to do so. This is where the Kodak people have been peculiarly successful, although, as has been pointed out, they do not rely upon exclusive agencies except perhaps in small places where there would not be enough trade to support two agencies.

Mr. Alden's scheme suggests that the conduct of the Association should be committed to a board of seven human beings who are to do a business only in safe books, according to methods in which they shall unanimously agree. There is no such thing as infallibility in the book business in judging as to what is a safe book, especially as to untried copyright books, and seven men would scarcely be likely to come to unanimous agreement as to safe books or the wisest methods. Such a board would be likely to do nothing rather than to develop business enterprise, especially under the conditions named.

The discussion in which Mr. Alden and Mr. Sherwood have taken part, and in which we trust other members of the trade will say their say, is nevertheless useful because it develops both criticism and suggestion; and there are many good ideas in Mr. Alden's communication which the trade would do well to heed. On the whole, however, the American Publishers' Association has done perhaps as good work as could be expected at the start. It has made some mistakes, especially in endeavoring to make regulations for the sale of non-copyright books. It has not yet handled adequately the question of fiction. But it has accomplished a great deal, partly by not attempting too much, and we believe that the trade ought to uphold it steadfastly and encourage it to strengthen and broaden its work.

PUBLISHERS or booksellers who may have discovered any errors in titles, prices, or otherwise, in the Educational List of 1906 are requested to call the attention of this office promptly to such corrections, as it is intended to print any corrigenda in an early issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY.

CENTENARY OF THE DEATH OF THE BOOKSELLER NAPOLEON SHOT.

AUGUST 25 marked the centennial of the judicial murder, at Braunau, in Austria, of Johann Philipp Palm, the Nuremberg bookseller, by Napoleon I. Palm was born in Schorndorf, Württemberg, in 1766, the exact date of his birth being in doubt. At the age of fourteen he was apprenticed to his uncle, Johann Jacob Palm, a bookseller in Erlangen. Having won his spurs as Alumnus literarius, he went to Frankfurt-a-M., then of greater importance as a book centre than later, and obtained a position in Andrä's publishing and bookselling concern which was noted also for its extensive printing establishment. Leaving Frankfurt, he went to Göttingen and became an assistant in the celebrated bookstore of Vandenhoeck's. At the age of twenty-five, possibly twenty-seven, he returned to his uncle's at Erlangen. On a visit to Leipzig he became acquainted with Stein, a bookseller of Nuremberg, whose daughter he subsequently married. Through his marriage (about 1792) Palm became a partner in the firm of Stein, which, founded in 1603, continues to the present day.

The period was a restless one, and even so early as the beginning of the Revolution in France, and, later, when the French invaded and dismembered Germany, the people, while they had become physically helpless against the foe, became mentally more alert and impatient of the tyrannical oppression of their French masters. The country—the whole of Europe, in fact—was flooded with incendiary literature in the shape of tracts and pamphlets rousing the people and their rulers to resist the depredations of the hated Corsican with all the power within their means. Though the invader used all vigilance and despised no tool, however mean or contemptible, to watch every possible source from which this flood of literature might issue, the stream flowed unceasingly.

One of the most forceful attacks upon Napoleon and on the conduct of his troops in Bavaria was circulated in the spring of 1806. It was a small pamphlet of 144 pages without name of author, place of publication, publisher or date. It was simply entitled "Deutschland in seiner tiefen Erniedrigung" (Germany in her deep degradation). The pamphlet created considerable excitement not only among the German people, but among the French as well. A copy of the pamphlet was found by French officers quartered at the residence of the clergyman of Mettingen, near Nördlingen, in Württemberg, who under the impression that his guests did not understand German, incautiously left his copy on the table of his dining room. The work incensed the officers and they promptly informed their general (Davoust). The Journal de Paris was the first to hint that the work had its origin in Stein's printing office. The circumstance that Palm, who was at the time in Munich on business, was not at once identified with the proprietorship of Stein's concern (his father-in-law had died probably in 1804) possibly accounts for the fact that he was not arrested at once.

Napoleon, having been acquainted with the pamphlet, presumably written by Professor Yelin, of Ansbach, though the authorship is still in doubt, ordered the instant arrest of its publisher and his execution as a warning example to other offenders. Palm at first attempted flight, but depending upon the fact that he was only an agent in the distribution of the pamphlet and upon his citizenship of a free imperial city, returned to Nuremberg where he was arrested. An extraordinary court-martial, held at Braunau, to which place he was removed, condemned him to death on August 25, 1806, no advocate being heard in his defense. General Saint Hilaire declared that the orders of the emperor were positive, and the sentence was executed at two o'clock on the same day on which it was pronounced. The execution of Palm served to stir up a feeling of bitter hatred among the German people against the domination of the French, and finally aroused the general indignation of Europe. With the murder of the Duc d'Enghien this was one of Napoleon's gravest blunders.

The curious visitor to Nuremberg will find the house in which Palm lived in the Wincklerstrasse near the imposing Sebalduskirche marked with a tablet inscribed as follows: "Hier wohnte Johann Palm, welcher fiel ein Opfer Napoleonischer Tyrannei im Jahre 1806." The tablet was affixed in 1842 by order of King Ludwig I. of Bavaria. It was Palm whom Byron had in mind when, one evening in a gay company, he delivered himself of the toast: "Here's to Napoleon, he shot a bookseller."

TURKISH LITERATURE.

TURKEY is said to have a vast literature, some of it being of splendid quality. Most of it is anonymous, we are told by F. W. von Herbert in the London Book Monthly. The Turkish author, according to Mr. von Herbert, receives his remuneration from the scribe, who in most cases simply buys the original manuscript for a fixed sum, and makes three or four copies of it. There are, however, some few authors, men of high class families, of wide acquaintanceship and of political and official influence, who can afford to do without the middleman. They are either their own scribes, if they are sufficiently good penmen, or they employ salaried copyists, and then do their own distributing among families and households where they have power and social standing. These authors often sell their copies, instead of merely lending them.

The second distributing medium is the professional story teller. He is the middleman for the short story—say anything between 500 and 10,000 words. From time immemorial the majority of the professional reciters of Turkey have been Syrians, who can declaim at will in Turkish, in Arabic and in Syrian. Only those who have heard the reciter in his perfection in some obscure, out-of-the-way café can have an idea of his consummate skill, of his power and passion, of the wonderful modulations of his voice.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

To the Members of the American Booksellers' Association

As the fall season opens up, and as booksellers all over the country are looking forward to a most prosperous business, it seems an opportune time to take a survey of the bookselling field.

In looking around we find business conditions good, we are having very little trouble with prices, all dealers, booksellers and department stores alike are standing up loyally for protection, and while the margin of profit is not as large as some would desire, still it is so much better than under old conditions that from all sides the net system is receiving splendid support. There is only one cloud in the sky; I refer to the fact that a number of publishers remain outside the membership of the American Publishers' Association. As long as this condition exists our future is in danger. The situation is still further disturbed by the fact that a number of booksellers who are members of the American Booksellers' Association, and who have in the past given our association firm support, seem to have grown careless and are not giving to the members of the American Publishers' Association the support they are entitled to.

It is not the province of the American Booksellers' Association to advise any member as to the conduct of his business, but our present satisfactory condition rests upon a foundation of which every bookseller in the country forms a part. The strength of this foundation depends altogether on unity of purpose, and devotion to the principle of one price and a fair profit. If this foundation ever begins to crumble, there is no outside force to hold it together. It seems to me from past experience that every bookseller and every department store should appreciate what it is to have one price.

Now, are you going to put it in danger? This number of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY contains a list of the officers and members of the American Publishers' Association; this list is a record of the publishers who stand for one price and a fair profit. No matter what a publisher may tell you, if he is not a member of the American Publishers' Association, (except the laws of his State forbid such membership,) he is against the net system. He could not be otherwise, as the whole system of protection depends on the existence of the American Publishers' Association.

Do you want to go back to a 79 c. price on current fiction, with all the discouragement and loss that went with those days of 1899 and 1900?

Do department stores want to go into another useless fight among themselves that will force them to run their book departments at a loss?

If not, and if you really do value protection, then stand by the members of the American Publishers' Association, who have been and are to-day standing by you.

If the crash ever comes—if this grand system of protection that has cost so much time and labor and money to build ever falls to the ground, and you are ground to pieces between contending forces, each striving to sell below the other, then remember this warning.

HARRY F. DAVIS,

Sec'y Amer. Booksellers' Association.

PITTSBURG, August 27, 1906.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A PARABLE FOR PUBLISHERS.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: The Utopian Publishers' Association. We call it "Utopian" because it will, of course, be pronounced "visionary" and "inpracticable."

But the publisher's "victims," the distracted, hopeless booksellers, suffering from the foolish, profitless chaos resulting from the publisher's mismanagement, will have some thoughts on the subject. Possibly some intelligent librarians, also, and observant book-buyers may have opinions as to whether it is "U-topian"—or "You Imbecile," that publishers have not done the right thing sooner.

THE U. P. A.

Seven sane publishers resolving that chaos had reigned long enough, and that Æsop's fable of The Sticks was common sense, joined their wisdom and strength and incorporated The Utopian Publishers' Association.

(1) Capital, $70,000, in shares of $1000 each, each publisher taking ten shares, and naming one of the seven trustees.

(2) Provision was made in the incorporation papers, and confirmed in the certificates of stock and profit-sharing certificates, by which the business of the U. P. A. should be limited to specific lines of absolute, unspeculative safety, and that on fundamental matters action should follow only on the unanimous vote of the seven trustees.

(3) Provision was further made for the issuing of profit-sharing certificates of $1000 each to other publishers who might, later, want to join the U. P. A., by the unanimous approval of the seven trustees, the certificates giving privileges the same as stock, excepting the trustees' power of control.

(4) Provision was further made that publishers owning stock or certificates (transferable only by the unanimous consent of the trustees) should market all their publications through the U. P. A., or its local agents.

(5) Each publisher to consign to the U. P. A., at headquarters, or direct to its various branches, such publications as he might please, at 20 per cent. discount from the lowest selling price which such publisher might fix to be charged to the local agents of the U. P. A., bills in duplicate being rendered to headquarters and to branches where shipped of such consignments.

(6) Provision was made that dividends should be paid, first 10 per cent. per annum to stock or certificate holders, the remainder of the profits being divided pro rata among the publishers according to the amount of the business they had contributed.

(7) The U. P. A. to advance on the consignments (which would be paid for only as sold) such percentages, the same to all the publishers, of the net price as the seven trustees should unanimously agree, the advances being either cash, the indorsed notes of the local agents or the notes of the U. P. A.

(8) The U. P. A. opened headquarters in New York City and established branches for stock rooms and shipping departments in ten principal cities of the continent, placing within ready reach of local agents ample supplies, from which even small shipments could be secured if wanted in haste, at light cost of transportation.

(9) Though under the control of seven trustees, a general manager of large ability was placed in charge, with chief clerks in charge of proper forces, adequate to the business, at each branch office.

(10) A few strong men with ample experience and good judgment were then sent out to secure and appoint one exclusive local agent in every city of the continent, of 5000 or more population, gradually extending on the same lines to smaller places, the purpose being to build one genuine, flourishing bookstore in every important town, and a nucleus of one in smaller places. With the united strength and business of the "seven sane publishers" as backing and the practical certainty that all other publishers would soon join in the movement, it was an easy matter, of course, to take their choice for local agents from bookstores already existing; or, if none of suitable mental and financial calibre existed, to find suitable merchants who would gladly take such sole agencies.

(11) While planning permanent agencies always when practicable, limited contracts were always made with local agents, so as to make it possible to oust on reasonable notice those found incompetent, or for reasons of death or other complications.

(12) Each local agent was required to carry a specified amount of stock, according to the size and richness of his field, and to fairly and vigorously represent and push the publications of all the stock or certificate holders, and to sell books to retail buyers or libraries only, at home, or where there was no other local agency.

(13) The discount or net price which each publisher would fix on his own publications to local agents was "flat," without regard to the quantity, but such discounts or prices might be different to different local agents, as local conditions and the extent of the market might make it possible to do a satisfactory or largely profitable business in one place on a smaller margin than at another place, and publishers or buyers, one or both, should have the benefit of such conditions.

(14) Each local agent was required to keep reasonable record of business with all important customers, indicating the approximate amount and general character of purchases, which record would be for the benefit of the agent and the various publishers, for joint or several use.

(15) Publishers could invite correspondence to any extent from libraries or local buyers, but any business done was either through the local agent, or he would receive his full margin of profit.

(16) The records at each branch office from which local agents received their supplies showed exactly the business done by each local agent, and each publisher would regularly or at intervals have a special clerk at such branches to tabulate such information for use at headquarters, and with this information as a basis, publishers might intelligently criticize or stimulate local agencies, and by offers direct of "bonuses" or other inducements, for specified results—for instance, specified quantity of sales of a given book within a specified time in proportion to tributary population—might encourage agents and increase business.

(17) Concessions to libraries of specified standing might be allowed in accordance with strict rules to be laid down by each publisher, and at the option of the local agent small concessions might be made to other buyers, in accordance with amount of purchase, but the policy of one price, low as circumstances would warrant, to all would be closely followed, either being required or advised.

(18) In large cities where one bookstore could not be accessible conveniently to all bookbuyers, the local agents were required to, and aided in, arranging sub-agencies, dividing their commission with such, so as to adequately cover the ground.

POINTS.

(1) Of course, the foregoing is only a suggestive outline, and it is fair to suppose that even "sane publishers" will be able to learn by experience and improve plans in some particulars, but in general it may be said:

(2) Each publisher would retain his complete individuality and power of initiation, might push or sit still, would be liable for nobody else's folly, might follow the policy of getting for his books "all the customer will stand," or of supplying "the best book possible for the least money possible," might even continue the "business idiocy" of "fictitious" prices, "cut rates," and other humbug methods, though "sane" local agents could be counted on to amply discourage excessive folly in any lines.

Men having large business ability and ambition and self-respect, heretofore discouraged from entering the demoralized, unprofitable, uncertain book field, would, under the new conditions, gladly be candidates for local agencies.

Specially large shipments could be made from publishers direct to local agents, and even accounts thereon made direct, without intervention of the U. P. A., such transactions not interfering with the fundamental thing, the exclusive local agency and stable terms, the publisher, dealer and buyer each getting his proper due.

It would, under the above conditions, easily be possible to materially reduce the present average cost of books to bookbuyers, because the risk and expenses of doing business would be so greatly diminished. For instance, suppose that one merchant of competent ability and ample capital had the control of the book market in New York City. He could easily sell all the books which are now sold at not to exceed one-half the expense which is now incurred by the one thousand and one petty and harassed or big and reckless dealers who now handle them.

After organization and the proper "planting" of the country with local agencies, publishers' present immense and permanently continued expense of travelling "drummers" would almost entirely be done away with, and publishers could readily sufficiently, if not closely, estimate in advance what would be possible to do or reasonable to expect concerning new publications.

By sometimes joining in bulletins, classifying books according to character, and by systematically and intelligently guiding the work of their publicity department, with the help of local agents who would be interested to join them (knowing that they would be able to reap where they sowed, instead of planting seed for somebody else to harvest), present enormous wastefulness in advertising could be largely eliminated, and practical and most ample publicity secured at less than half, probably less than one-quarter of the money that is now "thrown into the air" for advertising purposes.

Very respectfully,

JOHN B. ALDEN.

OBITUARY NOTES.

CAPTAIN NATHAN APPLETON, author, traveler and Panama Canal promoter in the days of Lesseps, died in Boston on Saturday, August 25. Captain Appleton traced his ancestry to the Pilgrim fathers. His half-sister was the wife of Longfellow.

ALBERT GRANNIS LANE, one of the most widely known educators in the West, died at his home in Chicago on Wednesday, August 22, following an attack of nervous prostration. Mr. Lane was born in Chicago on March 15, 1841. He was for many years superintendent of the Chicago city schools and was also president and trustee of the National Educational Association. He received the honorary degree of Master of Arts from Dartmouth College.

MRS. IZORA CHANDLER, artist and authoress, died on Saturday, August 25, at the home of her son in Kingston, N. Y. Mrs. Chandler was known as a miniature painter and as a writer of stories about children and dogs. She was a graduate of the College of Fine Arts of Syracuse University, studied in Europe, and was a member of the Society of American Artists, of the New York Miniature Society and of the Woman's Press Club. Among her best-known books are "A Dog of Constantinople," "Elvira Hopkins of Tompkins Corners," "Told in the Gardens of Araby," and "Methodist Episcopalianism." She was for fourteen years a resident of New York City where her evening salons were attended by the celebrities of the literary and art world.

DEXTER REYNOLDS, a prominent lawyer of Albany, died at Albany on Sunday, August 26, aged 78. His father was Marcus T. Reynolds, who was a justice of the Supreme Court, member of Congress, a prime mover in organizing the first railroad from Albany to Boston, and the first president of its western link, the Albany and West Stockbridge road. Mr. Reynolds was grandfather of the Harvard Law School, class of 1850. In 1853 he wrote the volume entitled "A Treatise on the Law of Life Assurance" which is now a rare volume, but still used as a reference authority. His patented inventions numbered twenty or more. Among them was a type-setting machine, and a few years later a type distributor, a pioneer in its line, parts of which were later utilized by manufacturers.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE current number of The Bookman contains "Notes for a History of Book Puffery," by James H. Collins, which contains facts about advertising and making popularity since the days of "Hudibras" and "Evelina."

Current Literature for September has an article on "Is the Novel Being Superseded?" in which it sums up views on that subject that have appeared in the London Daily Telegraph, The Quarterly Review and The Academy, Collier's Weekly, Harper's Weekly, Munsey's Magazine and the North American Review.

The Publisher and Retailer for August prints an alphabetical list with critical comments of fifty-six periodicals that have a sale from Maine to California. Special reference is made to the concessions made to the trade by the periodicals indexed. A supplementary list will follow shortly for which suggestions are requested.

BUSINESS NOTES.

NEW YORK CITY.—We hasten to correct an error which appeared in our business notes of last week. Baker & Taylor has no other office and no other address than 33-37 East Seventeenth Street. The error came about from the misinterpretation by a vacation substitute of an unsigned postal card sent out by A. Wessels & Co., announcing the removal of their (Wessels') stock to Brooklyn, and the fact that a full line of Wessels' publications would be found at Baker & Taylor Co.'s office at 33-37 East Seventeenth Street.

PERSONAL NOTES.

W. A. GRAY has resigned his position as manager of the Pilgrim Press, Chicago Branch.

CHARLES C. SHOEMAKER, of the Penn Publishing Company, has again taken up his usual quarters at the Hotel Albert, New York, where he will look after the New York fall trade and be glad to meet his old friends and the out-of-town trade that may be visiting New York.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

DANA ESTES & Co. will issue September 15 "Holy Land," Gustav Frenssen's new novel, of which 80,000 copies have already been sold in Germany. This is the exclusive authorized translation of this masterpiece by the author of "Jörn Uhl." Humble sea-faring folk are the characters, and religious thought has a large place in its interest.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. specially call the attention of the trade to the selling properties of John Reed Scott's "The Colonel of the Red Hussars," now in the sixth edition; of A. M. Barbour's "Breakers Ahead," and E. F. Benson's "The Angel of Pain," both in their third editions; and of Edgar Saltus' "Vanity Square," which has also reached a large second edition.

DIRECTORS OF THE OLD SOUTH WORK have just issued in the series of Old South Leaflets "Body of Liberties," the code adopted by the Massachusetts Colony in 1641, often referred to as the Magna Charta of New England; John Wise's tractate on "The Law and Nature of Government;" "The Articles of the New England Confederation of 1643;" and "The Fundamental Constitutions of Carolina, 1669," which John helped to frame.

THE GRAFTON PRESS, New York, have reduced to $1 net the large collection of toasts which they publish under the title "Waes Hael, the Book of Toasts." The Grafton Historical Series promises many hours of delight to students of local histories. In it are now ready "Historic Hadley," by Alice Morehouse Walker; "King Philip's War," a history of the great Indian wars of 1675-76, by George W. Ellis and John E. Morris; and the second edition of "In Olde Connecticut," by Charles Burr Todd.

DUFFIELD & COMPANY are now ready to ship orders on the following books: "Mother Goose," pictures in color and illustrated text, by Harry Smith; "Little Nemo in Slumberland," by Winsor McCay; "Chinatown Ballads," stories of San Francisco's Chinese quarter told in verse, by Wallace Irwin; "Pride and Prejudice," a play by Mrs. Steele MacKaye; a new illustrated edition of Frankfort Moore's "The Jessamy Bride"; "On Reading," by Georg Brandes; and "The World's Painters Since Leonardo da Vinci," by James W. Pattison, illustrated with 80 half-tone reproductions.

BOBBS, MERRILL & Co. will have ready shortly "Blindfolded," by Earle Ashley Walcott, with illustrations by Alice Barber Stevens. The scene of this story of adventure and mystery is San Francisco, and the plot keeps the reader questioning who? which? what? why? where? An attractive children's book is "The Golden Goblin," by Curtis Dunham, based on the ever fascinating legend of "The Flying Dutchman," with illustrations in color by George Kerr. The story is the happy combination of mirth and wonder, nonsense rhymes and pretty pictures which make the successful juvenile.

EDWARD STERN & COMPANY have sent us a copy of their widely-known "The Roosevelt Bears: their travels and adventures," by Seymour Eaton, ("Paul Piper,") for before Teddy B. and Teddy G. were confined within book covers they roamed through twenty leading daily newspapers and hundreds of thousands of children and grown-ups already have become intimate with them. President Roosevelt and his boys enjoyed the story in serial form, and "Nin," "Ruth" and "Jack" have been on intimate footing at the White House also. The illustrations by V. Floyd Campbell have done their share to make the black bear and the grizzly bear familiar throughout the newspaper reading land.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY has a fine nature book for boys and girls in "Squeaks and Squawks from Far Away Forests," by Burton Stoner, author of "Jim Crow Tales," illustrated by Charles Livingston Bull. The author, a true lover of wild life, by means of unusual stories of animal life takes his young readers with him into the deep forest, shows them the beauty of the woods, and teaches them to love it all as he does, and the artist has made more than twenty pictures, six of which the publishers have printed in colors. Also ready is "Candle Light," by Georgia Roberts Dawson, with drawings by Katherine H. Greenland, a book of verse for the mother to read to the children at her knee by "candle light."

THE INTERNATIONAL ART PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, are the agents in this country for Dean's Rag Book Co., Ltd., of London. This firm produces a quality of rag books that walks straight into the hearts of the babies and makes mothers and nurses almost as happy as the children, and far more appreciative of the special advantages of really indestructible books, with inimitable pictures of humans and animals, all in strictly fast colors, that can be put periodically into the washtub along with the little nursery pinafores and come out as good as new. In this microbe fighting day such hygienic books free from possibility of conveying infection must certainly appeal. Among the samples submitted we have already fallen quite in love with the attractions of "Cock-a-Doodle-Do," a bold domestic animal book; "A Was an Archer," an alphabet book in which the pictures of the butcher, miser, parson, etc., for which some of the letters stand, are fine studies in caricature; "Puff, Puff" and "Puffing Billy," two exciting train books; "Gee, Gee Book," full of all the beloved domestic animals; "A Frog He Would A-Wooing Go," showing many of the dearly loved heroes and heroines of "Mother Goose;" and "A Poor Little Dutch Doll," who in all the many vicissitudes she meets is fondly loved and cared for by little Mother Susie. They are a delight. Order plenty for the holidays.

HENRY HOLT & COMPANY have made arrangements for the autumn publication of a goodly list of books. In fiction there will be

"Joseph Vance: an ill-written autobiography," a complete human document with a wealth of humorous detail by William de Morgan; "In the Shadow of the Lord: a romance of the Washingtons," by Mrs. Hugh Fraser; "The Cruise of the Violetta," by Arthur Colton, a highly fanciful tale of a widow's cruise in the south seas, adopting orphans, buying mummies and helping on small revolutions; "The King's Divinity," by Dolores Bacon; "The Poet and the Parish," by Mary Moss, showing both the tyranny of convention and its justification; and "Affairs of State," by Burton L. Stevenson, an account of certain surprising adventures which befell an American family in Holland. Nature lovers are promised "The Bird: its form and function," by C. William Beebe, of the New York Zoological Park, which will inaugurate The American Nature Series; and "The Log of the Sun," an illustrated weekly nature calendar with text also by C. W. Beebe and colored illustrations by Walter King Stone. History and politics will be represented by a new edition of Maine's "Ancient Law," with introduction and notes by Sir Frederick Pollock; "The Labor Movement in Australia," by Victor S. Clark, a Ph.D. of Johns Hopkins, now connected with the Carnegie Institute in Washington; and vols. 3 and 4 of J. A. Doyle's "English Colonies in America." "The Principles of English Verse," by Professor Charlton M. Lewis, of Yale University, is full of information for those who love poetry and desire to enjoy it intelligently; and tasteful gift books are forthcoming in "The Friendly Town: a poetry book for the urbane," compiled by E. V. Lucas; "A Cheerful Year Book," intended for engagements and other matters to be remembered, interspersed with philosophic and moral aphorisms, by F. M. Knowles, introduced and epilogued by edifying remarks by the ever happy Carolyn Wells, all illustrated by fifty-two pictures by C. F. Lester; and a book for young people by S. Marion Ames Taggart, illustrated by G. W. Breck, entitled "Daddy's Daughter."

A. C. McCLURG & Co. are making active preparations for a busy fall publishing season. In fiction there will be "The Day's Journey," by Miss Netta Syrett, of which the scenes are laid in England, which is interpretive of human nature among people of artistic tastes and refinement and which possesses an element of true humor; "Ridolfo: the Coming of the Dawn," an Italian romance of the fourteenth century, by Egerton R. Williams, Jr., illustrated by Joseph C. Leyendecker, famous for his decorative work; and "Bob Hampton of Placer," a tale of two soldiers of the Seventh, a story of Custer's last stand against the Sioux braves under Sitting Bull. Of historical and biographical interest are "The History of Venice," by Pompeo Molmenti, translated by Horatio F. Brown, British archivist in Venice, to be completed in six volumes, of which two will be ready in October; "With Byron in Italy," edited by Mrs. Anna Bennesson McMahan, from the poems and letters of Byron covering the period of his life from 1816 to 1823, dwelling specially upon Byron's susceptibility to Italian influences; "A Hundred Years Hence: the expectations of an optimist," by T. Baron Russell, who relies solely upon the education of the public and social conscience for remedying all that we find objectionable in present-day life; and "McDonald of Oregon: a tale of two shores," by Mrs. Eva Emery Dye, which tells of the chance casting away of a party of Japanese on the Oregon coast many years ago, which inspired McDonald to enact a similar drama with the characters and continents reversed. This volume is a sequel to the author's story of "McLoughlin and Old Oregon." Other announcements include a completely rewritten edition of George P. Upton's "The Standard Cperas," "Folk Lore of Women," by T. E. Thistleton Dyer, made up of observations of man upon woman from the dawn of history to the present day; and "The Stained Glass Lady," a living fairy story, illustrated by Blanche Ostertag.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in preparation for the fall "Ghetto Comedies," a new book by Israel Zangwill, which will include some of his most delightful studies of Jewish life and character; "The Amulet," a new story of the Tennessee mountains by Miss Murfree, ("Charles Egbert Craddock;") also, "Disenchantment," a story of harem life in Constantinople by Pierre Loti. In history they will bring out this fall volumes 6 and 7 of the scholarly "History of the United States," by James Ford Rhodes, completing the work, and the second volume of Edward Channing's more popular work, "The United States of America, 1765-1865," to be completed in eight volumes. Herbert Paul's important "History of Modern England" will be completed in five volumes, and the first volume will appear of "A History of Rome in the Middle Ages," by F. Marion Crawford and Professor Giuseppe Tomassetti. Volume 4 of the Cambridge Modern History, dealing with the "Thirty Years' War," will also be published. In biography two important works will be the "Reminiscences of Sir Henry Irving," in two substantial and richly illustrated volumes, by the late actor's manager and close friend, Bram Stoker; and the "Life, Letters and Art of Lord Leighton," also in two volumes, by Mrs. Russell Barrington. A collected edition of the poems and plays of W. B. Yeats, in two volumes, is promised, and a poet already highly esteemed in England, Alfred Noyes, will find an introduction to American readers through a volume of poems. Two pectical plays by Percy Mackaye, "Jeanne d'Arc" and "Sappho and Phaon," will add to the reputation of the author of "The Canterbury Pilgrims." In the early fall they will bring out a new book by Clifton Johnson, "Highways and Byways of the Mississippi Valley," and a delightful book by Stephen Gwynn about his native land, "The Fair Hills of Ireland." Among other illustrated and travel books there will be Dr. Edward Everett Hale's "Tarry at Home Travels," Professor A. V. Williams Jackson's "Persia Past and Present," "A Wanderer in London," by E. V. Lucas; and "Charleston—the Place and the People," by Mrs. St. Julien Ravenel.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

BOOK FOR CHILDREN

THIRTY-NINE illustrations—nine in full color—by Bessie Collins Pease make Told to the Little Tot one of the most beautiful books for children issued in many a day. There is probably no one in the world better fitted to write for children than Edmund Vance Cooke, and no one better able to draw a life-like child than Miss Pease. The combination of the two—writer and artist—make certain a very popular demand.

PUBLISH THIS FALL

THE AMERICAN NATURE SERIES

The publishers of the American Science Series have begun the publication of the American Nature Series, in the hope that in its own way, the new series will stand on a par with its famous predecessor. Prospectus free on application. The first volume to appear is

The Bird: Its Form and Function. By O. William Beebe, Curator of Birds in the New York Zoological Park. Author of "Two Bird Lovers in Mexico." With frontispiece in color and 370 illustrations from photographs, 496 pp.

Birds are here considered, not as individuals or families, but as a class, and their class characteristics are reviewed from the standpoint of form and function, with special emphasis on the evolution of structure. The unusually large number of photographs, expressly prepared for this volume, are of the greatest value.

A Beautiful and Novel Gift Book for Nature Lovers

The Log of the Sun. A Chronicle of Nature's Year, 191 illustrations (fifty-two in color) of Nature's varying aspects, by Walter King Stone, with text by O. William Beebe. 8vo.

A beautifully illustrated perennial weekly nature chronicle, embracing fifty-two seasonable full paged pictures in color, familiar aspects of nature for each week from an unusual point of view.

A Tasteful Gift-Book of Permanent Value

The Friendly Town. A Poetry Book for the Urbane, compiled by E. V. Lucas, with illustrated cover-linings. Uniform with The Open Road. 380 pp., cloth, $1.50. Also available in leather.

A very pretty entertaining humorous picture book with a handy diary attached. Eminently suitable for presentation in anticipation of the new year

A Cheerful Year Book. For Engagements and other Serious Matters accompanied by Philo-sophic and Moral Aphorisms for the instruction of youth, the inspiration of maturity and the solace of age, by F. W. Knowles, the same being illustrated by tasteful and illuminating pictures by C. F. Lester, and the whole being introduced and concluded with profound and edifying remarks by Carolyn Wells. 12mo.

Maine's Ancient Law. New Edition with Introduction and Notes by Sir Frederick Pollock. 8vo, $1.75 net; by mail, $1.92.

The Labor Movement in Australia. By Victor S. Clark.

A competent, temperate, and judicial treatment of an important subject, on which there has been a great deal of wild writing. The author, a Ph D. of Johns Hopkins, and now connected with the Carnegie Institute in Washington, spent a year in New Zealand and Australia investigating the social and economic conditions in those countries.

English Colonies in America. Vol. III., The Middle Colonies. Vol. IV.. The Colonies Under the House of Hanover. By J. A. Doyle. Each volume with colored map. 8vo, $3.50 per volume.

The Principles of English Verse. By Charlton M. Lewis, Professor in Yale University. 143 pp., 12mo, $1.25 net; by mail, $1.33.

For students and general readers who enjoy poetry, but think they might enjoy it more if they found it less bewildering.

Affairs of State: Being an Account of Certain Surprising Adventures which Befell an American Family in the Land of Windmills. By Burton E. Stevenson, author of The Marathon Mystery, etc., illustrated by F. Vaux Wilson. 335 pp., 12mo, $1.50.

Joseph Vance. An Ill-Written Autobiography. By William de Morgan. 528 pp., $1.50.

In the Shadow of the Lord. A Romance of the Washingtons. By Mrs. Hugh Fraser, author of A Maid of Japan, Letters From Japan, etc. 12mo, $1.50.

The Cruise of the Violetta. By Arthur Colton. 12mo, $1.50.

The King's Divinity. By Dolores Bacon, author of The Diary of a Muslim. Illustrated by Phillips Ward. 12mo, $1.50.

The Poet and the Parish. By Mary Moss. 12mo, $1.50.

Audrey Craven. By May Sinclair, author of The Divine Fire and Super-seded. 12mo, $1.50.

Daddy's Daughter. By Marion Ames Taggart, author of Nut Brown Joan, etc. Illustrated by G. W. Brock. 12mo, $1.50.

An Open Letter

To all Booksellers and Stationers

DEAR MR. BOOKSELLER: If you do not deal in old books will you let us make some money for you without any effort or expense on your part.

WE BUY OLD

Our plan is to put a copy of this sign in a prominent place in your store—advertise in your local papers that we buy old books—in your name at our expense. We will do all the correspondence and estimating, and in addition pay you twenty per cent (20%) on all books bought through you.

Isn't this a good thing for you?

If you do deal in old books and it should happen that you have a chance to purchase a library that involves a larger investment than you care to make, we will be glad to pay you a liberal commission or share the profit on such a transaction. We want good old books in large or small quantities. Come, let us do business together. Our catalogues are free—our buyers are always on the road. If you want to see one of them, write us.

NEW JUVENILES

SQUEAKS AND SQUAWKS FROM FAR-AWAY FORESTS

By BURTON STONER, Author of "JIM CROW TALES"

Illustrated by CHARLES LIVINGSTON BULL

Burton Stoner is a lover of wild life. He takes the boys and girls on delightful excursions into the deep forest, makes them see the interesting things he sees, shows them the beauties of the woods and its creatures, imbues them with his own enthusiasm, teaches them to love it all as he does, and all this by means of fascinating and unusual stories of animal life.

We need only add that Charles Livingston Bull illustrates the book with more than twenty drawings, six of which are in colors, to make you realize that it is the best nature book of the year.

Be sure to have an ample supply of

CANDLE LIGHT

By GEORGIA ROBERTS DURSTON

Drawings by KATHARINE H. GREENLAND

A book of verse for the mother to read to the children at her knee at "candle light." The verses themselves are unexcelled for originality of thought and beauty of expression, and have been fully illustrated by the inimitable drawings of child life by Miss Greenland.

"When summer comes, to bed I go
While yet the little moon is low,
And when my mother leaves, I say
'Don't take the candle quite away.'
My mother laughs and says 'Good-night,
You have the stars for candle light.'"

(Verse from the title poem of "CANDLE LIGHT")

TARBELL'S TEACHERS' GUIDE

TO THE INTERNATIONAL

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSONS

The Best Book for the Sunday School Ever Printed

REV. DR. R. S. MACARTHUR, Calvary Baptist Church, New York, N. Y.

"I commend the volume without a single qualification and with hearty appreciation of its varied excellencies."

MR. R. M. INLOW

Field Secretary of the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention

"As a Sunday School help, Tarbell's Guide must be placed in a class by itself. Nothing has yet appeared that approaches it in the field it occupies."

REV. DR. R. A. TORREY, The World Famous Evangelist

"The most complete book for Sunday School teachers that I have seen."

REV. DR. B. B. TYLER, President of the International Sunday School Convention, 1902-1905, Member of the International Sunday School Lesson Committee, Pastor of the South Broadway Christian Church, Denver, Colo.

"Who is Martha Tarbell? This I know: She has written the best book of the kind I have seen."

REV. DR. P. S. HENSON, D. D., Tremont Temple, Boston, Mass.

"I am delighted with Tarbell's Teachers' Guide. It is positively the best thing of the kind I have seen."

MR. C. D. MEIGS

General Superintendent and Secretary of the Texas Sunday School Association

"It guides the teachers into broad fields of interesting and helpful information, and supplies more of such information than any other book of the kind yet published."

REV. DR. J. WILBUR CHAPMAN, The Great Evangelist and Bible Expositor

"Tarbell's Teachers' Guide is a unique book in Sunday School instruction and covers the whole year's work more admirably, in my judgment, than any other book I have seen. The suggestions as to teaching could not be better. I commend it to Sunday School teachers everywhere."

REV. DR. WAYLAND HOYT, 3604 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

"I have only satisfaction and delight to express regarding Tarbell's Teachers' Guide. I think the whole volume—the analysis, arrangement, application, quotations, explanation—indeed, the whole contents and make-up of the book most admirable. I shall, myself, steadily use it, and know nothing better for the Sunday School teacher."

By Martha Tarbell, Ph. D.

A large 12mo, beautifully printed in plain, open type, over 600 pages bound in cloth, Illustrated with innumerable drawings, maps, charts, designs and photographs. $1.25.

THE NEW BOOK BY THE NEW HENTY

Herbert Strang is everywhere accepted as successor to the late G. A. Henty. He is to-day, as Henty was yesterday, the writer of the books dearest to the heart of a boy.

IN CLIVE'S COMMAND

is a royal tale of the fight for the conquest of India. It tells the daring and ingenious exploits of Desmond Burke, a sixteen-year-old boy who follows the brave leader Clive to victory, and is enabled to do him extraordinary service. The famous siege of Calcutta and the splendid battle of Plassey figure in the story. Breathlessly exciting from cover to cover is In Clive's Command.

The Funniest Book Since—

Says Shorty McCabe:

What I need is a life sentence to stay in little old New York.

Maybe Sadie wasn't brought up by a Swedish maid and a French governess from Chelsea, Mass., but she's a real hand-picked pippin. What's more, she's a nice little lady, with nothin' behind her that you couldn't print in a Sunday-school weekly.

Most of the fancy thinkin' I've ever done has been along that line—how to get back to Broadway.

FRONTISPIECE to SHORTY McCABE

SHORTY McCABE will be the best selling novel of the season! Why?

Ask anyone who has read Shorty's adventures as they have appeared in the Associated Sunday Magazines, and they will tell you SHORTY is a character who will appeal to every reader, man or woman, young or old.

Sewell Ford is a name to conjure with: the author of HORSES NINE, whose work is always full of first-hand humor and sentiment.

TWO IMPORTANT NEW NOVELS

Blind Alleys

By GEORGE CARY EGGLESTON

Author of "Dorothy South," etc.

Illustrated. Cloth, $1.50

In "Blind Alleys" George Cary Eggleston enters upon a new field of fiction, casts his work in a larger mould than any that he has hitherto used, and gives us altogether the most important novel that he has yet written. It is a novel of New York life, and is full of those curious and intricate mysteries of life that abound in a great city. There is a sweet and wholesome love story, and altogether the novel is one of peculiarly fascinating interest.

Hearts and the Cross

By HAROLD MORTON KRAMER

Illustrated. Cloth, $1.50

Mr. Kramer is another of the Indiana journalists who have contributed so much to recent literature. The story is of a man whose vigorous personality enables him to secure justice for himself under most trying conditions. His fearless honesty and sympathy provoke deadly hatred, augmented by the jealousy of the lover of the heroine, whose interest in the mysterious preacher, so clearly above his present station, adds fuel to the jealous flame. Lawlessness, heroism and noble self-sacrifice have their part in the development of an intensely dramatic plot.

Whispering Smith

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

ILLUSTRATED IN COLOR BY N. C. WYETH. $1.50

A tremendous story of the West as it was when the railroad first went through, when men fought rivers, mountains and each other with a sure eye, a quick gun and endless nerve. This is the West where Whispering Smith lived and fought and loved, where George McCloud ran his railroad, where Sinclair opposed them both and Dicksie helped them. There has not been a story like this since Bret Harte's early days.

NOTES IN SEASON.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING Co. have brought out during the heat of discussion "The New Method of Spelling as Recommended by the Spelling Reform Committee and Approved by President Roosevelt," a little pamphlet giving a list of the 300 words which are now to be "simplified" and a little history of the movement for reform.

BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have just ready "Blindfolded," by Earle Ashley Walcott, a most exciting story of all kinds of mystery; "In Clive's Command," by Herbert Strang, who is now spoken of as the new Henty, a story of the fight for the conquest of India; and Miss Martha Tarbell's "Teachers' Guide to the International Sunday School Lessons," which has the endorsement of many well-known ministers and other noted men interested in Sunday-school work.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "The Undeified," by Frances Aymar Mathews, author of "My Lady Peggy Goes to Town," a romance of New York life and modern business methods; and will issue shortly "The $30,000 Bequest," a new volume of selections from the writings of Mark Twain; and "The Crystal Sceptre," a book for boys with a Robinson Crusoe flavor, by Philip Verrill Mighels. New editions are also preparing of "The Mikado's Empire," by William Elliot Griffis; "Dawn in Russia," by Henry W. Nevinston; Margaret Deland's "The Awakening of Helena Richie"; Justus Miles Forman's "Buchanan's Wife," and a 15,000 copies edition of "Ben Hur."

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY have taken over all of Upton Sinclair's former books and will publish them in new and revised editions. The first issued will be "King Midas," first published by the author himself under the title "Springtime and Harvest;" this will be followed by "The Journal of Arthur Stirling," with a new preface by the author, whose history making "The Jungle" is now being read in French under the terrifying title "The Poisoners of Chicago." Rudyard Kipling's new book, "Puck of Pook's Hill," will be ready October 4, with illustrations by Arthur Radham. Miriam Michelson's "Anthony Overman," E. Nesbit's "The Incomplete Amorist," and G. B. Lancaster's "The Spur" are all printing for the third time. Rudyard Kipling's "Kim" has now been translated into Chinese by Dr. Gregson, a very distinguished London scholar.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have ready today "Whispering Smith," the long-expected story of the West when the railroad first went through, by Frank H. Spearman; "A Tour of Four Great Rivers," (Hudson, Mohawk, Susquehanna and Delaware,) being the journal of Richard Smith, of Burlington, New Jersey, in 1769, edited with a brief history of pioneer settlement by Francis W. Halsey, and published in a limited edition; "The Social Message of the Modern Pulpit," by the Rev. Dr. Charles Reynolds Brown, of the First Congregational Church, Oakland, Cal., (Lyman Beecher lectures at Yale University, 1906;) "The Art of the Singer," practical hints about vocal technics and style by W. J. Henderson; and four new volumes of the Pocket edition of the works of George Meredith—"Evan Harrington," "One of Our Conquerors," "Shaving of Shagpat," "The Tragic Comedians."

Describes the "Reconstruction" period with the vividness of a camera. Earlier chapters tell of the burning of Columbia, the occupation of Richmond, Lincoln's visit, Jefferson Davis' journeyings and imprisonment. The race problem is handled fearlessly but sanely. The grotesque absurdities of military dictatorship, its corruption, humor and pathos and the details of every day life among the people who had lost their all, are intimately pictured.

By author of "Squire Phin" and "Up in Maine." A young engineer with both brain and muscle is sent up into the Maine woods to build a short railroad, which must be finished within a certain time. He has the whole responsibility and unlimited authority. The lumber owners object so strongly to the road, fearing sparks from the locomotive may fire the woods, that the charter is granted the incorporators on condition they run the road in wet weather only—hence the nickname. Rodney Parker, the engineer, needs all his courage and intelligence to conquer the conditions that confront him—but he builds his road on time. Published originally in an abbreviated form as a serial in The Youth's Companion. There are no women characters in the story.

Dillon, Mrs. Mary. The Leader; il. by Ruth M. Hallock. N. Y. Doubleday, Page & Co., 1906. c. 8+362 p. front. il. D. cl., †$1.50.

By the author of "In old Bellaire." While the author states that this is "in no sense history," but "fiction pure and simple" she admits having used incidents familiar to every one, because they were picturesque and readily lent themselves to the purposes of a writer of fiction. "The leader" will at once impress the reader as an idealized portrait of William Jennings Bryan, just as the story of John Dalton's life will be found to largely parallel that of the noted Commoner. "The leader" is a popular idol, who loses the nomination for the Presidency in a convention of his own party because he will not change his platform. A romantic love story runs through the many political scenes and discussions, Dalton fighting social prejudices which separated him from the girl he loved, as well as political conditions.

For notice of The spirit of Sweetwater see "Weekly Record," P. W., March 26, 1898, [1365.] It is a love story of Colorado, dealing with the restoring of a young invalid woman to health by the encouragement and influence of a strong-willed, healthy man.

Goodrich, Arthur. The balance of power: a novel; il. by Otto Toasperm. N. Y., Outing Publishing Co., 1906. c. 6+413 p. front. D. cl., $1.50.

The hero is a typical American, strong, simple and upright. Left penniless by his father's death, a physician who loses the savings of a life in rash speculations, Jack Gilbert lets no pride stand in his way when it becomes his duty to make a home for his mother. Entering a large mill, in the lowest capacity, he rises to be superintendent and later secretary and treasurer of the company running the mill. He wins, too, the girl he loves, and political advancement is foreshadowed for him in the last chapters.

By the author of "A daughter of Dale." In the Squire's house in a New England village the night brought a tragedy and left a girl wail upon the Squire's hands. Labor troubles lead to the incidents and the Squire fights hard against new ideas. A piratical seafarer appears and all is adventure and surprise, the girl wail and her "labor" friend being chief actors.

OBITUARY NOTES.

WILLIAM BUCK DWIGHT, Professor of Geology and Mineralogy at Vassar College, died August 29 at his summer residence, at Cottage City, Mass., of apoplexy. Professor Dwight was born at Constantinople, Turkey, May 22, 1833. He came to the United States in 1849, and later was a graduate from Yale, later from the Yale Scientific School, and from the Union Theological Seminary. Since 1878 he had been Professor of Natural Science and Curator of the Museum of Vassar College. Professor Dwight was editor of the Department of Geology of the "Standard Dictionary," one of the original Fellows of the Geological Society of America, and a member of the Society for the Advancement of Science and of the American Society of Naturalists.

WILLIAM EDGAR MARSHALL, the well-known artist and engraver, died on August 29 at his studio on the top floor of 711 Broadway, New York, where he had lived for more than forty years. Mr. Marshall was born in New York City in 1835, being the son of Francis Marshall, the senior member of the firm of Marshall, Bates & Co., which built the Merchants' Exchange, afterwards the Custom House, the Astor House, and other famous buildings of the city over half a century ago. After attending public school Mr. Marshall went to Chicago, where he remained until 1852, when he returned to New York City and obtained employment as an engraver in a watch case factory. Having practiced plate engraving in his spare time, he engraved several portraits, the plates of which were bought by a bank-note company that refused to employ him as an apprentice. The result was that later he obtained a good position with the company and became its best engraver. In 1861 he went to Paris to study painting. Returning to New York City in 1864 he began work on his portrait engraving of Lincoln, which had an enormous sale. His engraving of Stuart's portrait of Washington also had a wide circulation. Among others of his better-known plates are portraits of Grant and Sherman and the large plate containing the portraits of Daniel Appleton and his sons, of the publishing house of D. Appleton & Co.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYFOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 8, 1906.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament therunto."—LORD BACON.

CLASSIFYING SECOND-HAND BOOKS.*

MUCH time would be saved by booksellers in storing, cataloguing and selling books if a definite system of classification were adopted conforming, for instance, to that used in the "A. L. A. Catalog," published by the Government Printing Office at Washington for the Library of Congress, in 1904. This is based on the Dewey, or Decimal System, of Classification, the chief arguments in favor of which are that it is familiar to libraries and men of science throughout the world, that it is easily learned and comprehended, and that it is flexible enough to cover all the needs of the bookseller as well as of the librarian.

The field of knowledge, according to the Dewey system of classification, as briefly explained in the introduction to the "Decimal Classification and Relative Index," published by the Library Bureau at Boston, "is divided into nine main classes, and these are numbered by the digits 1 to 9."

Cyclopedias, periodicals, etc., so general in character as to belong to no one of these classes, are marked nought, and form a tenth class. Each class is similarly separated into nine divisions, general works belonging to no division having nought in place of the division number. Divisions are similarly divided into nine sections, and the process is repeated as often as necessary. Thus 512 means Class 5 (Natural science), Division 1 (Mathematics), Section 2 (Algebra), and every algebra is numbered 512.

*Continuation of the series of "The Profession of Bookselling." A list of authorities quoted will be given on conclusion.

The books on the shelves and the cards in the subject catalog are arranged in simple numerical order, all class numbers being decimals. Since each subject has a definite number, it follows that all books on any subject must stand together. The tables [given below] show the order in which subjects follow one another. Thus 512 Algebra precedes 513 Geometry, and follows 511 Arithmetic.

In the book after the tables of the classes arranged in their numerical order is an index, in which all the heads of the tables are arranged in one simple alphabet, with the class number of each referring to its exact place in the preceding tables. This index includes also, as far as they have been found, all the synonyms or alternative names for the heads, and many other entries that seem likely to help a reader find readily the subject sought. Though the user knows just where to turn to his subject in the tables, by first consulting the index he may be sent to other allied subjects, where he will find valuable matter which he would otherwise overlook.

The claims of the system may be summed up as follows: compared with other systems it is less expensive; more easily understood, remembered, and used; practical rather than theoretical; brief and familiar in its nomenclature; best for arranging pamphlets, sale duplicates, and notes, and for indexing; susceptible of partial and gradual adoption without confusion; more convenient in keeping statistics and checks for books off the shelves; the most satisfactory adaptation of the card catalog principle to the shelves. It requires less space to shelve the books; uses simpler symbols and fewer of them; can be expanded, without limit and without confusion or waste of labor, in both catalogs and on shelves, or in catalogs alone; checks more thoroughly and conveniently against mistakes; admits more readily numerous cross references; is unchangeable in its call-numbers, and so gives them in all places where needed, as given in no other system; in its index affords an answer to the greatest objection to class catalogs, and is the first satisfactory union of the advantages of the class and dictionary systems.

In the same manner each class, subject and section is divided and subdivided.

The Expansive Classification, developed by the late Charles Ammi Cutter, (the complete series of which is now being published by W. P. Cutter, Forbes Library, Northampton, Mass.,) has been described by those who have used it as common-sense and up-to-date. It is said to be clear and easy to apply and that it gives a suitable place for many classes of books for which other systems make no provision or for which they provide badly.

Here, then, are at least two well-known and tried systems of classification which the bookseller need have no hesitation to adopt, and which will enable him to plan and lay out his stock in such a manner as to enable him in the least possible time to get from the shelves any book that his stock-list may show him to be on hand. Not only will such a system save the bookseller time, but it will also be a positive attraction as well as temptation for the customer who may be prowling around for books on certain subjects to know that he can find everything that the bookseller has on hand on those subjects grouped together.

It were also desirable that a uniform system of abbreviations, designation of sizes, etc., be adopted not only by the second-hand bookseller, but by the booktrade in general. The road in this direction is also clear enough, having been blazed and smoothed by the librarian. Two useful books in this direction are "Rules for a Dictionary Catalog," by Charles A. Cutter, of which a fourth edition, rewritten, was published in 1904 by the U. S. Bureau of Education in its Special Report on Public Libraries—Part 2, (Whole Number 340;) also, the New York "Library School Card Catalog Rules," edited by Melvil Dewey, of which a fourth edition was brought out in 1892 by the Library Bureau of Boston.

COMMUNICATIONS.

AS TO THE "TRUE WAY OUT."

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: The true way out of the difficulties which confront the booktrade lies not in settling the questions of discounts and distribution of new stock. They began with the decay of the bookseller, they will end with his renaissance. Once the bookseller was "guide, counsellor and friend" to the reader and bookbuyer; now it is the publicity department and the "best selling books" that direct the literary wanderer.

The exploiting of books, trivial and often trashy; the absence of true criticism; the cheap reprints of old plates—which never seem too worn for some publisher to foist upon a good-natured public and sell to the benighted bookseller; the lack of men who earnestly study books and strive to know the best and sell the best, are the true causes of the sad state of the booktrade.

One of our humorists, speaking of a "highly cultured" young lady, said: "She got through her primer, read the Rollo books, then sprang right into Ibsen." What else could the poor girl do? Suppose the man who supplied the primer and the Rollo books had been "on his job?" He would have led her into Elsie Dinsmore, then Rosa N. Carey and Mary Cecil Hay, along to Mrs. Humphry Ward, William Dean Howells, George Meredith and Henry James before he allowed all that ready money to get into Ibsen. Sec, too, the rich (one-third or two-fifths off) bypaths he could have pointed out for her delight as she journeyed.

The average bookseller evidently does not know wood pulp from parchment, a patched-up plagiarism on an old masterpiece from an original production; and the thought of how he may turn to profit that large and very profitable class of readers who are looking for "something good to read" (not necessarily fiction) never enters his most industrious dreams. At the most advertised books his knowledge and interest ceases. Besides a few "most popular books" and "best sellers" his shelves shine forth with a glittering array of soul-worrying plugs.

The publishers are not without sin. Why issue books at $1.50 to sell at $1.08 with a blare of "protected," "A. P. A." and "net," etc.? This denies the whole thing for sincerity to the public mind. Why issue year after year the same old books, which may well be called "Neglected Reading," "Noman's Library," "Infamous Classics"—intelligent folk are tired of them and others cannot be tempted by them. There are hundreds of others, better, fresher and more interesting that will sell.

When intelligence and a familiarity with modern business methods begins to control and direct the majority of bookstores, the question of discounts, protection and distribution of the newly published books will be settled and the money spent in scarehead ads., buying reviews and exploiting authors and their works will go into the bookman's cash drawer, and he can advertise, too.

The butcher, baker and gas man, also the tailor, the ice man and the hated coal baron, and many more, secure the finest ability and the highest possible skill, and pay a living wage to the men who serve the public with things they must have, whether or not, but your bookseller is "too sharp for that." He hires a discarded plumber's apprentice, or a misfit toy clerk at errand-boy pay, and expects him to serve possible patrons who may happen to fancy one or more of, say, five million books. The result is plain to any one who ever asked a question a half dozen times in as many bookstores.

I would suggest that booksellers read the quotation at the head of the editorial page of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY at least once a week for ten years or so. That will help some.

Very truly yours,

JOHN H. WILLS.

TABLET IN MEMORY OF JACOB ABBOTT.

AT "Fewacres," in Farmington, Me., in 1838, Jacob Abbott, the author of the Rollo Books, set up a school which under the name of Farmington Academy is still in existence. A tablet is to be put on the outside of the house, inscribed as follows:

FEWACRES

JACOB ABBOTT

1803-1879

Preacher of the Gospel of Christ,
Teacher of the laws of nature and life,
Pioneer in the education of youth,
Friend and guide of children,
Master in the art of gentle measures,
Minister to the higher life of man

This tablet is erected by students of Farmington Academy

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

W. ROBERTSON NICOLL has said that "The Treasure of Heaven: a romance of riches," "seems to me the best of all Miss Corelli's books." Dodd, Mead & Company are satisfied with its selling qualities.

G. K. CHESTERTON, that great and peerless literary critic, has completed a study of Charles Dickens, which is intended as "a general justification of Dickens." Comment is superfluous. Every lover of Dickens will rejoice and be glad.

GEORGE W. JORDAN, author of "The Kingdom of Self Control," has had the honor of a request from T. Sans, chief librarian of the Yamaguchi Public Library of Japan, to be allowed to translate his successful book into the Japanese language.

IAN MACLAREN, who is deeply interested in Welsh life, has paid a visit to the National Eisteddfod at Carnarvon in company with Andrew Carnegie. The two Scotchmen have made interesting comparisons of Scotch and Welsh character and customs.

LEN G. BROUGHTON, author of the recently published "Table Talks of Jesus," has sailed for England to fill the pulpit of Westminster Chapel while Dr. Campbell Morgan, its well-known pastor, is preaching in America, for the moment in New York City.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Newspaper Talk, formerly issued at Carnegie, Pa., has resumed publication with August issue at Pittsburg, Pa.

Scribner's Magazine for September has an article on "Ibsen," by James Huneker, and one on the late Eastman Johnson, by William Walton.

Gunter's Magazine for September contains the beginning of the sequel to "Mr. Barnes of New York" under the title "The Shadow of a Vendetta."

THE September number of The Reader brings a paper on Thackeray, Trollope, Dickens and other writers of their day, by Professor Gamaliel Bradford, Jr., entitled "Mid-Nineteenth Century Realism."

THE September Atlantic Monthly contains "Three American Poets of the Day," by May Sinclair; William Vaughn Moody, Edwin Arlington Robinson and Ridgely Torrence; "The Novels of Thomas Hardy," by May Moss; and "The Power of Bible Poetry," by J. H. Gardiner.

T. P. O'CONNOR's paper recently offered prizes for the best essays on the subject "My Favorite Novel and Why." The awards were made on "Salammbô," "Manon Lescaut," "Tom Jones," "Lavengro," "Three Guardsmen" and "David Copperfield." Publisher and Retailer for August prints the essays which won first, second, third and fourth prizes.

The American Monthly Review of Reviews for September contains an article by W. S. Rossiter on "Printing and Publishing: the Barometer Industry," in which the statistics given for 1900 to 1905 show steadily growing prosperity. Three maps of the United States are given in which the shading shows an increase of more than 50 per cent. in the value of products in their respective lines: 1, Printing and publishing; 2, Newspapers and periodicals; 3, Book and job printing. The West and South furnish statistics of special interest.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

MITCHELL KENNERLEY has just ready "Shorty McCabe," by Sewell Ford, which has had a successful run in the Associated Sunday magazines. The author of "Horses Nine" is always full of humor and has the accompanying touch of sentiment that makes humor so much more delightful.

THE RONALD PRESS CO., New York, will issue during the fall "Colds, Coughs and Sore Throats: their cause, prevention and cure," by Dr. William Conyngham; and "Financing and Enterprise: a manual of information and suggestion for promoters, investors and business men generally," by Francis Cooper.

CUPPLES & LEON will have ready September 22 "Cupid's Middleman," by Edward B. Lent, author of "Being Done Good," which will relate the odd housekeeping experiences of two bachelors brightened by the influence of a fine type of new woman and made really instructive by the suggestive philosophy woven into the bright story.

raignment of modern "high finance" by George Carling, who describes the career of a man of business from typist to trust magnate and his unscrupulous fight against the Standard Wool Trust, rascals against rascals, which ends in a dramatic climax.

BAKER & TAYLOR Co. announce for September 15 "Max Fergus," by Owen Johnson, the tale of a strong man's revenge, said to be equal to the author's great success "Arrows of the Almighty"; and they have just ready "Power Lot," a strong novel of Nova Scotia by that past master in stories of the Atlantic sea coast, Sarah P. McLean Greene.

BLOCH PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, have in press "A Jewish Reply to Christian Evangelists," by Lewis A. Hart, former lecturer on law of McGill University, Montreal. The book is a republication of articles that were written to the Jewish Times of Montreal in answer to the arguments Christian evangelists advance in their efforts to convert Jews to Christianity.

THOMAS WHITTAKER will issue shortly "Religion and Experience," a volume of entirely new and hitherto unpublished sermons by J. Brierly, popularly known as "J. B.," and the American edition of "A Mission of the Spirit," consisting of addresses by the Bishop of London, the Rt. Rev. A. F. Winnington Ingram, which he delivered during a progressive mission in his diocese last Lent.

DODGE PUBLISHING COMPANY have ready "Cosy Corner Confidences," by Walter Pulitzer; "The Ingoldsby Legends," in two handy volumes; "The Biography of Our Baby," verses by Edmund Vance Cooke, whose "Told to the Little Tot" will be ready during the month; "The Philosophy of Rest," by E. A. Fletcher; and "Here's a Body," a motto for a child's room, a pretty card by Thomas Hood.

THE PENN PUBLISHING COMPANY announce the third volume in Margaret Ward's series of stories about a young college girl, entitled "Betty Wales, Junior," in which the already very popular Betty becomes member of a "Merry Hearts" society, formed to promote cheerfulness among members and outsiders, and takes a holiday trip to the Bahamas, full of delightful happenings and surprises.

LIFE PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish in the early autumn "The Silent War," by J. A. Mitchell, dealing with the great sociological problems of the present day. The "silent war" is waged between a secret organization, known as "The People's League," and all the millionaires of America. A charming love story enlivens rather sombre facts, and the book is of larger calibre than "The Pines of Lory," "Amos Judd" and "The Villa Claudia."

B. W. HUEBSCH, New York, will publish during September "Are You a Bromide?" by Gelett Burgess, who is as funny with pencil as with pen, and has drawn a ludicrously appropriate cover design and decorations for the text. He first expounded his sulphuric theory in a magazine article which led to the N. Y. World establishing a Bromide Department for the edification of its readers. Will Irwin's "The City That Was" (San Francisco) is selling well on the Pacific Coast.

JOHN W. LUCE & COMPANY will publish September 14 "The Book of Spice," by "Ginger," who is author and illustrator and has done much well-known work, but prefers not to have his name appear on this collection of odd, original, snappy jingles and paragraphs which he has illustrated in strange and divers ways. On September 10 they publish the third volume of "The Plays of Oscar Wilde," containing "Salome," "Duchess of Padua," and "Vera," and also issue at the same time "Salome" as a separate volume, with the original Aubrey Beardsley illustrations.

MOFFAT, YARD & COMPANY will publish during the early autumn "How to Appreciate Music," by Gustav Kobbé; "Behind the Scenes with Wild Animals," a study of animals in captivity by Ellen Velvin, who has had the special assistance of Mr. Hornaday, of the New York Zoological Park; and "The Von Blumers," by Tom Masson, recounting the experiences of a typical American family and their dog in Tom Masson's inimitable vein of humor and pure, good fun. Brady and Peple's "Richard the Brazen" is already in a second large edition, and orders and reorders are keeping everybody busy.

ARTHUR POOLE & COMPANY, Toronto, have nearly ready "The International Digest of Criminal Case Law," by George E. McCrosan, Samuel D. Schultz and Andrew M. Harper, all barristers-at-law in Vancouver, British Columbia. The work will be in three volumes devoted respectively to 1, Canadian Criminal Law; 2, American Criminal Law; 3, English Criminal Law. The general scheme of arrangement is alphabetical and careful cross references make the vast amount of information available at shortest notice. Subscriptions for this valuable work of law reference will be received at a special price before publication.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. have in preparation "Famous Actor Families in America," by Montrose J. Moses, a New York critic; "Every Man a King," by Dr. O. S. Marden, who makes a powerful plea for mental influence; "The Hope of Immortality," by Dr. Charles F. Dole, the lecture to be delivered for the Ingersoll lectureship at Harvard University this fall; "The Spirit of the Orient," by Professor George William Knox, who has studied the awakening of the East on the spot; "Famous American Songs," by Gustav Kobbé; "The Open Secret of Nazareth," by Dr. Bradley Gilman; and "Animal Serials," made up of the collected drawings of E. Warde Blaisdell, which have so delighted the readers of Scribner's Magazine and of Life.

FLEMING H. REVELL Co. will publish shortly "On the Trail of the Emigrant," by Professor Edward A. Steiner, of Grinnell College, who for the past twenty-five years has each year crossed the ocean to the centres of emigration and studied the emigrant in his home surroundings. He has also worked among immigrants in the sweat shop, in the coal mines of Pennsylvania and the forests of Wisconsin, and as he speaks five languages fluently has been able to come into close contact with the people he has studied so earnestly. Rev. Charles Stelzle's "Messages to Working Men" have been emphatically praised by the labor union press of the country; and in the "simplifying" of English now in order O'Connor's "The Students' Complete Esperanto Text-Book" makes steady appeal for a simple language for all nations.

THE J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY has purchased from Will Rossiter, of Chicago, the latter's entire stock of plates and books. The list comprises forty-three titles, and is well known to the dealers in paper books throughout the West, many of the books having a steady sale. They include recitations, monologues, joke books, toasts, conundrums, funny stories and practical manuals of various kinds. The stock of books numbers more than 100,000 volumes, and before making new editions the Ogilvie Company offers them to the trade, in selected lots, at $45 per thousand, and at $35 per thousand if the purchaser takes an equal number of each book. The books have been listed at ten, fifteen and twenty-five cents. The books cannot now be manufactured for the price at which they are offered, and when they are reprinted, as most of them will be, they will again bring the regular trade price of from six to fifteen cents.

LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY publish to-day the first of their new fall books. Among them are "An Atlas of Physiology and Anatomy," a series of colored plates with many superimposed layers, and descriptive matter by Dr. Alfred M. Amadon; "The White Crystals," by Howard R. Garis; and "The Mysterious Beacon Light," by George E. Walsh, telling of adventures of four boys in Labrador, both in the Boys' and Girls' Book-shelf Series; and new editions of "The Letters of Emily Dickinson from 1847 to 1866," edited by Mabel Loomis Todd; and of "The Awakening of the Duchess," by Frances Charles. The Handy Volume Classics is a new 16mo series of choicely printed volumes, bound in silk cloth, and the first issues include "Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius," "Discourses and Enchiridion" of Epictetus; Bacon's "Essays" and "Wisdom of the Ancients," Walton and Cotton's "Complete Angler," and Lamb's "Essays of Elia" and "Last Essays of Elia," which are also published in a New Handy Library edition, with introduction by George W. Woodberry.

SMALL, MAYNARD & COMPANY are announcing for the fall season books in several lines of literature. In fiction they are preparing "The Secret of the Moor Cottage," by H. Ripley Cromarsh, a sister of A. Conan Doyle, who also writes a fascinating detective story of mystery and adventure; "Father Pink," by Alfred Wilson Barrett, a stirring novel by the author of "The Silver Pin," in which large property rights, hoarded diamonds and risk of life among trained lions add to the excitement of the clever plot; and "The Electric Theft," by Neil Wynn Williams, the story of an English engineer sent to Athens to discover the theft of electricity from the Athenian Electric Power Company. For children there will be "The Cheerful Cricket and Others," by Jeannette L. Marks; and "Stella's Adventures in Starland," by Elbridge H. Sabin. In miscellaneous literature there are in active preparation "The Nibelungen Lied," translated by John Storer Cobb; "Love Sonnets of To-day," edited by Laurens Maynard; "Intimations of Immortality," compiled by Helen P. Patten; and "Humor of Bulls and Blunders," edited by Marshall Brown.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co. announce some books of speculation and scientific argument on subjects of theological and religious nature. "Proofs of Life After Death," by Robert J. Thompson, is a collection of the opinions of such eminent scientific men and thinkers as Professors N. S. Shaler, Charles Ricket, Brunot, Flammarion, Hyslop, Lombroso, Simon Newcomb, Alfred Russel Wallace and many others, the work designed for those who wish evidence other than theological; "The Historical Bases of Religion: Primitive, Babylonian and Jewish," by Hiram Chellis Brown, being an admirable survey of the leading works on higher criticism and modern research based upon the initial study of the psychology of the religious science in primitive man; "Scientific Bases of Sabbath and Sunday," by Professor R. J. Floody, tracing the history of the seventh day holy day from its beginnings in moon worship, through all its ramifications among different religions and sects of religions to the present day. G. Stanley Hall, president of Clark University, has furnished an illuminating introduction to this instructive book. Five more volumes are ready in the new Stevenson edition: "Treasure Island," "Kidnapped," "Master of Ballantrae," "New Arabian Nights," "Merry Men" and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

D. APPLETON & Co. have just published "The Guarded Flame," a remarkably well-told story by William Babington Maxwell of the life of a scientist who absorbs the entire life of his wife, as she protects him from all intrusion and utterly effaces every personal taste to help along his great work; "Three Speeds Forward," an automobile story by Lloyd Osbourne; and "A Midsummer Day's Dream," an artistic and literary story by H. B. Marriott Watson. Other works of fiction shortly promised include "The Victory," by Molly Elliot Seawell, giving an intimate picture of life on a great Virginia plantation during the Civil War; "Hearts Triumphant," by Mrs. Edith Sessions Tupper, telling of Madam Betty Jumel in her historic home on Washington Heights; "The Little King of Angel's Landing," by Elmore Elliott Peake; "Truthful Jane," by Florence Morse Kingsley; "Under Castle Walls," a tale of mediæval Italy by H. C. Bailey; "The Waving of Folly," by James L. Ford, written in letters which genially satirize the vulgar rich of New York City; "In Cure of Her Soul," by F. J. Stimson, ("J. S. of Dale,") a novel proving that a husband has the care of his wife's soul, and that divorce is but an unworthy shirking of a great responsibility; and "The Avenging Hour," a story by H. F. Prevost Battersby, fearlessly treating primal emotions and their results in the complex social life of the day. In more serious literature this house will issue "The Secrets of the Old Masters," by Albert Abendschein: and "Memoirs of My Dead Life," by George Moore.

E. P. DUTTON & COMPANY will publish at once "Life in Morocco," by Budgett Meakin, of which parts 2 and 3 are on political questions and the outlook; and later promise "A Child's Recollections of Tennyson," by Edith Nicholl Ellison; and "The Games Book for Boys and Girls," produced by Ernest Nister with his usual wealth of fine illustrations in black and white and color. "Empires and Emperors of Russia, China, Korea and Japan, being notes and recollections by Monsignor Count Vay De Vaya and Lus-kod," is also just issued. The probability of the author being not so well known in England and America as on the continent of Europe has caused John Murray to write a preface in which he traces back the Count's ancestry 900 years, tells of his accomplishments, and of his signal work in the Roman Catholic Church. In virtue of his important place in the church he attended the diamond jubilee of Queen Victoria in 1897 as envoy of Pope Leo XIII. From his high rank he gained advantages of observation not accorded to all travellers, and what he has written is done with directness and simplicity. They have also just ready "The House of Cobwebs, and Other Stories," by George Gissing. This last and, we believe, final volume of Gissing, has fifteen stories, and contains an introductory survey of his work as a whole by Thomas Seccombe, with a chronological record of his works, and a list of reviews of Gissing other than those mentioned in the "survey." They will also publish very shortly "Court Life in the Dutch Republic, 1638-1689," by the Baroness Suzette Van Zuylen Van Nyvelt; and "Reason in Architecture," by T. G. Jackson, R.A., M.A., F.S.A., being lectures delivered at the Royal Academy of Arts during the present year.

PICK-UPS.

SCRIBBLER.—"I'll starve before I will write anything not equal to the greatest poets."

CRITIC.—"I shouldn't be surprised."—Judge.

HARD TO TELL.—The worried proofreader wrinkled his weary brow as he read over the slip he held for the twentieth consecutive time with less apprehension each time of its meaning. "I wish I knew for sure," he groaned as he tied his tenth wet towel around his head, "if this is just 'pi' they are afraid to own up to or really that essay by Henry James that was sent up to-day?"—Baltimore American.

DID IT WITH HIS LITTLE AX.—Punch this week, in a full-page cartoon by Edward Linley Sambourne, shows "Teddy" Roosevelt, in cowboy costume, sleeves rolled up, standing, hatchet in hand, by a great tree which represents the English language. Father Time, examining the tree with a powerful magnifying glass, observes a slight incision in the trunk. "Who's been trying to cut down this tree?" he asks. "Father," answers Teddy, "I cannot tel a lie. I did it with my litl ax."

To this Father Time replies: "Ah, well; boys will be boys."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

✍ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

✍ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

DODGE PUBLISHING COMPANY

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

If the "Dodge" publications were not a little better made, a little more original in design and much more profitable to the retailer than most lines it would not pay us to continuously advertise them. One sale alone as a result of advertising is not as a rule profitable. It is one sale plus a customer made permanent through satisfaction that builds up a business. It is the quality, originality and profitable character of our publications that makes them the central attraction in most bookstores everywhere.

COZY CORNER CONFIDENCES,

by Walter Pulitzer. A companion volume to "A Cynic's Meditations."

This is a rare collection of real epigrams, originally witty and worthy of a permanent place on any library shelf. The sayings are even better than "A Cynic's Meditations," (now in its 16th edition), concerning which John Kendrick Bangs said:—"Many of the epigrams are delicious," and the London Sketch adds:—"We certainly place Mr. Pulitzer far above other American writers of epigrams." Made in unusual size and style. Boards, 75 cents; leather, $1.00. (Ready.)

THE INGOLDSBY LEGENDS.

A handsome edition of this favorite classic, beautifully printed and bound. Made in two handy volumes with frontispiece in photogravure. Cloth, $1.50; limp leather, $2.50. (Ready.)

THE BIOGRAPHY OF OUR BABY.

Verses by Edmund Vance Cooke and drawings by Bessie Collins Pease. An entirely new baby record book. New colored plates by a popular artist; verses by the author of "Chronicles of the Little Tot," and paper made to be written on with pen and ink. These are a few of the points that go to make this the best book on the market at the price. Cloth, $1.50; silk, padded, $3.00; ooze leather, $4.00. (Ready.)

TOLD TO THE LITTLE TOT.

Edmund Vance Cooke's first book for children is going to make a decided hit everywhere. Bound uniform with his volume of poems about children, "Chronicles of the Little Tot," and containing thirty-nine illustrations by Bessie Collins Pease, nine in full color. There is probably no one in the world better fitted to tell stories to children than Mr. Cooke. His recent poems about children show a wonderful insight and a thorough knowledge of child-life and character, and in a very short time Mr. Cooke's poems have obtained a wide and cordial reception. Cloth, $1.50. (Ready September.)

Mr. Cooke's other works are "Rimes to be Read," miscellaneous poems; Cloth, $1.50; "Chronicles of the Little Tot," poems about children, Cloth, $1.50.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF REST

by E. A. Fletcher. A work of great helpfulness to those who would find rest from the nerve-wrecking rush of present-day life. Cloth, 75 cents. (Ready.)

HERE'S A BODY.

Thomas Hood. A motto for a child's room. Card, 15 cents. (Ready.)

The above are only a few of the many good things we have to offer the trade for the coming holiday season. We would suggest a personal visit to our comfortable sample rooms, if convenient, but if you cannot visit us we promise you careful and prompt attention by mail. Samples will be cheerfully forwarded to responsible booksellers and advertising literature gratis. If you have not got our booklet "Good Things for Booklovers" send for it to-day.

Dodge Publishing Co., New York

The discounts are also given more freely in districts where there are no booksellers.

SPAIN.

There are no general rules, but the publishers can apparently compel the booksellers to maintain the prices by threatening to close their accounts. There are two prices prevalent—one for Madrid, and the other, somewhat higher, for the provinces.

SWEDEN.

There are no general rules; the published price is fairly well maintained; schools and libraries often receive from 5 per cent. to 10 per cent. discount. There is an agreement between the "New Society of Publishers" and the booksellers, by which a discount on books of secondary education is prohibited unless the account amounts to 50 krone (about £2 14s.), or unless fifty copies of one book are bought at the same time. In this case the discount is 10 per cent. On other publications no more than 10 per cent. may be given during the first year. There is no penalty.

SWITZERLAND (GERMAN).

The Society of (German) Swiss Booksellers forms part of the Börsenverein at Leipzig.

Offers of discount are strictly prohibited; there is a special tariff for books from certain other countries. No discount is allowed on periodicals appearing monthly or oftener.

The augmentation of prices determined by the tariff of 1874 may be deducted at once on purchases amounting to 100 francs, and on every bill of 100 francs and more which includes purchases within one year. In addition, a discount of 4 per cent. is allowed to a customer whose purchases amount to 600 francs in the year.

Professors of universities and technical schools, students (when they pay cash), and public libraries may receive discount of not more than 5 per cent. This applies only to German or German-Swiss books.

Penalty.—Warning, and closing of accounts. On repetition, exclusion from the society, subject to an appeal to a general meeting within eight weeks.

SWITZERLAND (FRENCH, ETC.).

In the French-speaking parts of Switzerland nearly all the booksellers and publishers belong to their respective societies or to the Börsenverein of Leipzig, and the sale of books is regulated by rules almost identical with the above.

FICTION IN DEMAND IN ENGLAND.

ACCORDING to the London Book Monthly, the following books have been most in demand in London during August:

The Treasure of Heaven. Marie Corelli.
The Dream and the Business. John Oliver Hobbes.

A Sovereign Remedy. Flora Annie Steel.
The Guarded Flame. M. B. Maxwell.
A Woman's Victory. Maarten Maartens.
The Wickhamses. W. Pett Ridge.

PUBLISHERS IN DEFENSE OF SIMPLIFIED SPELLING.

MR. HENRY HOLT, the senior member of the firm of Henry Holt & Co., and Dr. I. K. Funk, president of the Funk & Wagnalls Company, contributed to the New York Times Saturday Review of Books for September 22 communications in defense of simplified spelling, both deprecating Mr. Brett's fear that the general adoption of the new spelling would affect the sale of books intended for export trade.

Mr. Holt, while thoroughly in sympathy with the movement in general, and though as a matter of fact he has adopted some of the new forms of spelling in one of his text books and in the Educational Review, is not prepared to print anything with changes that people are not ready for. For this reason he thinks "that Mr. Brett and those who share his misgivings may rest assured that there is no influence at work in the Simplified Spelling Board to change the spelling of printed books fast enough to hurt their market anywhere."

"But the authorities of England and America and the vast majority of the educational world of America are agreed that a gradual change is desirable; there are 85,000,000 people in America and only 35,000,000 on the British Isles; moreover, there is a suspicion about that, take the American people through and through, the amount of their correct spelling, even by the old standards, has been proportionally somewhat larger than that of the British people. It looks, then, as if the decision of how the language is to be spelled were apt, and not unreasonably, to rest with America."

Dr. Funk cites as instances, to prove that the English people are not altogether averse to the proposed innovation, the large sales in England of Webster's Standard and Century dictionaries, notwithstanding the fact that these works have adopted some of the forms of spelling recommended by the Simplified Spelling Board, and claim that "the simplified forms of spelling are nearly all backed by classic English authors," continuing: "We have borrowed these forms from classic England. Would England stop us going back to 'purest wells of English undefiled?' These 300 spellings urged by President Roosevelt were in reality selected—nearly all—by Dr. Henry Sweet, of Oxford University, editor of 'Old English Texts.' And the chiefest philologists of England, Dr. Murray and Dr. Bradley, editors of the great Oxford Dictionary; Professor Wright, editor of the 'English Dialect Dictionary,' and Dr. Skeat, the eminent English etymologist, are members of the Simplified Spelling Board."

In conclusion Dr. Funk says: "Even though it did cost the American publishers some sacrifice to help bring about a reform that means so much to the coming generations, which one of us would not cheerfully bear the loss, remembering that it is true in business as in the life of the individual, 'Whosoever will save his life shall lose it.' Selfishness in the long run is short-sighted and defeats itself. The universe is constructed that way."

READY SEPTEMBER 15

The New NovelBy GUSTAV FRENSEN*Author of "Jörn Uhl"

Exclusive Authorized Translation

We have concluded arrangements for the publication of the exclusive authorized translation of "Holyland," pronounced by competent critics to be the greatest novel of modern times. Of this work in the German version eighty thousand copies were sold almost immediately after its publication. The scenes and characters are drawn from among the humble seafaring folk who live on the borders of the German Ocean. Their life, love, and suffering are wonderfully shown and described. The hero, Kai Jans, makes several long sea voyages, of which the descriptions are wonderfully vivid and interesting. His love-affairs are told with unsurpassed charm and pathos, and the struggles, misfortunes, and the final physical breakdown which prepares his mind and soul for their real awakening are a triumph of word picturing. Religious thought has a large place in the work, and the conception of divinity worked out is bold, startling, original, yet inspiring in the highest degree. This phase of the book does not interrupt the flow of the narrative, but justifies it, and is its triumph and crown. The story is full of masterly descriptions, is full of pathos, poetry, joy and sorrow, love and passion; its character painting is true to life; the personages, although all of them are peasants and sailors, live and excite the liveliest interest. We have no hesitation in proclaiming it one of the greatest novels of all time, and that it must have a tremendous influence on the thought of the day.

The Historical Bases of Religions

Primitive, Babylonian and Jewish

By HIRAM CHELLIS BROWN

$1.50 net; postage, 12 cents

Beginning with the psychology of the religious science in primitive man, the author traces its development into the religion of the Babylonian and Hebrew Peoples, thence into the spiritualized and cultured religion of the Christian. The book is an admirable survey of the leading works on Higher Criticism and Modern Research to which the author has added valuable data. Chapters are devoted to the Babylonian civilization, the early history of Jewish People, and a critical analysis of the teachings of the Prophets.

Scientific Bases of Sabbath and Sunday

By Prof. R. J. FLOODY

With introduction by G. STANLEY HALL, President of Clark University

12mo, cloth, $1.50 net; postage 12 cents

The title might well read Ancient Moon Worship and Its Relation to the Sabbath, for following the lines of modern scholarship and higher criticism the author traces the history of the Seventh Day from its dim beginning in moon worship through the Seventh Day Feast of the Semitic races into the Physical Rest day of the early Israelites and on through its evolution as first a Memorial Day of the deliverance from Egypt—Second a Sign Day between Jehara and the Israelites in Exile, and third a Priestal Day. Passing from the Sabbath the author shows the entire independence of the Lord's Day from the Mosaic decree, tracing its origin from a memorial day of the resurrection of Christ, and its development through the first five Centuries, and later, Catholicism and the Reformation to modern times.

The author of the BOOK OF SPICE is a writer of widespread fame, who in this instance modestly hides behind a pseudonym to observe the reception of his first pictures, and his new ideas in humor to fit them.

THE BOOK OF SPICE

By GINGER

Out Sept. 14

It may seem almost impossible, but the author-illustrator has evolved a Book of Humor built on a new plan.

Original, odd and snappy jingles and paragraphs, set in double page illustrations, which are drawn in strange and divers ways.

Pepper is very lively, Cinnamon is different, Thyme is not dull, Cloves leave no bad taste, Sage suggests no end of wisdom, Mustard is brilliant, Mace is irresistible, but this Book is

JUST PUBLISHED

A MIDSUMMER DAY'S DREAM

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON. 12mo, cloth, $1.50

A story with six heroines and one bewildered hero, lost in a tantalizing pursuit for the one whose little shoe has bewitched him and sent him on such a chase as the Prince had for Cinderella. It is another "Cardinal's Snuff Box."

THE GUARDED FLAME

By W. B. MAXWELL. Author of "Vivien." 12mo, cloth, $1.50

The plot of this story is centered around a present-day Herbert Spencer, big-brained and big-hearted, with a young secretary and a young wife, both devoted to him but full of youth. Life goes on in a library calm, till suddenly, like a thunderstorm, passion throws everything into a chaos. It is of a bigness with Hardy's "Two in a Tower."

THREE SPEEDS FORWARD

By LLOYD OSBOURNE. Author of "Baby Bullet." Cover design by Henry Hutt, and many full-page illustrations, head and tail pieces, thumbnail sketches, etc. 12mo, ornamental cloth, $1.00.

The story of a man, a maid, a bellicose papa and a couple of automobiles. The hero is socially ostracised, and when the maid's automobile breaks down and he dares to go to the rescue the trouble begins. The story differs from the automobiles—it never breaks down. An ideal gift book.

O the men who sell the books:

For five years we have been looking for a child's book which might favorably compare with our Wonderful Wizard of Oz, with Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, and the very few other famous juveniles. Now we have it in The Golden Goblin—a dollar and a quarter "Flat-Book" that will make you old folks sit up and finish it after the children have gone to bed. It will also make you sit up and gasp that so handsome a book can be sold at our price. It will also make you wish that you had doubled your order before the Holiday season is well started.

Look out, for The Golden Goblins 'll git you ef you don't watch out.

George Carling's Vital Novel

RICHARD ELLIOTT FINANCIER

With seven illustrations by Henry S. Watson ($1.50)

A powerful story, with "high finance" and the "system" for its theme, it is an expose of trust methods as frank and complete as it is novel in its treatment. The author's weapon is truth; its point sharpest satire, and its broad edge deep-cutting irony. The reader who is satiated with the cry of the amateur muck-raker and bored by the solemn arraignments of the serious minded, who can see no light ahead, will appreciate Mr. Carling's well-directed ridicule, and the brilliancy of his thrusts at the hypocrisy of the leaders of monopoly

BY NETTA SYRETT

With Frontispiece in Tint by Karl Anderson

THIS is one of the most brilliant novels of social life that will be issued this Fall. The scene is laid in England, and the tale is both dramatic in treatment from beginning to end, and fully interpretive of human nature among people of artistic taste and refinement. We have the husband with temperament who demands a "soul affinity" while he neglects a wife many times the superior in charm to the Titian-haired, arts-and-crafts young person who "really understands him."

It is a story distinguished by charming style, genuine humor, and clever character analysis.

Two Sterling American Novels

A TENDER, IMPELLING STORY THAT THOUSANDS WILL SMILE OVER, AND CRY OVER AND BE GLAD THEY HAVE READ.

THE STORY OF MARTIN COE

By RALPH D. PAINE

Illustrated by Howard Giles

¶ A tender, impelling story of a young filibuster and deserter from the United States Navy, who is regenerated by a woman's affection and a girl's love. A big souled story, with the swinging sea and a quiet Maine village as a background. The author's previous book, THE PRAYING SKIPPER, was called by the critics the best book of short stories of the year. In this novel Mr. Paine proves his ability to write a long story; one that is full of sturdy Americanism of which he himself is a type.

A STRONG, TRUE AMERICAN STORY THAT GRIPS YOU IN THE BEGINNING AND SWEEPS YOU OFF YOUR FEET IN THE END

THE BALANCE OF POWER

By ARTHUR GOODRICH

Illustrated by Otto Toaspen

¶ Every little while there appears that rare achievement, a novel that really stands for something, that actually entertains, inspires and makes one glad for the reading of it. This is one of them. It deals with vital American life and vital American types. It is diverse. The old, old story is told over. Humor runs through and enlivens its pages. There is fighting in it—fighting for the right. There are high purposes and ideals and the spirit of the "Golden Rule." There are portrayed manly men and womanly women, Americans all strong and self-reliant, but yet like Douglas of old, "tender and true." A novel of courageous optimism.

A Splendid Novel of 15th Century Italy

RIDOLFO

By Egerton R.
Williams
Author of
"Hill Towns of Italy."

With four Pictures in Full Color and Cover
by J. C.
Leyendecker.

RIDOLFO of the Baglioni is a wonderful character creation—a man of god-like beauty but absolutely no soul—a ruthless war-lord without pity or remorse, who recognizes no law but his own. The plot concerns his redemption through love, and is dramatic to an extraordinary degree. The story provides a splendid opportunity for the rich mediæval coloring which Mr. Leyendecker knows so well how to handle, and his pictures are nothing short of sensational in their power and beauty.

NEXT SATURDAY WE PUBLISH BOB HAMPTON OF PLACER

The latest romance by RANDALL PARRISH

The Second Edition Goes on the Press Before Publication Day

RANDALL PARRISH'S stories have reached a remarkable popularity, and this new novel is undoubtedly the best of the four. "BOB HAMPTON OF PLACER" takes the reader into a new field. The scenes are laid in Wyoming and Montana at the time of the Sioux uprising in 1876, and the story culminates in a dramatic description of the Custer Massacre. Into the breathless narrative has been woven a charming love story of the absorbing kind in which Mr. Parrish excels with a mystery for the reader to unravel.

A Spinner in the Sun

By MYRTLE REED

Author of "At the Sign of the Jack-o-Lantern," "Lavender and Old Lace," "The Master's Violin," etc.

Crown 8vo, cloth, extra gilt top, printed in red and black, net, $1.50. Full red leather, net, $2.00. Antique calf, net, $2.50. Lavender silk, net, $3.50.

The thousands who have enjoyed the gentle humor, the story-telling skill and the delicate sentiment of "Lavender and Old Lace" will find the same qualities in "A Spinner in the Sun." While striking the chords of humor, pathos and sentiment, which formerly have never failed to charm Miss Reed's admirers, it is more likely to please the exacting critic than anything else she has written—and this because it evinces a firmer grasp of character and a more serious grappling with life. It also has the advantage of an interesting entanglement of plot which throws over it a glamor of romance.

NOTES IN SEASON.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have just ready H. Rider Haggard's new novel, "The Spirit of Bambatse."

T. J. MCBRIDE & SON, New York City, will publish on October 1 "Princess Maritza," a novel by a well-known author whose name is withheld for the present.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co. have brought out a "Pig Book," which, however, is not a book about pigs, but a help in carrying on "pig parties." The rule of the "Pig Book" is that the artist shall close his or her eyes, draw a pig on one of its pages, without lifting the pencil until the outline is completed, and then, with the eyes still closed, put in (or out as the case may be) the eye of the pig. The artist then signs in order to fix the responsibility.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish shortly the authorized American edition of the first story in the Fogazzaro trilogy, which is referred to in "The Saint." This book, issued in Italy under the title of "Piccolo Mondo Antico," will be brought out in the English translation under the title of "The Patriot." This will be followed by the authorized American edition of the second story in the trilogy, "Piccolo Mondo Moderno," which will probably bear the title of "The Man of the World." "The Saint" completes the literary scheme of the author.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have published this week a new volume of short stories by Jack London, with the title "Moon Face;" an illustrated book of description entitled "A Wanderer in London," by E. V. Lucas, the biographer of Lamb and author of "A Wanderer in Holland;" a new edition of Dr. George Birkbeck Hill's "Harvard College by an Oxonian;" a treatise on economical science, by Professor Irving Fisher, of Yale University, entitled "The Nature of Capital and Income;" "Yorkshire Dales and Fells," painted and described by Gordon Home; "Readings on the Inferno of Dante," (two volumes,) by W. W. Vernon; "Stonehenge, and Other British Stone Monuments," by Sir Norman Lockyer; a Geography of the State of Washington, in the series of Supplements edited by Dr. Ralph W. Tarr and Dr. Charles A. McMurry; and "Exposition in Class Room Practice," by Theodore C. Mitchell and Professor George R. Carpenter.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish next week Nelson Lloyd's new novel of New York life, entitled "The Robberies Company, Ltd.," a romance founded on a very novel and original idea. They also announce for this month "Two-Legs," by Carl Ewald, whose "My Little Boy" was brought out last spring; a volume of essays by Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, called "A Frontier Town, and Other Essays;" Professor Barrett Wendell's new book, "Liberty, Union, and Democracy—the National Ideals of America;" Carolyn Wells's new "Whimsey Anthology," another collection on the lines of her "Nonsense Anthology;" "A Russian Grandmother's Wonder Tales," by Louise Seymour Houghton, a new and interesting collection of folk-lore stories; William T. Hornaday's "Camp Fires in the Canadian Rockies," illustrated by many remarkable photographs; a new edition, in one volume, of "The Stones of Paris in History and Letters," by B. E. and C. M. Martin; "Outlines of Biblical History and Literature from the Earliest Times to 200 A.D.," by Rev. F. K. Sanders; also, "Industrial America," by J. Lawrence Laughlin.

Sir John Constantine, of Constantine, in the County of Cornwall, England, a gentleman of ample fortune, but of eccentric character, in the year 1756 obtained from King Theodore of Corsica, who was a prisoner in the Fleet for debt, the right of succession to the throne for his young son Prosper. King Theodore had been crowned in 1736, had abdicated and was on the point of death, and died within a few weeks. A fight was then made for Prosper's inheritance, and with his father and an odd following of Cornwall folk a start was made for Corsica. The adventures now began; there were fierce fights with Mediterranean pirates and daring plots and counterplots in which Corsican bandits and another claimant for the throne took part, the youth Prosper being the central figure.

By the author of "Dr. Luke of 'The Labrador.'" The boy hero was a fisherman's son, born at Ruddy Cove, a fishing harbor on the coast of Newfoundland. His first adventure is with his noble dog old Skipper, his second relates to the capturing of a devil-fish. Afterwards a variety of things happen to him: he comes near losing his life climbing a cliff; goes seal hunting; sets sail for Labrador, his boat striking an iceberg; is rescued and joins the whaler "Viking" and conducts himself with notable bravery in other thrilling episodes.

Edmunds, Albert Joseph. Buddhist texts quoted as Scripture by the Gospel of John: a discovery in the lower criticism, (John vii. 38; xii. 34.) Phil., Maurice Brix, 1906. c. 41 p. O. pap., 25 c.

The author of "Buddhist and Christian gospels" despatched his manuscript of that work to Japan in September, 1904. Since then he has continued to find parallels between the two greatest missionary religions, each emanating from a wonderful personality. Each went as far as it could go in opposite directions round the world until it reached the Pacific Ocean. Now, in Japan and the United States the two great world faiths are passing each other, and the writer says must be friends. The present essay deals with a book on Buddhism newly published by the London Pali Text Society.

A practical study of the science of health through hygiene, teaching people how to be strong, self-reliant, successful, long-lived and happy. The ill-effects of the use of wines, liquors, beer, coffee, tea, tobacco, opium or other "favorite poisons" upon the mind and body are strongly set forth. The diseases they produce, their relation to degeneracy, morals, sleep, nerves, etc., are subjects of chapters. Other chapters are devoted to the poison vice in England, Germany, France and the United States; The favorite poisons and heredity; On the subject of diet in general and of uric acid in particular, etc.; Proposed constitution for the United States National League for Physical Culture. Seven rules are given for obtaining longevity.

Mrs. Ainsley, of Tudor Grange, marries in her sixty-fourth year a handsome scamp, many years her junior, her wealth being her sole attraction for him. Gilbert Ainsley, after a year of married life, becomes a morphia-fiend, and is so brutal to his wife that she makes a new will in favor of her ward Alix. Gilbert knows of the change of will, and as he loves Alix plans to murder his wife. His methods are so ingenious that for a long time he escapes suspicion after she is found strangled in her luxurious home. Two innocent persons are accused of the murder, and a great deal of clever detective work is done before the story is concluded.

An illustrated holiday edition from new plates of a little story published in 1898. It has appeared in the dress of the "Cosy corner series," in that of "The little colonel series" and in a volume entitled "The little colonel stories". It is presented now in holiday attire, with narrow page, marginal sketches and full-page pictures in color. Joyce, the little heroine, is one of the Little Colonel's friends. She spends a year in France with Cousin Kate, and is the means of aiding a poor, ill-treated little French lad. The gate, with the large stone scissors carved upon it, still exists on the road above the little village of St. Symphorien, just outside of Tours.

The story of a great philosopher supposed to be the last survivor of the group which contained Darwin, Huxley, Spencer, etc. He is at work upon a new book and his secretary, a learned physician, his wife and niece and his dear familiar friend, the country doctor of a little English shire, guard him and wait on him and live only for him. Then his young wife awakes to the monotony of her life. She loves the secretary. The consequences are ghastly but contain a fine study of the influence of mind on body and vice versa. The philosopher is paralyzed for two years. The young wife is unable to decide what he knows or realizes while he lies speechless.

By author of "Baby Bullet" and "Wild Justice." The hero is George Marsden, the inventor and proprietor of the Bo-Peep puzzle, out of which he has made an independent fortune. His buying a house in the snobbish little town of Studdingham and settling there shakes the very foundations of society. He is ostracized from the first, no one taking the trouble to discover that he is a gentleman engaged in electrical research, the puzzle being an incident of his youth and too productive of money to be ignored. Two automobiles and a pretty girl figure in a dénouement, brought about by the hero's cleverness, which finally opens society's doors.

The author of "Common sense in the household" tells an amusing story of the trials and troubles of housekeeping, based upon the experiences of a young bride. The bride had been for seven years a school teacher, but before her marriage had taken a thorough course in domestic science and cookery. The putting of her knowledge into practice has most ridiculous results, simply through ignorance of the most commonplace details. The miscarriage of many proposed lovely dinners, her wrestlings with the servant problem, her struggles with the trades people and what she paid for the knowledge she gained offer valuable points to the inexperienced housewife.

A tale of crime and mystery, of whose real meaning the reader is ingeniously kept in ignorance almost to the last page. A young man comes to San Francisco at the request of his cousin to give aid in what he is told is a very profitable business. The cousins look so much alike that when the San Francisco man is murdered in an early chapter the other takes his place, hoping to avenge his death. He drops into a plot of which for a time he fails to obtain a clue. Just as an explanation is forthcoming a violent scene occurs, in which his life is attacked. A strong likeness between the villain and an honorable man adds to the hero's mystification. One exciting scene after another carries the story to a satisfactory ending.

Outdoor rehearsals of "A midsummer night's dream" in the grounds of a beautiful English home form the background of a comedy of high life, the curtain only going up on the play on the last page. The players are amateurs, all the characters of the story being in the cast. They talk nonsense, flirt, make love and drive the stage manager almost distracted by the silliness and irrelevancy of their behavior. Through the various scenes runs a pretty love story that comes to a happy ending.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 15, 1906.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

THE POSTAL COMMISSION.

FOR several administrations past one Postmaster-General after another has called attention to the complexities and difficulties of the postal laws concerning second-class matter, that is, periodicals mailable in bulk at one cent per pound. Postmaster-General Cortelyou recommended to Congress the appointment of a Postal Commission to consider this subject, consisting of one Senator, one Representative, one official of the Post Office Department, representatives of the three national associations of periodical publishers, and a seventh member to be designated by these six. Congress at its last session adopted the recommendations for the commission, but made it purely Congressional, Senators Penrose, Carter and Clay being appointed for the Senate and Representatives Overstreet, Gardner and Moon for the House. This commission has now organized by the election of Senator Penrose as chairman, Representative Overstreet as vice-chairman, and Henry H. Glassie as secretary, and its official announcement states that hearings will commence at the Holland House, New York, October 1.

The lines of inquiry indicated in the announcement are simple and satisfactory. The vital issue is whether this class of matter shall be carried below cost; but behind that is the important question what the cost really is. The statement that the bulk matter constitutes two-thirds of all mail matter, meaning two-thirds by weight, and returns but one-twenty-fourth of the revenue from postage, taken baldly, is misleading in the highest degree; and the figuring which has sometimes come from the Post Office Department that this matter costs approximately 8 cents per pound, is also fallacious. Transportation, which goes by weight, constitutes just about half of direct postal expense; it is absurdly high in comparison with the rates paid to the railroads by other shippers, should be reduced at least one-half, and is a constantly diminishing ratio. Terminal handling in collection and delivery, which goes by piece rather than by weight, constitutes approximately half of direct postal expense and is an increasing ratio. A periodical is deposited in bulk, without cost of collection, transported at wholesale, and much of it is not even delivered by carriers. Probably the cost of second-class matter is substantially more than 1 cent per pound, but it is a question if it is much, if any, above 2 cents per pound.

It is a fair question whether publishers would not be better off with a somewhat higher rate than the present under which they would be free from the complexities and uncertainties under present administrative conditions. Immediate selfishness, however, is likely to consolidate a large proportion of periodical publishers against any change in the law which would directly or indirectly increase the rate or base it on cost. We can only appeal to the broader-minded to treat the question in a broader way, with a view to all the interests involved. It is true of course that in the early days of newspapers and other periodicals the government sought to promote education by mailing newspapers and other periodicals free within the county of origin and by making the lowest rates for other periodicals. The free feature is no longer necessary and should be eliminated. Perhaps the most satisfactory outcome would be a rate somewhat below present cost, but which with the development of postal operations would presently be within cost, permitting publishers to use the mails on that basis with absolute freedom without the present embarrassments to publishers and to the postal authorities.

The publishers of weekly periodicals have recently formed an organization, doubtless to protect their interests as such. At present weeklies have advantages not granted to monthly publications. As a weekly publication we are free to say that this should not continue, and that all periodicals should be put on the same basis. As to the points covered in the Association's referendum, we would also emphasize the view that many are matters with which the Post Office Department should have nothing whatever to do.

We do not think that the law ought to authorize a publisher to collect a subscription beyond the time for which the subscriber has paid; but if a publisher chooses to take chances and continue to deliver the periodical in the expectation that the subscriber so desires, that is not the affair of the Post Office Department. The commission is perfectly right in suggesting that any lines which are to be drawn should be drawn on the most practical and simple considerations, and should not involve inquisitorial examination of the business affairs of the publisher or his list of subscribers.

ONE of the most serious difficulties as to second-class matter has been not the law itself, but its interpretation by the Third Assistant Postmaster-General and the restrictive regulations which he has based upon that interpretation. In what are known as the Railway Publication cases, decided in the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia and recorded in the Washington Law Reporter for December 4, 1904, the department was overruled in some of its restrictions, and the court said straightforwardly that while the Postmaster-General was authorized, subject to court decision, to interpret the law, he could not add to or modify it by restriction or extension of the words of a statute. The department gave notice of an appeal to the United States Supreme Court, but the appeal was not made and the decision has evidently been accepted by the department. We are glad that the Postal Commission proposes to treat the question from a broad point of view, rather than to make its inquiry an investigation of the acts of an official who has, we believe, acted from an honest desire to protect the interests of the government and has simply followed a mistaken policy in so doing; but the commission might well reiterate to the department the warning already given by the court.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF CONGRESSIONAL POSTAL COMMISSION TO CONSIDER POSTAL RELATIONS OF SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

THE following announcement has been made by the Congressional Commission appointed to consider the postal relations of second class matter, i.e., periodicals transported at bulk rates at one cent per pound. To the announcement is appended a statement of the provisions of the law affecting this class of mailable matter.

Under the Act of Congress approved June 26, 1906, provision was made for a commission, as follows:

That there shall be appointed a joint commission of Congress, consisting of three Senators, to be appointed by the President of the Senate, and three members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, whose duty it shall be to investigate, consider, and report, by bill or otherwise, to Congress its findings and recommendations regarding the second-class of mail matter. The said joint commission shall have power to employ clerks and stenographers, administer oaths, send for persons and papers, and do all things necessary for the carrying out of its objects.

By virtue of authority of the foregoing Act, the President of the Senate has appointed as commissioners Senators Penrose, Carter and Clay, and the Speaker of the House has appointed Representatives Overstreet, Gardner and Moon. The commission duly organized by the election of Senator Penrose as chairman and Representative Overstreet as vice-chairman. Henry H. Glassie was elected secretary of the commission.

The purpose of the commission is to inquire into and report to Congress its conclusions on the operation and effect of the existing law relative to the second-class of mail matter, and what changes, if any, should be made.

The principal statutes involved, which are printed in full in the appendix, are the Act of March 3, 1879, Sections 10, 12, 14, 15 and 25; the Act of July 16, 1894; the Act of June 6, 1900; the Act of June 9, 1884, and the Act of March 3, 1885. Under the operation of these statutes, the theory of which is the granting of special postal privileges by reason of certain ideal characteristics of the matter rather than upon practical considerations as to its transportation and delivery, there have resulted serious evils to both the postal revenue and the postal administration.

The report of the Postmaster-General for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1905, shows that the cost of maintaining the entire postal service for that year was approximately $167,000,000, and that the revenue from all sources was approximately $153,000,000. Of all the mail matter handled for the public during that year by this costly service, second-class matter constituted approximately two-thirds, while it yielded on the other hand but $6,186,647.54, or about one-twenty-fourth of the revenue derived from postage. Not only has the postal revenue suffered by reason of the undue expansion of this class of matter as compared with other classes, but in dealing with the matter itself the postal service is hampered at every step by difficulties and perplexities of administration. The rates governing second-class matter are both numerous and involved, and the application of them seems to require a constant inquiry into matters for which an administrative office is not properly equipped. The system as a whole has been repeatedly condemned by Postmasters-General as lacking in simplicity and uniformity, and as being confusing to the publishing world as well as to the officials of the service.

Having these facts in mind, the commission deems it advisable to direct its inquiries especially along the following lines:

1. Whether the revenue from the second-class of mail matter should not be made commensurate with the actual cost of the service rendered in handling it, and whether its classification should not accordingly be grounded upon practical rather than ideal distinctions?

2. In case second-class matter is not put upon a cost-paying basis, what limitations should be placed upon the matter which may properly be embraced in that class?

3. By what amendments of existing law may the changes which appear to be advisable be most effectually brought about?

With the purpose of obtaining the benefit of the views upon these questions of persons directly interested in the objects of this investigation, the commission will hold sessions, beginning with the first at the Holland House in New York City, at 12 o'clock noon, Monday, October 1, 1906.

Owing to the great number of publications concerned, it is obviously impracticable for the commission indiscriminately to extend the privilege of the hearing to individual publishers. Each national organization will be heard orally by not to exceed three representatives designated by the organization; and those classes of publications not having regular organizations will be heard through persons who may be regarded as fairly representative.

The commission will likewise call for opinions from such other persons as may in its judgment be capable of giving valuable information or suggestions on the subject.

In order to facilitate the work of the commission and to utilize advantageously the time devoted to public hearings, the persons designated to appear before the commission are requested to furnish in advance a brief statement of the points to which they desire to direct attention.

Communications intended for the consideration of the commission should be addressed to

AMERICAN WEEKLY PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE AMERICAN WEEKLY PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION, recently organized in view of the coming work of the Postal Commission, with W. D. Boyce, of the Saturday Blade-Chicago Ledger as president; P. V. Collins, of the Northwestern Agriculturist, Minneapolis, as vice-president; Herbert Shearer, of Farm, Field and Fireside, Chicago, as secretary, and Everett Sisson, of the Interior, Chicago, as treasurer, is using the referendum method to obtain the opinion of publishers of weekly periodicals on the following questions:

Are you in favor of continuing the present rate of one cent per pound on second class matter?

Do you favor an increase?

Are you in favor of a postal law requiring publishers to discontinue sending their paper to subscribers beyond the time for which they have paid in advance?

If in favor of giving credit, how long do you think would be reasonable for a weekly publisher to continue a subscription on credit?

Are you in favor of exchanges, free copies to advertisers and sample copies, not for advertising purposes, but to secure new subscribers, passing through the mails at the regular second class rates as heretofore?

REFORMED SPELLING PAMPHLETS SOLD BY THE GOVERNMENT.

THE Public Printer announces that he has been flooded with requests for information regarding simplified spelling. He has issued a pamphlet directed to the various government departments explaining the new system to them, and will send this pamphlet to anybody who wants it and will send him 25 cents. With it he will send a wall card containing the 300 words which are to be spelled according to the simplified spelling system, arranged for quick reference.

Postage stamps or personal checks will not be accepted, and the money must be sent by postal money order, express money order, bank draft, or certified check, payable to the "Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C." Currency may be sent at owner's risk. Only one copy can be sent to any one person.

THE LIBRARY BUREAU'S PATENT ON TAB CARDS UPHELD.

At a stated term of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York, on July 27, Judge John R. Hazel issued a perpetual injunction against the Bridgeport Brass Company, in the suit brought against it by James N. Gunn, Henry P. Stamford and the Library Bureau, restraining the Bridgeport Brass Company from manufacturing and offering for sale the tab card records invented and manufactured by the complainants.

After several years of the most determined effort to delay this decision, made by the manufacturer in defence of an infringing user, the position of the plaintiffs is fully sustained and the use of tab card records of any and every kind not manufactured by the Library Bureau is an infringement.

To users of tab cards the Library Bureau now offers a contract for the life of their patents, under which it agrees to supply these cards at prices which do not include royalties.

This form of agreement will be submitted upon request.

BOOKS WRITTEN IN PRISON.

FROM such statistics as one can gather, jails ought to be a good place for all literary persons. It is patent to all that that soothing quiet, that absence of worry as to where the next meal is going to come from, that certain regularity of eating, sleeping, arising and exercising which all writer folk demand, is there in an unblemished and ideal state. For the poet who is trying to hammer out a scheme in dactylic hexameter, what can be imagined as more helpful than the thud, thud, thud of the warden's footstep on the cement walk outside his door? For the novelist who wishes to be free from all worldly distraction, what can be conjured up any freer from it than four blank walls and an iron door?

Oscar Wilde's "De Profundis" was, as all the world knows, written in jail. At least three immortal achievements were produced, in whole or in part, when their authors were in durance vile. John Bunyan wrote "Pilgrim's Progress" and Cervantes wrote part of "Don Quixote" in jail. Defoe planned "Robinson Crusoe" during a term of enforced confinement, during which time he also founded and edited The Review, and wrote besides other pamphlets, etc., a "Collection of Casualties and Disasters." Leigh Hunt, under the same circumstances, wrote "Rimini." The few peaceful years of Raleigh's storm-tossed life which he spent as a prisoner in the Tower of London were given in large part to the writing of his glowing if inaccurate "History of the World." Tasso composed the best of his "Dialoghi" and much of the "Jerusalem Delivered" in the jail at Ferrara, and Silvio Pellico touched the heart of Europe with words that he penned in a cell. Severinus Boethius, the Roman statesman and philosopher, in the prison at Paria, composed his "De consolazione philosophiae," in 525, and Schubart, the hero of Schiller's "Die Räuber," composed much of his lyric work and his autobiography during his confinement at the Hohenasperg.

"There must be something in this," according to a writer in a recent issue of the New York Sun. "So many examples should not go for naught. Man is supposed to learn from the history which is behind him. Might one then venture the opinion that if every one of our present day authors who is laboring so hard to establish a bank account and a standard American literature could be put in jail the result would be highly beneficial, and in ten years America would be æsthetically improved a hundred per cent.? The plan looks feasible. As a beginning, it is suggested that we 'send up' Cyrus Townsend Brady. The pen, as Tom Hood would say, is the place for the devotees of the pen."

COMMUNICATIONS.

BOOKS AND UTOPIA.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: I am quite delighted to see at last, by your issue of September 1, some serious consideration of the "Way Out" question.

How you have "squelched" me! "The law of the land, economic law and human nature" the only obstacles in the way of working on the plans outlined? Then it's easy!

Perhaps there is room for discussing the points raised and questioning the fact of those obstacles existing.

As to the law of the land, legal lights must settle legal details. But a large part of the little education of the writer was in the law, before business, and he has had a very considerable amount of strenuous experience in connection with organizing and managing corporations—and lawyers he has come in contact with, as counsel and opposing, have never called him "chimerical."

I think it is quite safe to say it will not be hard to find a legal way of reaching beneficent ends; and there can be no question that the ends sought by plans outlined are for the good of all concerned—publisher, dealer and buyer. They eliminate waste, secure stability and make possible reduction in price to consumers. If "Standard Oil," the "Steel Corporation," the leather trade, and others can "get together," is it not on its face absurd to assume that book interests cannot find a way of working together for mutual advantage, and the injury of no one?

At the time of the effort to organize book interests years ago which resulted in the United States Book Co. fiasco, as a sort of mental exercise and satisfaction of curiosity, having only trifling personal interest in the practical question, I made as close a study of the subject as I was capable of, with the help of two most competent corporation lawyers, (James B. Dill was one of them, for years, before and after, my attorney,) and reached the conclusion that publishing was probably, of all business interests, the easiest to effectually combine and control. One day Lovell, having been, up to that time, unsuccessful in working up his "combination," authorized me to have incorporation papers drawn for organizing on plans I had developed; the next day he had "raised the wind" and rushed through his "Gobble" scheme, and my "co-operation" plan was put aside.

Here is the nutshell of it, put as near as possible in A B C simplicity:

Scribner and Putnam, publishers of books not in competition, wish to co-operate and eliminate waste. Scribner for many years has had a subscription department in which the exclusive agency principle has always been fundamental. They decide to apply the same principle to their general trade.

Now note: In typewriter-selling it is quite out of the question for the "Remington" and the "Oliver" to employ the same exclusive agent, as it is also for the "New York" and the "Equitable" Life companies.

But in books it is a positive advantage for Scribner and Putnam to use the same dealer as exclusive local bookstore, and a further advantage if seven other "sane" publishers, or seventy-seven, join them.

Every bookbuyer of the town and tributary country soon learns that there is one place where he can get any book of theirs, and see most popular books; he saves shoe leather and self-respect in "shopping" for "inducements" among several petty bookstores, none of which, probably, will have in hand what he wants.

The local dealer is obliged, in consideration of "exclusive" arrangement, to carry liberal stock, and is made safe in doing so. His profits, as now, depend on the extent of his sales, and he will "push," especially as he knows he and not a local competitor will reap the result of any effort he makes.

As to your "economic law" and "human nature" obstacles, I think it would be very easy to show the difficulties to be imaginary, and if permitted, and it seems worth while, I may discuss those points later. But I cannot believe that hard-headed, successful business men will study the question seriously and fail to recognize the simple common sense of the essential features of the plan proposed. Details may be varied indefinitely.

There is surely no better reason why specified books shall not be sold at uniform price than that specified railroad tickets shall not.

My plan leaves the questions of prices and discounts in the hands of each individual publisher.

I do not, however, insist on absolute control of prices, as do some, and would be inclined to let that regulation be incidental—making exclusive agents' fields so important and rich, and discounts so close (though ample) as to make large "cutting" impossible, and temptation non-existent.

As to a combined selling-agency—the greatest and legally-unquestioned monopoly in the United States, far more complete than Standard Oil, is in the publishing field—the American News Co. control of periodical sales.

It seems to me what is needed is thought and action rather than "discussion"—for even a few publishers can most advantageously co-operate without waiting for the slow and stupid to make up their minds—and no necessity of "buying out" the "strikers" and "obstructionists."

As to "competition," most merchants do not need "urging" to sell all the goods they can, when selling "pays." But the special stimulus comes by each publisher having direct knowledge of what each agent is doing, and being able, (and having a right, because of special agency,) to "prod" him, comparing him with others in similar fields. And agencies being from year to year, "competition" comes in by "better men" standing ready to do more.

As to sub-agencies in large cities, that is a question as to what is wise in each specific instance, and, somewhat, of experience. Cities might in some cases be divided and handled direct by A. P. A., and in others through one controlling Local Agent. If publishers think they can make more sales through a thousand, or hundreds of petty dealers, than through a less number of attractive, well-stocked stores with books on hand, they can take their choice. Of course it is simple common sense that the better existing stores would have preference; but publishers would not be likely to recognize any "vested rights."

Two more points, very briefly:

You surprisingly misapprehend the plan and purpose of the central corporation. It is hardly more than a combined stock room and shipping department, incorporated for convenience and safety, and handles everything publishers joining choose to present, but at their risk. Practically, each individual publisher will do his own "pushing," the same as now. The U. P. A. is not at all restricted in its legitimate field, but only from extending it. The lawyers have given me credit for "inventing" the one little feature of putting certain "restrictions" in the Certificates of Stock and Profit Sharing Certificates, thus making it impossible for a controlling majority of trustees to change fundamental plans, and "run away with" the conservative minority. The U. P. A. can be legally limited in its power to take risks.

No one, I think, can believe more thoroughly than I in "individuality." This I reserve completely to each publisher, instead of "wiping out" the smaller individuals as in the great mercantile and manufacturing combinations generally. Similar individuality should be largely permitted to the Exclusive Agents, though in the nature of the case the publisher must be the "boss," the dealer restricted by his fundamental rules.

As to the present "A. P. A.," I have no liking for criticism, much more inclining to "construction" rather than "destruction." Are not the futility of its plans sufficiently demonstrated by demoralized conditions, never worse than now?

Imagine, for instance, the grimaces which must cloud the faces of the ghosts of those revered publishers, George Palmer Putnam and Anson D. F. Randolph, whose very life was "truth," as they note the persistently-advertised "lies" of "$1.50 novels," or even "postage added" to "net" books.

JOHN B. ALDEN.

BIBLE HOUSE, N. Y. City, "Labor Day," 1906.

"THE ALDEN WAY OUT."

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: I have been very much interested in the articles published in the WEEKLY headed "The Alden Way Out." Last week Mr. R. E. Sherwood starts out with the argument that the agency scheme would prevent the buyer of out-of-print books from obtaining what he wants. I do not see it in that way. In the first place Mr. Sherwood says that if the agency scheme be carried out many of the agencies would undoubtedly fall to the department stores. Let's see: How many department stores to-day are carrying goods which they are compelled to sell at a restricted price? If the department stores were compelled to sell books at the publisher's price, and were unable to obtain them unless they did hold up the price, they would soon find some other articles not restricted to advertise at cut prices. They'd go out of the book business. And they ought to be out of it. They are not in any sense of the word booksellers.

In another paragraph Mr. Sherwood says that "the publishers would be asked to put in operation a plan which would greatly decrease the number of distributing agencies!" I do not believe that the agencies plan would have this result. We would have fewer department stores selling books, but we would have more booksellers making dollars, because the profits being more and the protection to their investment being greater, would encourage them to remain in business as well as encourage new ones to engage in the business. I do not believe that any one has suggested that the agencies be restricted to a favored few. Competition does not hurt if it is honest competition. And with restricted prices and signed agreements all would be compelled to be square or retire.

If a publisher puts out a book at $1 list, anybody may buy that book at $1. If you have agencies the purchaser may buy it of them at $1. But the publisher must not sell this book at a discount to any one but an agent. This would not decrease the sale of books; it would only give them a commercial value—a value that every one would understand.

In the concluding paragraph Mr. Sherwood says "the day the exclusive agency method is put in operation I sell a business which nets me $15,000 a year." I would like to wager that if the "exclusive" agency method was worked on Mr. Sherwood his profits would be $25,000 a year, and that he could not be induced to retire from the book business with a block and tackle. JOHN S. WATERLAND.

CHICO, CAL., September 2, 1906.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MISS ROSE PORTER, the well-known author, died at her home in New Haven, Conn., on September 10. She was born in New York City December 6, 1845, and after leaving school spent some time in England, returning in 1862 to make her home in New Haven. Her first book, "Summer Driftwood for the Winter Fire," published in 1870, met with a gratifying success, and was followed by more than thirty volumes.

EDWARD S. CARR, for thirty-four years connected with the American News Company, died suddenly at Atlantic City, N. J., September 8. Mr. Carr was born in Ireland, circa 1845-47, and joined the forces of the American News Company in 1869. Owing to continued ill health he felt obliged to resign his position in 1903. During the latter part of his connection with the News Company he assisted the late Patrick Farrelly in making arrangements with publishers of periodicals, a position which he was eminently qualified to fill, because of his intimate knowledge of the details of newspaper publishing and his equable temperament, diplomacy and fairness to all concerned.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THE most complete Life of Mrs. Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes) is to be found in "John Bull and Jonathan"—her father's autobiography—which was published last year in England by T. Werner Laurie. In this book he gives many details of the talented authoress's literary work and a number of interesting photographs. The new novel by Mrs. Craigie, which has recently been announced, is not certainly the last piece of fiction which we shall have from her pen. It is said that she left also a romance entitled "The Princess of Benevento." One of her friends, who has published brief impressions of her, gives a curious note on her methods of composition. She told him that she "made a practice of writing her comedy scenes when she felt most serious, and her scenes of passion and melancholy when she felt most gay, obtaining by this means a stronger restraint."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

SIR GILBERT PARKER's new novel, "The Weavers," will begin in the October number of Harper's Magazine. The hero is a young Quaker, an overlord in Egypt, where the scenes are largely laid.

The North American, beginning September 7, became a fortnightly instead of a monthly magazine. In its new form it will continue not only to permit, but to seek, expression of the best thought upon subjects of vital importance from every conceivable point of view. This change in the form of The North American Review is in accordance with the spirit of the times. Ninety-one years ago it was first started as a quarterly. After sixty years it became a bimonthly, and it has been known as a monthly to a generation of readers. As a fortnightly it will be issued on the first and third Fridays of every month.

PERSONAL NOTES.

CHARLES DWYER, formerly editor of The Delineator, has become editor of The Ladies' World.

HARRY J. FISHER has resigned as vice-president of the Frank A. Munsey Co. to become general manager of the Crowell Publishing Co. He will have charge of the Woman's Home Companion and the Form and Fireside.

EUGENE THWING has resigned as advertising manager of Funk & Wagnalls Company to become editor-in-chief of The Circle, the new magazine which this firm will launch in the near future. He is succeeded by George A. Dame, who has been associated with Mr. Thwing in the advertising department of the house during the past five years, and who also has been pushing the firm's publications in the educational field.

FRANK W. CROWNINSHIELD has gone abroad to open a London office for the Frank A. Munsey Company, resigning his position here to do so. He will occupy himself with the European editorial work on all of the Munsey magazines. Mr. Crowninshield was for some years with G. P. Putnam's Sons, and has been, successively, publisher of The Bookman, manager of the Metropolitan Magazine, and assistant editor of the Munsey publications.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

GEORGE WAHR, Ann Arbor, Mich., has in preparation "Wahr's Guide to American Periodicals and Serials," compiled by H. O. Severance, of the General Library, University of Michigan. The guide will contain a list of about 10,000 periodicals published in the United States and Canada arranged in two sections—alphabetically and arranged in classes.

THE seventh volume of "The English Catalogue of Books" will be ready probably in October. The work will contain, in one alphabet, a complete list of books published in Great Britain and Ireland from 1901 to 1905, the titles in full being classified under author and subject, with particulars of size, price, year of publication and name of publisher. The volume will contain upwards of 1200 pages, and will furnish particulars of about 48,000 titles, meaning probably 96,000 entries, including not only titles which have appeared in the five annual volumes, but also upwards of 1500 additional entries referring largely to privately printed works and such as are not accessible in the usual way. The trade in this country will be supplied by the Office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, the American agents for the work.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALPENA, MICH.—Herman H. Wittelshofer, bookseller, has been succeeded by Wittelshofer & Co.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Wabash Avenue will have another bookstore on October 1. The Frank M. Morris Company having leased for a term of years the large store at No. 152. Mr. Morris has but recently returned from Europe and will open up his late purchases at the new store, together with a part of the stock from the present location, 171 Madison Street. On May 1, 1907, the entire business will be transferred to the new location.

COLUMBUS, KAN.—G. R. Blake, bookseller, has sold out his bookstore in the post-office to Williams & Allen.

GAINESVILLE, GA.—T. S. Campbell & Son, booksellers, it is reported, have filed a petition in bankruptcy.

GRANVILLE, O.—W. P. Ullman, formerly in the book business in Londonville, O., has purchased the book business of W. H. Kussmaul and the drug business of W. H. Owens, and has combined the two in one store.

HOOD RIVER, ORE.—G. S. Miller has opened a new bookstore here.

HUNTINGTON, IND.—Harter, Lyle & Co., booksellers, have sold out.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO.—Miss Mary E. Corwin, bookseller, has sold out.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—The United States News Company has been incorporated here to manufacture and deal in newspapers and other periodicals. The incorporators are T. F. Barrett, B. S. Mantz and J. R. Turner.

JONESBORO, ARK.—Broadway & Gaylon, booksellers, have sold out to Arthur E. Maxey.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—"Fred Rust's Bookshop" has just opened in the Altman Building. Fred W. Rust, the proprietor, who has been with the Chicago branch of Ginn & Co. for six years, making a specialty of beautifully printed books, and things that have to do with library decoration.

LONGMONT, COL.—G. A. Garrett, bookseller, has sold out.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.—John S. Thayer has sold his interest in the Stoll & Thayer Co., with whom he has been identified for the past thirty years, and has bought an interest in the Ford Smith & Little Co., of this city. Mr. Thayer will hereafter give his personal attention to the business of the last-named corporation.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Hobart Company, publishers, have moved from 114 Fifth Avenue to 43 West Thirty-eighth Street.

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA.—The Oklahoma State Bible and Book Company has been incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000.

PARIS, MO.—Miss Ruth Shaw, bookseller, has sold out to H. C. Long & Co.

PITTSBURG, PA.—Charles F. Davenport, until recently with Gimbel & Co., of Philadelphia, has taken charge of the book and stationery department of the Joseph Harne Co.

PORTLAND, ME.—Eugene P. Clark has incorporated his business as the E. P. Clark Book and Art Co.

ROCKY FORD, COL.—P. E. Kennedy, bookseller, has been succeeded by the Dukes & Sever Book and Curio Store.

SAN JACINTO, CAL.—Carmichael & Co., booksellers, have dissolved partnership. R. J. Carmichael continues the business.

SHAWNEE, OKLA.—McClellan & Yunt, booksellers, have been succeeded by S. M. & Katherine Yunt.

UTICA, N. Y.—John L. Grant, for twenty years a member of the firm of W. T. Smith & Co., booksellers and stationers, last month secured the interests of Mrs. W. T. Smith and Frederick W. Luker and thus became the sole proprietor of the business, which he will continue at 145 Genesee Street under the firm name of John L. Grant, successor to W. T. Smith & Co. Mr. Grant has been interested in books for a considerably longer time than he has passed in this country. He came to this country from Scotland, his native land, in October, 1876, landing on a Friday and starting work in a New York bookstore on the following Monday. At his home in Galishields he had been taught something of the trade in the bookstore of his father, and for a year he had been in a book shop in Edinburgh. After a year in New York he went to Utica and entered the service of Nathan Hollister, who had a book and stationery establishment on Genesee Street, near the canal. He remained with Mr. Hollister until his retirement a year later, then entering the employ of Bristol & Smith, and remaining until after the firm name became W. T. Smith & Co. In 1888 Mr. Grant went to Syracuse, and after a year he returned to Utica and became a partner in the W. T. Smith & Co. business.

VINTON, IA.—Alva M. Morrison, bookseller, has been succeeded by L. M. Wallace.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

"SHORTY MCCABE," by Sewell Ford, which we announced in our last week's issue as "now ready," will not be published by Mitchell Kennerley until September 24.

HENRY FROWDE, (The Oxford University Press,) has just brought out Sidney Lee's "Notes and Additions to the Census of Copies of the Shakespeare First Folio," which forms a supplement to the Census published in 1902.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has just published "Briefs for Our Times," a volume of brief essays or sermonettes, by the Rev. Morgan M. Sheedy, rector of St. John's Church, Altoona, Pa., who is also known as a journalist of no mean reputation.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Stationers' Board of Trade, held on the 11th inst., the following concerns were unanimously elected to membership: National Blank Book Co., Holyoke, Mass.; also, Frederick Warne & Co., Hills & Hafely Co., R. F. Fenno & Co. and Fliegelmann & Reiss, all of New York City.

"JOHN DOUGH AND THE CHERUB," L. Frank Baum's latest book, was published August 25, the first edition being 20,000 copies. This edition is already practically sold, and on the 5th inst. the Reilly & Britton Co. ordered a second edition of 20,000 books. Undoubtedly "John Dough and the Cherub" will be the leading seller in the juvenile field this fall.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish shortly Lady De Lancey's narrative of a week at Waterloo in 1815. Her husband, Colonel Sir William Howe De Lancey, at the time Quartermaster General, was mortally wounded in the Battle of Waterloo and was nursed by Lady De Lancey. The book gives interesting sidelights on the battle.

EATON & MAINS publish early in October a powerful book in "Chunda," by Dr. Horatio Cilver Ladd, a story of the Navajos, full of the picturesqueness of Apache customs and revealing the peculiar power of the Apache woman. Chunda will preserve the memory of peculiar traits of Indian life in the Southwest which are so fast vanishing under the influence of the white man.

THE advance interest in Randall Parrish's new story, "Bob Hampton of Placer," is so great that the first edition of 15,000 copies will be exhausted long in advance of publication day, and A. C. McClurg & Co. are planning to put a second edition to press at once. The book will be published in Canada by William Briggs, Toronto, and in England and the colonies by G. P. Putnam's Sons, London. It is said to be the best of all Mr. Parrish's romances.

D. C. HEATH & Co. will publish shortly in the dramatic section of their Belles-Lettres Series Gascoigne's "Supposes and Jocasta," edited by Professor J. W. Cunliffe, of McGill University, Montreal. Jocasta will be presented both in the English version and in the Italian original. Swinburne's "Mary Stuart" will be edited by W. M. Payne, editor of the volume of "Selections from Swinburne's Poems," which appeared in the series some months ago.

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co. announce a new edition of Horace Traubel's "With Walt Whitman in Camden," a second popular edition of 50,000 copies of Lorimer's "Letters from a Self-Made Merchant to His Son," a new edition of "The Road to Ridgeby's," by Frank Burlingame Harris; also, a new edition of "In Childhood's Country," by Louise Chandler Moulton, which has been incorporated by them in their new children's library, Our Little Neighbors.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready Will N. Harben's new novel of North-Georgian life, entitled "Ann Boyd," also, "Ferdinand de Soto and the Invasion of Florida," by Frederick A. Ober, a new volume in his Heroes of American History series. They have ready for immediate publication "Selected Lyrical Poems of Algernon Charles Swinburne." In this volume are included many of Swinburne's best-known poems, together with his early lyrics which have become general favorites, and a number of beautiful poems to children.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY have brought out this week Owen Johnson's new book, "Max Fergus," which is more characteristic than either of his earlier books, in that it deals with the mystery of New York streets. It is not a sociological book, but primarily a story with a plot. Mr. Johnson is a born and bred New Yorker, with a great love of the city and a keen eye for the tragedy and mystery which lurk in the endless rows of uniform houses. He makes a good deal of this in the development of his splendid plot in the new story.

"THE International Digest of Criminal Law," by George E. McCrossan, Samuel D. Schultz and Andrew M. Harper, to be published by Arthur Poole & Co., of Toronto, Canada, was inadvertently entered in the "Weekly Record" of September 8 as already issued. The work is well advanced in course of publication, but not yet ready for delivery. As to the price, subscriptions are received before date of publication at $6 per volume for the three volumes. After publication the set of three volumes, in half calf binding, will be $21. The trade is requested to note this announcement.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have in preparation for early publication the following fiction: "Gabrielle, Transgressor," by Harris Dickson, a romance of colonial New Orleans, containing a frontispiece in colors; "Don Q in the Sierras," by K. and H. Prichard, authors of "The Chronicles of Don Q," illustrated by F. X. Chamberlin; "I Will Repay," a story of the French Revolution by Baroness Emuska Orczy, author of "A Son of the People" and "The Scarlet Pimpernel"; "Paul," a new novel by E. F. Benson, author of "The Angel of Pain," also, Rosa N. Carey's annual story for young women, "No Friend Like a Sister."

HENRY HOLT & COMPANY have in press a new volume of selections from Addison, which will include, besides a large number of essays from the Tatler and Spectator, selections from Addison's poems and specimens of his political papers; Theuriet's "L'Abbé Daniel," a love story of simple plot, the scenes of which are wholly from French country life, edited with introduction, notes and vocabulary by Professor Robert L. Taylor, of Dartmouth College; also, a text-book on "Rhetoric and Composition," by Professor Edward Fulton, whose book represents the work done in rhetoric in the freshman year at a large western university.

THE PENN PUBLISHING COMPANY will shortly publish "A West Point Yearling," by Captain Paul B. Malone, the third volume of the West Point Series. This was announced by the Century Company, but they recognized that the Penn Publishing Company were entitled to the right to continue the series, and as the author had signed contracts with the Penn Publishing Company for the remaining volumes, the Century Company turned the matter over to them. As the series is one of the most popular for boys published to-day, there have been many inquiries in regard to this third volume. The delay in its publication has been due to the causes mentioned, and the trade will no doubt generally be glad to learn that the third volume will shortly appear.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have just ready the second volume of "A History of Diplomacy in the International Development of Europe," by Dr. David Jayne Hill, Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States at The Hague, which traces the formation of modern states, their schemes of expansion, their rivalry for primacy, the development of international law, the triumph of territorial sovereignty, and the formation of a European code of public law. In future volumes it is intended to consider the diplomacy of the age of absolutism, of the revolutionary era, of the constitutional movement and of commercial imperialism, thus bringing the history of international development down to the present time. Each volume, however, will be an independent work, complete for the period it covers.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish during the month a "Listener's Cure," a Kensington comedy by E. V. Lucas; Jack London's new book, entitled "Moon Face, and Other Stories;" Professor Irving Fisher's "The Nature of Capital and Income;" and the second volume of Henry Charles Lea's "A History of the Inquisition in Spain." Jack London's "White Fang" and Charles Egbert Craddock's "The Amulet" are promised in October; and notable children's books in preparation include "Merrylips," by Miss Beulah Marie Dix; "The Railway Children," by E. Nesbitt; and "The Wonder Children," by C. J. Bellamy. They have in preparation a pocket edition of Thomas Hardy's novels, printed on India paper and bound in cloth and in leather. "Tess" will begin the series. This will be followed by "Far from the Madding Crowd," and the edition will be completed in fortnightly volumes.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. will publish shortly a new booklet by Dr. O. S. Marden, the well-known editor of Success, entitled "Success Nuggets," which consists of pithy sayings, classified according to topics, and arranged in catchy pages; a little holiday book, by Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, the pastor of the New York Broadway Tabernacle, to be entitled "The World's Christmas Tree," which will be published with appropriate type designs; "The Happy Family," by Dean Hodges, who takes a new view of the question as to what constitutes a happy home life; also, in their Handy Volume Classics a new edition of Swinburne's poems that will commend itself to students and careful readers. It is a careful selection of shorter poems, covering the author's earlier as well as later output, edited by Professor Arthur Beatty, of the University of Wisconsin, who has appended full notes, bibliography, indices, and other aids to the reader.

DODD, MEAD & Co. publish this week George Barr McCutcheon's new story, "Jane Cable," describing in a delightfully ingenious and sympathetic manner the love affairs of an American soldier in the Philippines and his sweetheart who follows him into the service as a nurse. The book has full-page illustrations in color by Harrison Fisher. They have also just ready "The Face of Clay," by Horace A. Vachell, author of "The Hill," etc., the background of which is an artist's colony in Brittany; "Patty's Summer Days," by Carolyn Wells, in which the heroine—the same gentle, merry-hearted girl her many friends have learned to love—is followed to her vacation resorts and recreations; also, "Through Five Republics of South America," by Percy F. Martin, a critical and authoritative description of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay and Venezuela in 1905, fortified by statistical tables, etc., and illustrated with upwards of 100 pictures and maps.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. publish to-day "The Man in the Case," by Mrs. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward, the story of a fine-natured woman, living in a small town, who is persecuted by ignorant gossip; "A Borrowed Sister," by Eliza Orme White, illustrated by Katherine Pyle, a companion volume to "An Only Child," the "borrowed sister" becoming the playmate of "the only child" while her parents are visiting Europe; and "American Hero Stories," by Eva March Tappan, covering noted heroes of American history from Columbus to Lincoln; volume 1 and 2 of a dainty edition, in three volumes, of the Breakfast Table series, by Oliver Wendell Holmes, published in connection with J. M. Dent & Co., of London, of which the great feature is the dainty illustrative work of H. M. Brock; and New Popular editions, each in three volumes, of "Tennyson's Poetical and Dramatic Works" and of "Browning's Poetical and Dramatic Works."

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will publish on the 19th inst., in McClure's Little Comic Masterpieces series, "A Good Samaritan," by Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews, a tale of a cheerfully inebriated young man helped homeward by a Good Samaritan; also, "Breezy," by J. George Frederick, a breezily humorous, great little business story. Each volume is adequately illustrated. They will bring out at the same time "A Sailor of Fortune—Memoirs of Captain B. S. Osbon," by Albert Bigelow Paine, who gives an interesting account of the romantic adventures of Captain Osbon, who took part in a number of wars, including the Civil and Spanish; "The Shadow of the House," a strong story of Russian life by Ivan Strannik; "Caybiggan," stories of life in the Philippines, by James Hopper; also, "My Impressions of America," by Charles Wagner, the author of "The Simple Life," etc., who gives a more than ordinarily exhaustive record of his experiences during his visit to this country two years ago.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS are once more fortunate in having a book by Myrtle Reed, entitled "A Spinner in the Sun," full of her ever-ready pathos, humor and sentiment, which takes its place with the six books of this author's already on the Putnam list that are now issued in a handsome uniform edition. The second volume will be ready during the month of J. J. Jusserand's "Literary History of the English People," and the French Ambassador to the United States proves great regard for the sound traditions of English critical opinion; and the publishers promise shortly "The Ethics of Wagner's 'Ring of the Nibelungen,'" by Mary Elizabeth Lewis; "The Heart of Hamlet's Mystery," by Karl Werder, translated by Elizabeth Wilder, for which Professor W. J. Rolfe has written a scholarly introduction; "A Draught of Blue," Hindu love stories, translated by F. W. Bain, who did such fine work before in "The Digit of the Moon;" and the Knutsford edition of "Mrs. Gaskell's Works," a biographical edition with the editorial work in charge of Dr. Adolphus Ward, a scholar of the first rank.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish on the 22d inst. the first group of an excellent assortment of new books for boys and girls, well printed and suitably illustrated, including the following titles: "Pelham and His Friend Tim," by Allen French, a first-rate story for boys; "Donald Barton and the Doings of the Ajax Club," by Amos R. Wells, describing the doings of a lot of genuine boys; "Roberta and Her Brothers," by Alice Ward Bailey, the story of a motherless girl; "Playtime," by Clara Murray, little stories for the very youngest readers; "In Eastern Wonderlands," by Charlotte Chaffee Gibson, describing a trip around the world made by three children; "Long Ago in Greece," by Edmund J. Carpenter, a book of golden hours with the old story tellers; "Blackie: His Friends and His Enemies," a book of old fables in new dresses, by Madge A. Bigham; also, a new edition of "The Awakening of the Duchess," by Frances Charles. They have under way another dozen books in the same line, announcement of which is made elsewhere. They will bring out in October a new love story of Japan, "The Dragon Painter," by Sidney McCall, the author of "Truth Dexter," etc., who is now authoritatively stated to be Mrs. Mary McNeil Fenollosa, a native of Alabama, who has spent much of her mature life in Japan.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish the last of this month the book of the "Addresses of John Hay," which will contain all the more notable addresses—over a score—of the late Secretary of State's last years. These will include estimates of Franklin in France, Theodore Roosevelt, Sir Walter Scott, Clarence King and William McKinley, and discussion of international copyright, America's love of peace, American diplomacy, and "Fifty Years of the Republican Party." The American edition of Richard Whiteing's "Ring in the New" will also be among the Century Company's late September issues. The English printing, issued in the spring, has called forth much favorable criticism. The English Review of Reviews, for example, ranks the work as "a brilliant and searching diagnosis of present social conditions." They will issue in book form in October, "The Crimson Sweater," whose serial publication has been one of the most popular features of St. Nicholas during the present year. It is a tale of athletics and adventure at a boys' school, of interest to girls as well as boys, and goes back to the earlier style of the author, Ralph Henry Barbour, being written in the style of his "The Half-Back" rather than any of his later books. Among other juveniles to be brought out this fall are "Further Fortunes of Pinky Perkins," by Captain Harold Hammond, the stories which are said to be largely reminiscent of the author's own boyhood; "The Bible for Young People," a new arrangement of the King James version, in which the genealogies and portions unintelligible to young people are omitted, each incident or story forming a chapter in itself, and the life of Christ being put together in one continuous narrative made up from the four Evangelists; also, Helen Nicolay's "The Boy's Life of Lincoln," based upon the large work by John G. Nicolay and John Hay. In the department of fiction they announce a new novel by Mrs. Caroline Abbot Stanley, author of "Order No. 11," to be entitled "The Modern Madonna," the theme of which is the law, once existent in the District of Columbia, permitting a man to will away the "custody and tuition" of his unborn child, and the possibilities developing under the workings of this law; "Don-a-Dreams," by Harvey J. O'Higgins, a romance in which the hero is always "a lover, a poet in spite of disillusionment, and a gentle solitary;" "The Treasure of Peyre Gaillard," a story dealing with a cryptogram and its unravelling, by John Bennett, author of "Master Skylark," etc.; also, "The Upstart," the story of a little lad's fight for success, by Henry M. Hyde, well known as a writer of short stories. They have also under way a work entitled "Modern Social Conditions," by William B. Bailey, a statistical study of marriage, divorce, births, deaths, suicide, immigration and crime, with special reference to the United States. The new edition of General Horace Porter's "Campaigning with Grant" will be sold at $1.80 net, direct, while the old edition sold for $3.50 and only by subscription; but the new volume will have all the text and illustrations of the old.

AUCTION SALES.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

PROSPERITY

This is a year of prosperity.

Despite all controversy, retail bookselling never held forth better opportunity for money-making than at the present time. The bookseller who is turning his back on unprofitable fiction and bending his energies to selling unique books, dainty gift editions and artistic volumes, is reaping a good harvest.

Here are a few items selected from our "Fall Announcements"—profitable books to push:

BIRTHDAY BOOKS. An entirely new line, printed from new type, with decorated borders in color by Gerta Schroedter. Three titles—Shakespeare, Longfellow and Emerson. Beautifully bound in decorated cloth, $1.00; full limp morocco, $1.50; half morocco, hand sewed and tooled, $2.50; full morocco, hand sewed and tooled, $3.50. (Ready.)

COZY CORNER CONFIDENCES.

By Walter Pulitzer. A companion volume to "A Cynic's Meditations." This is a rare collection of real epigrams, original, witty and worthy of a permanent place on any library shelf. The sayings are even better than "A Cynic's Meditations," (now in its 16th edition), concerning which John Kendrick Bangs said:—"Many of the epigrams are delicious," and the London Sketch adds:—"We certainly place Mr. Pulitzer far above other American writers of epigrams." Made in unusual size and style. Boards, 75 cents; leather, $1.00. (Ready.)

LITTLE BOOKS OF ART. This series forms an exquisitely artistic little library of art. Daintily bound, artistically printed and copiously illustrated, they are practically indispensable to the art lover. Four new titles are now ready—"Raphael," "Greek Art," "Van Dyke," "Millet." Cloth, $1.50. (Ready.)

HUMPTY DUMPTY AND OTHER SONGS. By Joseph Moorat. A very beautiful child's book, containing many of the old favorite nursery rhymes set to music, with illustrations by Paul Woodroffe. Among the compositions are: The King of France, Hush-a-Bye Baby, Rub a Dub Dub, Humpty Dumpty, Bye Baby Bunting, There Was a Crooked Man, Three Little Mice, etc., etc. Boards, $1.25. (Ready.)

TOASTS. Compiled by William Ramsey. A clever little volume, artistically decorated by Gerta Schroedter. Printed in green and black, with colored frontispiece and cover design. Cloth, 50 cents. (Ready.)

A PRAYER. By Max Ehrmann. This beautiful prayer, which has had a circulation of about half a million copies, is printed with several other choice prose poems by the same author in an artistic little volume in gold and two colors. One of the most successful books made this year. Leatherette, 75 cents; ooze leather, $1.50. (Ready.)

TOLD TO THE LITTLE TOT. Edmund Vance Cooke's first book for children is going to make a decided hit everywhere. Bound uniform with his volume of poems about children, "Chronicles of the Little Tot," and containing thirty-nine illustrations by Bessie Collins Pease, nine in full color. There is probably no one in the world better fitted to tell stories to children than Mr. Cooke. His recent poems about children show a wonderful insight and a thorough knowledge of child-life and character, and in a very short time Mr. Cooke's poems have obtained a wide and cordial reception. Cloth, $1.50. (Ready.)

Mr. Cooke's other works are "Rimes to be Read," miscellaneous poems, cloth, $1.50; "Chronicles of the Little Tot," poems about children, cloth, $1.50.

Are you getting the most out of this prosperous season? Perhaps you are one of the many discriminating buyers who make the Dodge publications the central attraction in their stores. Our list of "Good Things for Booklovers" can be had for the asking.

PIG BOOK

EVERY Pig has its day (even as a dog), and as there are many dog books, why not a Pig Book? We hasten to explain that a Pig Book is not necessarily a book having reference to pigs. We give it this title because it sounds more polite than "Pigs I have met." As most people draw just as well with their eyes closed as open, the inflexible rule of the Pig Book is that the artist shall close his or her eyes, draw a pig on one of the pages, without lifting the pencil until the outline is completed, and then, with the eyes still closed, put in (or out as the case may be) the eye of the pig. The artist then signs in order to fix the responsibility. Some people can draw a pig, and most people think they can.

The Pig upon this title page was drawn by a well-known artist under the above conditions. Can you improve upon it?

By the Author of The Yoke

Drawn by André Castaigne for Saul of Tarsus.

ELIZABETH MILLER'S

Saul of Tarsus

The same splendid imagination which reconstructed the Age of the Pharaohs and revived the glory of Egypt in The Yoke here plays with lambent flame about the great Roman world in the years immediately succeeding the Crucifixion.

The scenes are laid in Jerusalem, Alexandria, Rome and Damascus. The Apostle Paul, the Martyr Stephen, Herod Agrippa and the Emperors Tiberius and Caligula are among the mighty figures that move through the pages.

Wonderful descriptions, heart-stirring incidents, deep emotions, high thought and a love story of the purest and noblest type mark this most remarkable religious romance.

WHEN the author wrote "Princess Maritza" he had but one object in view—to write a story that would entertain. Undoubtedly he has succeeded, for there never was a book that held the reader more fascinated. From the moment when, under a cloud of suspicion, Desmond Ellerey resigns his commission as an English officer and becomes a soldier of fortune, until the dramatic climax, one is caught with irresistible force in the rush and action of the story. The excellently constructed plot, the good vivid writing, the keen interest both romantic and adventurous all help to make it the best story of its type. Thin-blooded indeed must be the person who's attention is not sustained at the boiling point from beginning to end.

The CATTLE-BARON'S DAUGHTER

By HAROLD BINDLOSS

Author of "ALTON OF SOMASCO," etc.

a book that carries one out into the open air

Filled with intense interest by its pictures of the cattle country at that critical period, when the great tracts of land used for grazing were taken up by incoming homesteaders with the result of fierce contest, of passionate emotion on both sides and of the final triumph of the inevitable tendency of the times.

This struggle envelops the interests of the daughter of the most influential cattle baron, and the leader of the new movement. The tale of their devotion fraught with numerous difficulties arouses profound admiration for the plucky girl and deep respect for the man whose stern sense of honor puts to shame the greed and selfishness of the cattle baron.

NOTES IN SEASON.

DODD, MEAD & Co. publish to-day "The Subjection of Isabel Carnaby," by Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler, a sequel to the author's "Concerning Isabel Carnaby," which attained wide popularity because of its irresistible wit and cleverness.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. publish this week Randall Parrish's new novel, "Bob Hampton of Placer, Hero of Custer's Famous Fighting Seventh," which has the promise of a tremendously strong popular sale. The first edition of 15,000 was promptly exhausted, and the second and third printings are now under way.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. have just ready "The Plow-Woman," by Eleanor Gates, a strong story of pioneer life in the Northwest, by the author of the "Autobiography of a Prairie Girl," "Tinker Two," by Edgar Jepson, in which the further adventures of young Tinker are described; "The Pets," by Henry Wallace Phillips, in which Red Saunder's bob-cat, his hawk and his snake are partners in a comedy; also, "The Pettison Twins," by Marion Hill, including the stories of Rex and Regina, the "sterilized youngsters."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on the 26th inst. a splendid holiday edition of Whittier's "Snow-Bound," illustrated in color and tint by such well-known artists as Howard Pyle, Enneking and Garrett; Mrs. Elizabeth Robins Pennell's eagerly-awaited biography of her uncle, "Charles Godfrey Leland," more familiarly known as Hans Breitmann; "Montlivet," an exciting novel of early days in Michigan, by Mrs. Alice Prescott Smith, author of "The Legatee;" "Harding of St. Timothy's," a preparatory school story for boys, by Arthur Stanwood Pier; Cowper's "Diverting History of John Gilpin," in a quaint little holiday edition, with humorous woodcuts by Robert Seaver; the Remington edition of "Hiawatha," with over 400 illustrations; "Brothers and Sisters," a book for little children by Miss Abbie Farwell Brown; and new illustrated editions of Whittier's "Child Life" and Scudder's "Boston Town."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY publish this week Pierre Loti's latest novel, "Disenchanted." The author's position in French literature and the unusual nature of its subject, dealing as it does with the life of the Turkish harem—the London Times calls it "a sequel to Uncle Tom's Cabin"—give to "Disenchanted" an exceptional interest. They have also ready "Listener's Lure," by E. V. Lucas; a profusely illustrated book on "Persia Past and Present," by A. V. Williams Jackson, Professor of Indo-Iranian Languages in Columbia University; volume II. of Dr. Henry Charles Lea's "History of the Inquisition of Spain;" a new edition in one volume of the "Poems of Coventry Patmore," with a portrait and an introduction by Basil Champneys; "A Book of English Gardens," by M. R. Gloag, with illustrations in color by Katharine Montagu Wyatt; a book of essays on "Modern Music and Musicians," by R. M. Streatfield; and a collection of poems about the sea, entitled "A Sailor's Garland," collected and edited with an introduction by John Masefield, author of "On the Spanish Main."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk *, and the word net follows the price. ☞

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.: translations, c. tr.: n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); O. (16: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (same: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tl. (same: 12½ cm.); Fo. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

- Andreas and The fates of the Apostles: two Anglo-Saxon narrative poems; ed., with introd., notes and glossary, by G: Philip Krapp. Bost., Ginn, 1906. c. '05. 81+238 p. O. (Albion ser.) cl., $2.
- Editor is lecturer in English, Columbia University. This edition of "Andreas" and "The fates of the Apostles" includes all the material necessary for a thorough study of the two poems. The text is treated conservatively, but the variant readings present a full history of the textual criticism of the works. The introduction discusses the Vercelli manuscript, the sources of the two poems, the poetic handling of the sources, and the history of the apocryphal legends of St. Andrew and the deaths of the Apostles. The question of the authorship of "Andreas" and of the relationship of "Andreas" to "The fates of the Apostles" is fully considered. The editor arrives at the conclusion that the two poems are separate and independent, and that there is insufficient authority for assigning "Andreas" to Cynewulf.
- Arnold, Matthew. Sohrab and Rustum; with other poems by Matthew Arnold; ed. by W: Peterfield Trent and W. T. Brewster. Bost., Ginn, [1906.] c. 25+107 p. front. por. S. (Standard English classics.) cl., 25 c.
- Both editors are professors of English in Columbia University. Their aim has been to make this not only a text-book but also an introduction to the study of Arnold for the general reader. Therefore they have supplemented the name poem by seventy pages of his best representative poems. The introduction deals with Arnold's career as poet and critic and the sources of "Sohrab and Rustum."

- Professor Lovett, of the University of Chicago, has tried to present Browning's poems in the order in which they would naturally appeal to one who has not read them. First are given poems of action and narration; second, poems of places; third, love poems; and fourth, poems of character, including those in which Browning's own temperament and attitude toward life are most clearly expressed. Nearly all the poems are from Browning's early period, 1835 to 1870.

- Carus, Paul. Amitabha: a story of Buddhist theology. Chic., Open Court Publishing Co., 1906. c. 2+121 p. front. D. bds., *50 c. net.
- India in the first century of the Christian era is the scene. The hero, Charaka, a man of noble birth, seeking Nirvana, determined to enter a Buddhist monastery. Circumstances prevented him carrying out his designs; he went to battle with his king, fell in love, but could not reconcile it with his conscience to marry until he had had a long conversation with an old Buddhist philosopher, who explained to him the difference between the doctrines of Brahmanism and Buddhism. The latter not exacting self-sacrifice and celibacy as the highest good is specially dwelt upon.
- Carr, Clark E. Lincoln at Gettysburg: an address. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 7+92 p. por. nar. S. cl., *$1 net.
- By the author of "The Illini." This little book represents mainly an address, revised and somewhat enlarged, delivered by Mr. Carr, Jan. 25, 1906, before the Illinois State Historical Society at Springfield, Ill. Mr. Carr, as far as he knows, is the only surviving member of the Commission who had charge of the Gettysburg National Cemetery when the consecration ceremonies were held at which Lincoln delivered his now celebrated speech. He gives his recollections of the occasion, of how Lincoln looked, of the preparation made for his speech, etc. There is an analysis also of the speech of Edward Everett, the orator of the day, and a sketch of the three days' battle of Gettysburg.
- Carter, General W: Harding. Old army sketches. Balt., Md., Friedenwald Co., 1906. c. 203 p. front. il. pls. 8", cl., $1.25.

- Chapman, G., and Shirley, Ja. The tragedie of Chabot, Admirall of France; reprinted from the quarto of 1639; ed., with introd. and notes, by Ezra Lehman. Phil., pub. for the University [of Pennsylvania by John C. Winston Co.,] 1906. 124 p. Q. (Publications of the University of Pennsylvania, Ser. in philology and literature.) cl., $1.50; bds., $1.25.
- Written by the editor, Harrison Fellow in English of the University of Pennsylvania, in partial fulfillment of the degree of Dr. of Philosophy in that University. This drama was not republished until 1833, when Dyce included it in his edition of Shirley's works; it was also published by Shepherd in 1874 in his edition of the works of Chapman. As no other old edition of "Chabot" exists the only collation necessary has been that which exhibits the suggestions and emendations of the modern editors Dyce and Shepherd. The quarto here reprinted is one of a considerable collection of old plays recently acquired by the University of Pennsylvania. Bibliography (1 p.).
- Clark, Horace. Life of Jesus Christ as by the apostles Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. Windsor, Ct., Horace Clark, 1906. c. 3-195 p. 16", cl., 75 c.

- De Morgan, W: Friend. Joseph Vance: an ill-written autobiography. N. Y., Holt & Co., 1906. c. 10+528 p. D. cl., $1.50.
- A novel in the form of an autobiography of a middle-class Englishman of fifty years ago. He tells of his parents, his loves and friends, and of his growth from a boyhood of poverty to success in early manhood as an inventing mechanical engineer. The strongest influence in his life is that of the woman he does not marry; and it is for her sake he allows himself to be doubted and misjudged for many years rather than that she should lose faith in her brother.
- Dickens, C: A tale of two cities; ed., with biographical and literary notes, by James Weber Linn. Bost., Ginn, [1906.] 7+455 p. front. por. S. (Standard English classics.) cl., 50 c.
- Editor is instructor in English in the University of Chicago. In preparing this edition his aim has been principally to show the general relation of this novel to Dickens's other works, and to point out the devices of Dickens's art in the construction of the plot. The introduction and notes have been made as brief as possible, and in the main the story has been left to speak for itself.

- Eggleston, G: Cary. Blind alleys: a novel of nowadays; il. by E. Pollak. Bost., Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co., 1906. c. 3-414 p. front. il. D. cl., $1.50.
- The principal character is a highly educated young physician, of noble character, who has grown to manhood without knowing his parents or discovering the source of the wealth that has come to him anonymously all through his life. While practicing in New York he is sent for by a rich philanthropic woman to attend her sick poor. From this point his history is slowly evolved. He becomes one of a little band of men and women whose leading thought is how best to help the "well-to-do poor." Their experiences, given in full, are helpful, and seriously and intelligently discussed. The title is explained by the Doctor, who says: "My experience leads me to think that nearly all our efforts to better our fellow-men, whether positively or negatively, lead us into blind alleys."

Eliot, George, [pseud. for Mrs. J. W. Cross.] Works. In 12 v. v. 1-4. N. Y., T: Nelson & Sons, 1906. il. 16°, (New century lib.) cl., $1; limp leath., $1.25.

Ewald, Carl. Two-Legs; tr. from the Danish by Alexander Teixeira de Mattos. N. Y., Scribner, 1906. [S.] c. 4+148 p. nar. S. bds., $1.

A short allegorical story describing man's subjugation of the animal creation. Two-Legs and his wife appear among the animals, causing amazement and consternation though they seem harmless. At first the pair live on fruit and nuts; then they kill fish for food and finally sheep. The various methods by which Two-Legs domesticates certain animals, provides food and clothing for his family, learns to make a home, and at length proves himself lord of the earth are naively narrated. By the author of "My little boy."

Franklin, B: Benjamin Franklin; his life, written by himself; condensed for school use, with notes and a continuation of his life, by D: H: Montgomery; with an introd. by W: Peterfield Trent. Bost., Ginn, [1906.] c. '88, '06. 17+311 p. front. por. S. (Standard English classics.) cl., 40 c.

Frye, Alexis Everett. First steps in geography. Bost., Ginn, [1906.] c. 8+170+8 p. front. il. maps, O. cl., 65 c.

Author is the first Superintendent of Schools in Cuba. The text of "First steps in geography" is written in clear and simple language, suited to pupils who have been in school about three years. The first pages treat of the land, water and air in a series of lessons on home geography. Then follows a series of simple lessons on the earth as a whole and lessons on the home continent and on foreign countries.

Games book (The) for boys and girls: a volume of old and new pastimes; il. by E. Stuart Hardy and Edith Cubitt. N. Y., Dutton, 1906. 415 p. 8°, cl., $2.50.

Goszner, Johannes Evangelist. John Goszner's treasury; containing Bible meditations for each day in the year, with devotional songs to the furtherance of family prayer and piety. Minneapolis, Minn., Augsburg Publishing House, 1906. c. 400 p. 12°, cl., 75 c.

Gould, Alfred H.; M.D. The technic of operations upon the intestines and stomach. Phil., W. B. Saunders & Co., 1906. il. 8°, hf. mor., $5 net.

Greene, Mrs. Sarah Pratt McLean. Power Lot. N. Y., Baker & Taylor Co., [1906.] c. 2-396 p. front. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The author of "Cape Cod folks" places this story in a tiny Nova Scotia hamlet called "Power Lot, God Help Us," because it was so hard to get there. And thither comes Robert Hilton, a New York man of large means given to drink, sent away by his physician to be clear of temptation. The free, simple life of the place, hard work and, above all, the influence of Mary Stingaree, a girl of education and lovely character, called back from her teaching by the claims of a wretched family—all these work a regeneration in the man. The story is told by Jim Turbine, a Bay of Fundy sailor, and introduces quaint and amusing island characters.

Hamilton, Burritt, comp. Practical law: a treatise on business law especially compiled for schools that teach accounting, business practice, office methods and kindred subjects. Battle Creek, Mich., Ellis Publishing Co., 1906. c. 15+222 p. 8°, cl., 65 c.

Harben, Will Nathaniel. Ann Boyd: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1906. [S.] c. 4+390 p. col. front. D. cl., $1.50.

Ann Boyd's whole life has been embittered by the persecution of her former rival, Jane Hemingway. Her husband and child deserted her; neighbors and friends, believing the stories about her, gave her the cold shoulder. But for many years she has kept on her solitary way, improving her farm in the up-country of Georgia, accumulating money, a just but pitiless woman to all who have reviled her. Yet when the opportunity comes to have revenge on her enemy her better self asserts itself in saving her enemy's daughter from a terrible mistake and helping her to happiness. And at last Ann comes into her own and is reinstated in public respect.

Hering, H: A. The burglars' club: a romance in twelve chronicles; with 16 il. by F. H. Townsend. N. Y., B. W. Dodge & Co., 1906. c. '05. 6+280 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The Burglars' Club was started by men who had pretty well exhausted the pleasures of life. They were all Englishmen who had been in the army or navy, were all sportsmen and all bachelors, and were all looking for fresh excitement. The entrance fee to the Club was a town burglary, the subject to be set by the president, and every other year each member had to keep up his subscription by some daring attempt in the country. The adventures of the members are the subjects of the twelve chronicles, all full of romance and excitement.

Houghton, Mrs. Louise Seymour. The Russian grandmother's wonder tales; il. by W. T. Benda. N. Y., Scribner, 1906. [S.] c. 17+348 p. front. D. cl., $1.50.

The stories which the Russian grandmother tells will be found, with many others, in a German collection of "Tales and legends of South Slavonia," put forth in Vienna some twenty years ago by Dr. Friedrich Kraus, an ardent student of folk-lore. Mrs. Houghton has Englished and adapted for juvenile readers, in a charming way of her own, this mine of folk-lore and fairy tales, sketching in a slight background of peasant village life as it still exists in some parts of Southern Russia.

- Johnson, General Adam R. The Partisan Rangers: a true history of General Adam R. Johnson and his command. Austin, Tex., H. P. N. Gammel, 1906. c. 500 p. 8°, cl., $1.50.
Deals with Indian warfare on the frontier of Texas prior to the Civil War; also gives account of the Indian depredations immediately after that war, with the history of Morgan's Ohio raid and a muster role of the Partisan Rangers.
- Johnson, Owen. Max Fargus. N. Y., Baker & Taylor Co., [1906. S.] c. 3-315 p. front. il. D. cl., †$1.50.
Story of the seamy side of New York life during the '70's, centering in a plot made by an unprincipled lawyer to gain possession by means of blackmail and deceit of the fortune of Max Fargus, proprietor of many oyster houses. A young woman, not wholly bad, becomes a weapon in this lawyer's hands. In the end wickedness reacts on the wrongdoers in a most satisfying way and Max Fargus's revenge is complete.
- Johnston, J. T. Morris. A man with a purpose; il. by Harry Lewis Bailey. Chic., R. R. Donnelley & Sons Co., 1906. c. 9-176 p. front. il. pors. facsim., 8°, cl., $1.50.
To give the story and lesson of the life of Alanson David Brown is the purpose of this volume.
- Jones, Chester Lloyd. The consular service of the United States, its history and activities. Phil., pub. for the University [of Pennsylvania by John C. Winston Co.,] 1906. 9-126 p. Q. (Publications of the University of Pennsylvania, Ser. in political economy and public law.) cl., $1.50; bds., $1.25.
Sketches the history of the consular service of the United States and points out especially the development of its relations to trade. It indicates the service actually rendered at the present time, the limits of the aid which consuls can lend to commerce and the defects of our present consular organization. A study of the systems in use in the chief European commercial nations is included to show what has been accomplished there to make the consuls a commercial body and the means adopted in furthering that purpose.

- Kramer, Harold Morton. Hearts and the cross; il. by Harold Matthews Brett. Bost., Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co., [1906.] c. 6-414 p. front. il. D. cl., †$1.50.
The story of an educated man and one of vigorous personality, who suffers imprisonment for a crime he has not committed, but finally secures justice and pardon. He becomes a wanderer under a false name, winning the better element of a somewhat rough community by his eloquence as the preacher in a neglected parish, meanwhile working in the fields for his support. His fearless honesty and sympathy provoke deadly hatred, augmented by the jealousy of
- the lover of the heroine, whose interest in the mysterious preacher, so clearly above his present station, adds fuel to the flame. The mystery is at last cleared up and all is well.

Authors are, respectively, heads of the departments of biology in the De Witt Clinton High School and in the Ethical Culture School, New York City. An inductive method has been employed with the definition of a group following as the logical outcome of study of group characters. A large portion of the book is devoted to the insects and vertebrates, because young students are more familiar with these groups and so take greater interest in them. The less known, however, are treated with care, the different features of morphology, physiology and relation to environment being maintained in good measure throughout.

Blackmail and revenge are the keynotes of this story of modern Chicago, involving two families of business and social prominence. The secret of Jane Cable's parentage is known only to her supposed mother and to the lawyer and his clerk who arranged her adoption. She is in love with this wretched lawyer's only son, and the working out of the plot takes two of the characters to the Philippines as soldier and nurse. Eventually the mystery is cleared up and punishment and reward are fittingly meted out.

Annabel Williams is the "odd one" in a group of merry children whose doings enliven an otherwise serious narrative. She is the "chum" and good influence in the life of Will Carden, the young hero, the story leaving them grown up and loving each other. The Carden family had been defrauded by a so-called friend and Will had to work to keep the home together. The father had made a great invention in the manufacture of steel and trusted the papers to this false friend, who represents Carden as dead and reaps the benefit of the invention, the family suffering for ten years before the truth comes to light.

Story of Wyoming and Montana during the Indian uprisings of the '70's, the action revolving around a gambler with a mysterious past, a man of education, iron will and reckless courage. He rescues from an Indian massacre an unknown young girl, for whose future he holds himself responsible and with whom and her lover, an army officer, he seems strangely linked. There is much fighting, an attempted lynching and, as a culmination, the battle of the Little Big Horn, when General Custer and his command were wiped out. But before that, mysteries are cleared away and Bob Hampton comes into his own. By the author of "A sword of the old frontier," "When wilderness was king," etc.

Syrett, Netta. The day's journey. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 4+309 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A study of a man and woman, both talented, who after five years of married life find they have drifted apart. The man thinks he has found his intellectual affinity in a soulful young woman who has dabbled in all the fads of the day. His wife, cruelly hurt, gathers her strength to work out a new plan of life for herself. Her book is a success, while her husband's work shows steady deterioration. Their final readjustment to each other is only reached after humiliation and disillusionment on both sides. Scenes are mostly laid in London.

T'ai-shang kan-ying p'ien. Chic., Open Court Publishing Co., 1906. c. 3+139 p. front. il. D. bds., *75 c. net.

This Chinese classic "will probably have to be assigned the first place of all publications on the globe. Its editions exceed even those of the Bible and Shakespeare." It is a work of Taoist piety and ethics, "the main idea of the title being expressed in the words Kan, response, and Ying, retribution, which means that in the spiritual realm of heaven there is a response to our sentiments, finding expression in 'a retribution' of our deeds." (Introduction.) T'ai-shang is a current name for Lao Tze, the great Chinese philosopher, born in 604 a.c. founder of Taoism; hence the work resolves itself into an exposition of his doctrines, written by various hands, some portions dating from the 6th century a.c., though in its present shape it may not have existed before the 15th or 16th century.

A romance of the old heroic period, written by some unknown poet of Austria or Bavaria in the thirteenth century. Some of the characters of "Gudrun" are found in the "Nibelungen lied;" its scenes are principally laid along the shores of the North Sea and in Normandy.

Upton, G. Putnam, tr. The Nibelungs; tr. from the German of Ferdinand Schmidt. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1906. c. 2-174 p. front. il. sq. S. (Life stories for young people.) cl., *60 c. net.

The Nibelungen lied, one of the world's greatest epics, made its appearance in the twelfth or thirteenth century, in South Germany. Its authorship is unknown. It is a collection of ballads skilfully united so as to form a connected story. Its hero is Siegfried, who possessed the Nibelung hoard; he was treacherously slain by Hagen and the hoard sunk in the Rhine. Wagner used many of these characters and incidents from the German epic in his "Ring der Nibelungen," his material being taken chiefly from the old Norse version.

By the author of "John Charity" and "Brothers." A group of English and American artists in Pont-Aven, a Breton village, a Breton priest and Téphany Lane, whose father, an English painter of fishermen, had lost his life in a storm off the coast ten years previously, are the people who make the story. Téphany Lane, after a successful career as an opera singer, returns for a rest to her childhood's home hoping to renew her friendship with Michael Ossory, a great painter and friend of her father. A mystery shadows Michael's life which it takes time to elucidate, involving explanations of Breton customs and superstitions and the waywardness of the artistic temperament.

tr. by Clara Bell. N. Y., Macmillan, 1906. c. 4+381 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A picture of harem life in Constantinople, depicting the wretchedness and loneliness of the girls forced to marry men chosen by their families. The three, whose story is here given, belong to noble families, are highly cultured and filled with an intense disgust for the conditions of Oriental women. A Frenchman, first known to them through his books, later becomes involved in their lives. Fuller realization of what life is and what it might be drives one of them to a tragic fate.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 22, 1906.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE A. P. A.'S ATTITUDE TOWARD UNDERSELLING.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION was called upon last week to take action against the stores in New York City, Boston and Chicago controlled by the Henry Siegel Company. This action was made necessary because of the cut in the prices of a number of recent copyright novels, which for several days last week were offered in these stores at 98 cents and less. The cut was met only by Macy's, and, after a few days' skirmishing by both houses, was abandoned. Some little excitement was created among the out-of-town retail trade because at its first meeting to consider the matter, held on the 12th inst., action was deferred by the American Publishers' Association, and several groundless rumors concerning the actual status of the Association, became current. As a matter of fact, action was delayed, in the first instance, that the Association might have the benefit of the advice of its counsel, who did not arrive from Europe until the end of the week, and therefore no official action was taken until the 17th, when the Board of Directors at a meeting that was largely representative, decided to take action against the stores in New York and Boston, leaving the Chicago store, in view of possible legal complications, to be dealt with at the discretion of the individual publishers.

There is absolutely no ground for the rumor that abandonment of the reform movement has ever been considered by the American Publishers' Association; on the contrary, the Association is determined to carry on the movement by every legal measure within its reach. That it may be necessary in the future, as it has been necessary in the past, to modify its plan in certain particulars is not unlikely; but these changes will always be in the direction of strengthening the position of the American Publishers' Association rather than in its ultimate dissolution.

The prompt and definite action of the Association in dealing with this matter has called forth from the Booksellers of New York unstinted and unqualified praise, which, no doubt, is but the unexpressed sentiment of the entire retail booktrade. The American Publishers' Association certainly merits the appreciation and support in the fullest measure from all interested in "building up the booktrade on a solid foundation for all time."

IN response to our request for information as to omissions or errors discovered in the "Educational List" of 1906, we have received a few corrigenda noted elsewhere. As the errors are scarcely sufficient to justify an errata slip, we suggest that users of the "Educational List" note these corrections on their copies, and though there are doubtless others which have not yet been discovered or called to our notice, we feel that we may safely congratulate the users of the catalogue on the general correctness of the list in its revised shape.

BOOK ADVERTISING.

THE subject of book advertising is one of perennial interest to publishers. Oddly enough, while perhaps no other element in the publishing business plays so important a part in the yearly balance-sheet, it is a subject regarding which no fixed or exact laws seem as yet to have been formulated. Every publisher has his own ideas about advertising, and often these ideas undergo radical changes from year to year. It is to be regretted that most of the discussions of book advertising which appear in print from time to time are contributed either by writers outside the trade, who view the subject in its surface aspects only; or by young and inexperienced men who, while in the trade, have still but a limited knowledge of its manifold "ins and outs." Occasionally we are given the results of some veteran publisher's ripened experience—as, for example, Henry Holt's acute and well-founded remarks on the subject, in his Atlantic article on "The Commercialization of Literature," and J. Bertram Lippincott's recent article on "Book Publishing;" but in the main the theorists and the inexperienced, who naturally write and talk most glibly, gain the widest audience. It is as one who has had for years to give the subject of book advertising constant and prayerful consideration, and who has been compelled to study it in the light of practical results, that I venture to contribute some remarks to the discussion, which I hope may lead to an expression of the views of others who have to give thought to this vital subject.

The first point I would set down, and one that clears away at once a large amount of needless confusion, is that there is and can be no hard-and-fast rule about either methods or mediums. In the discussions that I have seen, there has been a wide divergence of opinion—one side urging the value of the so-called literary journals, the other insisting on the superior advantages of newspaper advertising. Both seem to me right, in urging the claims of its kind of mediums; but both are wrong, if they hereby overlook or deny the claims of the other kind. The shrewdest book advertisers, in my opinion, are those who use one class of mediums for one class of books and another for another class—precisely as any manufacturer does. Few of the publishing houses, at least of the important ones, confine themselves to one class of publications; it follows that they cannot sell their books by advertising them exclusively in one kind of medium. A publisher must choose the mediums he will advertise in as he chooses the books he will publish; he brings out a book with a certain constituency in mind, and the best advertising medium for that book is undoubtedly the one that will best help him to reach that constituency. For such advertising as this, the item of circulation alone counts for little—hardly at all. A newspaper of almost unlimited circulation—a hundred thousand or a million, it would make little difference which—might be less valuable, bring him smaller sales, than a thousand or even a hundred copies of a journal going to just the people he wants to reach and must reach if he sells his book.

Some of the discussions I have lately read have urged that in order to sell books one must get at the people who buy books, and get at them in the greatest numbers—which is true; and that the best way to do this is to advertise in daily newspapers—which is not necessarily true. That is, it is not true as a general rule. It is not true of all books; it might be true of some books, and quite untrue of others. I doubt if, on close analysis, it would be found to be true of even a majority of the books published. The class of which it would be most nearly true is obviously fiction. But fiction, as every publisher knows, does not constitute a majority of the books published. And fiction—even the better class of it—is sold largely to the better class of people, the class who read the literary journals. A highly-seasoned novel, of slight literary merit or none, can be exploited only in the daily press and popular mediums; but the publisher of a new novel by any author of literary standing—Mr. Howells or Mrs. Wharton, or Mrs. Ward, all of whose books sell well and in large numbers—would hardly think of trying to get it before the public without advertising it in the literary journals.

It is hardly conceivable that for such a book he would limit his advertising to the daily press; and how much less for other classes of books—the "miscellaneous books" which, more than novels, are the main dependence of the best houses.

A considerable proportion of books are, by their very character, limited in interest to what may be called the literary classes, except for whom they would never have been published; and to be sold they must be advertised in those journals that reach the classes for whom they are intended. Mr. Lippincott, in the article above referred to, says, "Books are advertised in a systematic manner in those mediums which are supposed to be read most widely by people interested in books." These classes of bookbuyers—small in proportion to total population but large in importance to the publisher, including as it does librarians, collectors, and cultivated readers throughout the country—are accustomed to get their information about books from literary journals and not from daily papers. In the lists of "Best Books" issued regularly by the New York State Library, with its recommendation to public libraries, the authorities quoted are almost invariably the literary reviews—The Dial, The Nation, The Athenæum, The Academy—and never the newspapers.

The truth probably is, that average readers of average daily papers do not read books at all, and are a decidedly "negligible quantity" from the standpoint of the practical book advertiser. It is significant that those daily papers that make the strongest bid for book advertising make all possible effort to give their papers a literary tone—to take on, with more or less pretension, something of the character of the distinctive literary journals which they thus emulate as advertising mediums for books; and those that succeed best in this are those that get the most book advertising—and rightly so, for the more "literary" they make their papers the more they may be supposed to interest the literary classes who buy books. Many such papers are good mediums, valuable mediums; they can do much for book publishers in their way, but they cannot render the same service that the established literary journals render in their way. In all civilized countries, book publishing and literary journals flourish together. In England, where book publishing is conducted on a larger and more stable basis than in this country, it is my impression that the purely literary journals obtain about three-fourths of all the current book advertising. Indeed, I doubt if an English publisher could conceive of selling a new book without advertising it in The Athenæum—the foremost literary journal of the country, corresponding to The Dial on this side; he might, and doubtless would, advertise his books elsewhere, but first and always in The Athenæum.

Most of those who take sides in the "literary journal vs. newspaper" controversy seem to lose sight of the fact that these two classes of mediums do not comprise the entire advertising outlet for the publisher. There are established publications such as THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY that are recognized by the trade as indispensable. It is not at all a question with any publisher as to whether he should confine his advertising to this class of medium or place it in the newspapers. He uses both, probably; but first of all THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, because that journal reaches a class that he must reach, and cannot reach as effectively in any other way. And it is much the same with this so-called question of literary journal or newspaper—which shall we use? Unhappily, the problem of book advertising cannot be reduced to such simple proportions. To sell my books I must bring them first of all to the attention of the trade, through the pages of such trade publications as THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; then, as they are books, and not bicycles or breakfast foods, I bring them to the attention of the habitual bookbuying class that is reached by the literary journal; and, finally, for the books that are popular in character—which practically means "star" fiction—I reach out for my constituency through the best class of newspapers.

A PUBLISHER.

A BOOKSELLER CANDIDATE FOR THE PENNSYLVANIA GOVERNORSHIP.

THE HON. EDWIN SYDNEY STUART, ex-Mayor of Philadelphia, etc., but who is familiarly known to the trade and bookbuyers throughout the world as "Leary's," has been nominated for Governor of Pennsylvania by the leaders of the Republican organization of the Keystone State.

The head of "Leary's Old Book Store," on Ninth Street below Market, the son of a Scotch father and an Irish mother, born in Philadelphia on December 23, 1853, often delights in telling of his first visit to Leary's in 1867, which proved to be one of the turning points of his career. We quote the story from the New York Tribune, as printed in its issue for September 16:

It was in response to an advertisement. It was necessary for Stuart to contribute to the meagre resources of the family. The day he set out to secure employment he bought a morning newspaper. Two lines under the heading "Boy Wanted" caught his eye and he hastened to Leary's Old Book Store to offer his services. W. A. Leary, the proprietor, was in.

"So you want a job, do you?" said the old bookseller.

"That's what I'm after," responded the boy.

"Well, I've just engaged a boy."

"All right, sir, I'll have to hunt a job somewhere else," replied Stuart with an engaging decisiveness.

The lad started out of the dusky store, his eyes fastened again on the "Help Wanted" column. As he reached the entrance a voice from within cried: "Hold on! Maybe that other boy won't suit. I think I'll try you. I pay $2 a week."

"Then let the first boy have the job," replied the youth, turning in the doorway to look back at the old bookman. "I can't work for $2 a week."

He turned again to go out of the door.

"How much will you take?" called out the voice again.

"Three dollars," said young Stuart.

"All right, you're hired," said Leary. "If you want, you can run home and tell your mother."

The boy started for home, but had not gone far before he began to feel uneasy about his position. "What if another should come along and get a trial by the eccentric old bookseller?" he thought. He decided to return and forestall any one else by beginning work immediately, leaving the announcement of his success to his mother until evening. Entering the store, with its shelves of brown-backed old books, he announced that he was ready to go to work.

He swept the store, dusted books and kept his eyes and ears open. His manners were pleasing, and it was not long before he was waiting on customers. He rapidly became acquainted with the details of the business, and in the course of a few years became the buyer, attending book sales in New York and other cities. The visitors to the store, such as Senator Charles Sumner and Governor Penny-packer, then a lawyer, with an office just around the corner, began to look to young Stuart instead of to the old bookseller when they wanted assistance in picking out books. The son of Mr. Leary was taken ill and died. Soon afterward the elder Leary sold out the business to his former errand boy then only twenty-three years old. This was in 1876. Out of it Mr. Stuart has drawn a comfortable fortune. He still maintains his close contact with the affairs of the dingy looking old store, with its signs and familiar picture of a bewigged bookworm of a century ago standing on a stepladder in his library, although his brother, William H., is now associated with him.

Besides being an ex-Mayor of Philadelphia, Mr. Stuart has been twice a presidential elector, the first time casting his vote for James G. Blaine and the second, when he was president of the Electoral College, for McKinley and Roosevelt. He is also the president of the Union League Club, of Philadelphia.

POST, THE NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF DOCUMENTS.

WILLIAM L. POST, for several months past Acting Superintendent of Documents at the Government Printing Office, Washington, was appointed by Public Printer Stillings, on August 14, Superintendent of Documents, succeeding L. C. Ferrell, resigned. Mr. Post's promotion was not unexpected, and has been fully earned by his long and efficient service in the Office of Documents. He has been connected with that office since its establishment in 1892, when he was assigned to it as file clerk. Later he was transferred to the library, where he was engaged in classification and bibliographic work, and became identified with some of the best indexing and cataloging work done by the office. The admirable index to the publications of the Agricultural Department, 1862-1892, published in 1904, was prepared by Mr. Post, and the ingenious classification and arrangement there adopted were devised by him.

A PUBLISHER'S OBJECTION TO REVISED SPELLING.

WE reprint from the New York Times Saturday Review of Books the following very pertinent letter on the complications that might arise if simplified spelling were adopted in printing books, editions of which are also intended for export trade:

"Whatever may be the effect of the President's order in regard to simplified spelling on the documentary history of the country or on the spelling of the daily and weekly press, I am of the opinion that for the book publishers of the literature of the country to adopt the President's new form of spelling would be to jeopardize and even to annihilate that export trade in American literature which we, in common with all of the larger publishers, have been fostering with so much care for a number of years.

"I pointed out some years ago in my pamphlet on 'The Duty on Books' that our exports of books were even then greater than our imports of them from Great Britain, and since then this trade has grown to very considerable proportions.

"To go from the general to the particular, I may point out that my company has within the past few weeks shipped upward of thirty thousand volumes by American authors to foreign countries, included among these being India, South Africa, Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Japan.

"Great Britain to-day, in the best class of books, objects to our usual omission of the 'u' in such words as 'honor,' and to follow the President's list of words in simplified spelling would, in my opinion, kill this export trade, which I and all other publishers are so desirous of building up.

"The time will come when the United States will take the lead in literature, as it is bound to do in ordinary matters of commerce, given wise administration of the laws; and to aid in giving a setback to this movement, such as the President's order must give to it if it is carried out, is a step in the wrong direction.

"I notice several eminent publishers among the advocates of the simplified spelling as ordered by the President, but I have yet to learn that any of these gentlemen who allow their names to be printed as advocates of the movement use it in their printed books."

GEORGE P. BRETT,
President of The Macmillan Company.

SWEDEN OPPOSES COPYRIGHT TREATY.

THE invitation tendered by the United States to Sweden to conclude a copyright treaty, according to cable reports, is meeting with heated opposition. The government has referred the American proposals to the Publicist Club, of Stockholm, and a lively debate on the subject, on the 15th inst., showed that a majority of the members were against the treaty. The sale of books to the United States is a valuable source of income to Swedish publishers, and it was contended that the treaty would kill this business.

AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY'S BRANCHES.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY has opened branches in Bridgeport, Ct., in Indianapolis and in Los Angeles. The Bridgeport branch is located at 237 Middle Street, and is managed by W. W. Birch; the Indianapolis branch is located at 20 South Capital Avenue, and is managed by Homer Greer, and the Los Angeles branch is managed by W. B. Van Houten, who was formerly connected with the Union News Company, in New York.

The New England News Company in Boston, Mass., has secured larger and more convenient quarters in the Griffith Building, and will be removed some time this fall.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION on the 17th inst. took action against the Henry Siegel Company's stores in New York and Boston, leaving action against the Chicago stores to the discretion of its several members.

The suit of Owen Mines against the Association has been abandoned and Mr. Mines has been reinstated.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

THE regular monthly dinner of The Booksellers' League will be given at the Aldine Association on the evening of October 10.

THE BOOKSELLERS OF NEW YORK.

A REGULAR meeting of the Booksellers of New York was held on the evening of September 18 at Brentano's, Union Square, New York City. In the absence of the president, Simon Brentano, F. E. Grant presided, and Charles E. Butler acted as secretary in the absence of Mr. Gorham. There were present F. E. Grant, Charles S. Pratt, A. Mackel, of Ammon & Mackel; Henry Malkan, Charles A. Burkhardt, of E. P. Dutton & Co.; F. D. Lacy, of G. P. Putnam's Sons; R. E. Sherwood, Arthur Brentano, Charles E. Butler and A. Gugenheim, of Brentano's, and the representatives of other houses.

Considerable interest was displayed by the members present in topics of vital interest and much discussion took place. The question uppermost in the minds of the members during the evening was the course taken this week by the A. P. A. to suppress underselling, the feeling prevailing that the American Publishers' Association deserved the heartiest support of the entire retail booktrade. The following resolution was read and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The members of the American Publishers' Association, since that organization was called into life, have to the very utmost and so far as lay in their power combined to protect the retail booktrade in the pursuit of their calling unhampered by unfair price cutting, and,

WHEREAS, The members of the American Publishers' Association have considered no sacrifice of either time or money too great to restore self-respect to the booktrade, to elevate it to a more dignified position than it occupied before the movement for reform was begun and to insure to all concerned an adequate remuneration for their exacting duties, and

WHEREAS, Only within a few days the American Publishers' Association, as a measure of protection to the retail booktrade in this and other large cities, again presented a united front to those who make it a practice to undersell articles having a known fixed price as "bait" to attract purchasers to their other goods, the prices of which are not known to the public; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Booksellers of New York, assembled in special meeting this 18th day of September, 1906, that the retail booktrade of New York City express their hearty appreciation of the action of the American Publishers' Association and of all their efforts to protect and build up the booktrade on a solid foundation for all time, and be it further

Resolved, That the Booksellers of New York pledge themselves to hold up the hands of the publishers in their efforts to restore the booktrade and call upon their colleagues throughout the country to join them in a hearty and unselfish support of the efforts made on their behalf.

The evening generally was taken up by informal talk and discussion of conditions and ways and means to improve them.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ARTHUR DUDLEY VINTON, author of "The Pomfret Mystery," "The Unpardonable Sin" and "Looking Further Backward," died in Brooklyn, N. Y., September 13. Mr. Vinton was born in Brooklyn, December 23, 1852, and after graduating from the Columbia Law School devoted himself to the practice of law. He was also for a time managing editor of the North American Review.

DANIEL MCINTYRE HENDERSON, who for a number of years kept the University Bookstore, at Howard and Madison Streets, in Baltimore, Md., and was a recognized poet and scholar, died on September 15 at the Maryland General Hospital of typhoid fever. He had been ailing all the summer, but remained at his book store until two weeks ago, when he took to his bed. He grew worse rapidly, and last Thursday was removed from his home, 1317 Linden Avenue, to the hospital. Mr. Henderson was a Scotchman, and was born in Glasgow July 12, 1851. He was educated in that city, and went to Baltimore in 1873, obtaining employment in a bookstore. In 1891 he went into the book business on his own account. The most pronounced characteristic of Mr. Henderson was his modesty. Had he been more inclined to push himself, he would probably have turned his writings to greater profit. In fact, it was a long time before people in his own city recognized his literary ability, and many of his poems had their first reading before the members of the St. Andrew's Society, of which he had been a member for years and of which he was president at the time of his death. Among his admirers were Robert Louis Stevenson, Edmund Clarence Stedman, James Russell Lowell and James Whitcomb Riley. During a visit to Baltimore upon one occasion Mr. Riley went into Mr. Henderson's store, and in looking over the books on the shelves picked up a copy of Scottish poems with the name "D. M. Henderson" on the flyleaf. He became interested in the verse and finally asked "Who is this man Henderson?" The proprietor of the bookstore admitted with a blush that he was the man, and from that day on James Whitcomb Riley was one of his greatest friends and admirers. Mr. Henderson's first work, "Poems—Scottish and American," was published in 1888. He continued to write verse and magazine articles, and in 1905 he issued "A Bit Bookie of Verse." Many of his poems were in the Scotch dialect and breathed of the Scotch life and traditions. Few men in Baltimore will be more missed by bookish people than Mr. Henderson. He was a great student and liked to stay around his store, where he was often consulted by persons looking for something to read.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

J. T. TROWBRIDGE on the 18th inst. celebrated his seventy-ninth birthday at his home in Arlington, Mass. Mr. Trowbridge is in the best of health.

HENRY GEORGE, JR., is writing a novel to be entitled "The Romance of John Bainbridge," describing the experiences of a young lawyer of high ideals, who enters politics for the purpose of fighting the private ownership of privileges in the public highways. The story is said to be founded upon some of the striking and dramatic episodes in the life of his father, the late Henry George.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The North American Review, it appears, was not started and published for sixty years as a quarterly, as noted by us in our issue for September 15. As a matter of fact, the Review began in 1815 as a bi-monthly, and, until the end of 1818, published six numbers a year.

The Chautauquan Weekly has been started to present each week views of the institution, of its home town, Chautauqua, N. Y., and of its home territory, Chautauqua Lake, all the year round. The first issue is dated August 30. With the September issue

The Chautauquan Magazine appears in a new form, the reading page having been reduced in size so that it is practically that of the C. L. S. C. books. With this issue The Chautauquan also begins its English year.

Ridgway's, the new "militant weekly for God and Country," to be published by E. J. Ridgway, the publisher of Everybody's Magazine, simultaneously in fourteen cities from New York to San Francisco, beginning October 6, was launched at a dinner given on the evening of the 17th inst. in the college dining room of the Hotel Astor. The editor, advertising manager and circulation manager for each of the cities, who were in New York City this week for a two days' conference with Mr. Ridgway, and members of the staff of Everybody's Magazine were present. Lindsay Denison was toastmaster. Talks were made by Mr. Ridgway, C. M. Lincoln, the new managing editor of the weekly; Gelett Burgess, who is to be editor of the comic section; George Frothingham, advertising manager; Henry C. Rowland and others. The out-of-town guests were from Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Denver, San Francisco, Seattle, New Orleans, Washington and Atlanta.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish about November 15 "American Book-Prices Current," recording the auction sales from September 1, 1905, to September 1, 1906, compiled from the auctioneers' catalogues by Luther S. Livingston. The edition as usual is printed from type and is limited. The price of copies remaining unsold on February 1, 1907, will be advanced to $7.50 special net.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

UPTON SINCLAIR's Packingtown novel, "The Jungle," has just passed the hundred thousand mark.

THE C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY have in preparation a strong story of heredity, entitled "This Was a Man!" by Hattie Horner Louthan, who bases her story on the belief that "blood will tell."

EVERITT & FRANCIS COMPANY, No. 9 East Twenty-second Street, New York City, will publish on October 1 an exhaustive work on "The Art of the Old English Potter," by L. M. Solon, with illustrations by the author.

McLOUGHLIN BROTHERS have brought out this month in the Young Folks' Colonial Library "The Story of Anthony Wayne (Mad Anthony), the hero of Stony Point," by Percy K. Fitzhugh, with illustrations by Noble Ives.

BRENTANO's will publish shortly a volume entitled "Some Beauties of the Seventeenth Century," by Allan Fea, a series of memoirs of some of the memorable women of that period, illustrated with a number of hitherto unpublished portraits by Lely, Kneller, Cooper and other prominent seventeenth century artists.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have published this week Rosa N. Carey's annual story for girls, "No Friend Like a Sister." They have also just issued an important volume by John J. Black, M.D., entitled "Eating to Live," which is described as a "book for everybody," with special advice to the gouty, the rheumatic and the diabetic.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. are adding several important titles to their popular Thin Paper Classics—a series which comprises some of the largest books in the most compact compass. Among the prose titles will be Boswell's Johnson, Carlyle's French Revolution and Don Quixote. Among the poets will be Burns, Keats, Scott and Shelley in complete editions.

THE DENTAL PUB. Co., 44 Court Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., has published a useful book on "The Teeth and Their Care," by Dr. Thaddeus P. Hyatt, lecturer in the public schools of New York City, which is so good that it has also met with a very cordial reception from the dental profession. The information is based on long experience and is put in such simple language that even a child can understand it.

JOHN MURPHY COMPANY, Baltimore, Md., have just published a collection of verses entitled "Youthful Fancies," by Annie Wilson McCoy, one of Maryland's sweet singers. As the Baltimore Sun, certainly a discriminating critic, says, Miss McCoy's volume, like Henderson's "A Bit Bookie of Verses," "will live for its purity and sweetness, its touching sentiments and its graceful expression." The volume is illustrated and tastefully gotten up.

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. have in press a juvenile entitled "Our Army for Our Boys," by Tudor Jenks, a history of the United States army from its earliest beginnings, explaining its purposes, its results and its development, in a manner adapted to the instruction and entertainment of the young. There will be a large number of illustrations, many of them printed in colors, by H. O. Ogden, the artist who painted the series of pictures of the American army for the official records of the War Department.

FORBES & COMPANY, Chicago, announce that the publication of "The Making of a Merchant," by Harlow N. Higinbotham, has been delayed until October 10. The advance interest in the book demands a large first edition. This book, by a partner of the late Marshall Field, a successful merchant and financier, deals with business methods from the point of view of a practical man of business and sets forth the principles which have made a great firm world famous. Every man, whether in business for himself or others, will find the practical suggestions most helpful.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish on the 25th inst. "George Herbert and His Times," by A. G. Hyde, which is based upon all available sources of information concerning the life of this fine old seventeenth-century churchman and poet, and will likely make any future "life" a work of supererogation; also, "Mary Barton," the first volume of what is certain to be the definitive edition of the works of Mrs. Gaskell, edited, as the succeeding volumes will be, by Dr. Adolphus W. Ward, Master of Peterhouse, Cambridge, who has had valuable assistance from Mrs. Gaskell's two daughters.

JAMES POTT & Co. will publish shortly "The Pageant of London," by Richard Davey, with forty original colored illustrations by John Fulleylove; "Algiers," by M. Elizabeth Crouse; "The Cathedrals of England and Wales," by T. Francis Bumpus, in three volumes; "The Cathedrals and Churches of the Rhine and North Germany," also by Mr. Bumpus; "India," by Pierre Loti; "Some Literary Eccentrics," by John Fyvie, author of "Women of Wit and Beauty;" "By the Waters of Carthage," by Norma Lorimer; "Fire and Sword in the Caucasus," by Luigi Villari; and a new book by Charles Battell Loomis, entitled "Cheer Up."

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY have just ready "The Cattle Baron's Daughter," by Harold Bindloss, author of "Alton of Somasco," etc., describing life in the cattle country at the time when the great tracts of land used for grazing were taken up by incoming homesteaders with the result of fierce contest. They also call attention to two new juveniles—"Indian Boys and Girls," with four full-page illustrations in colors, by Alice Mar, appropriate verses and stories by Alice Calhoun Haines and decorations and black-and-white illustrations by Edwin Willard Deming; also, "Favorite Nursery Rhymes," by Ethel Franklin Betts, with six color plates and six illustrations in black and white.

THE ARTHUR H. CLARK CO., Cleveland, O., will publish this fall, in two large volumes, a "Documentary History of Reconstruction, Political, Military, Social, Educational and Industrial," the documents having been selected and edited by Professor Walter L. Fleming; a limited edition of Morgan's "History of the Philippine Islands," in two volumes; also, Farnham's "Travels in Great Western Prairies," De Smet's "Oregon Missions," and Palmer's "Travels Over the Rockies," all edited by Dr. Reuben G. Thwaites. In "the Philippine Islands" series will appear volumes 42, 43, 44 and 45, edited by Blair and Robertson, and the series of "Early Western Travels, 1748-1846," will be completed by an "Analytical Index," forming volume 31.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD Co. have just ready Margaret Sidney's long-delayed new book, "Two Little Friends in Norway," which appears in the new Two Little Friends Series. The heavy advance orders seem to indicate that this series will rival the author's famous "Pepper Books" in popularity. Lillian Gertrude Dreyfus, daughter of Boston's merchant prince, A. Shuman, who, under her maiden name, gained much praise for her first volume of poems, "From Me to You," published some years since, has completed a second volume of verse, which will be published November first, in very attractive form under the title of "In Praise of Leaves." The writings of "Petroleum V. Nasby" (David R. Locke) are still in demand, and a new edition of "Morals of Abou Ben Adhem" will shortly be brought out in response to frequent orders.

B. W. DONGE & Co., New York City, will publish next month a comic "Who's Who," entitled "Who's It in America, being a sort of biography of certain prominent persons with some facts about them, hitherto unpublished in any other dictionary of biography, edited and compiled from the latest unavailable data," by Charles Eustice Merriman, author of "Letters of a Son to His Self-Made Father," etc.; "Patricia at the Inn," a historical romance of Charles II. at the time of his flight from England to France, by J. C. Snaith, author of "Broke of Covendon," etc.; "J. P. Dunbar," by William Cadwalader Hudson, ("Barclay North.") a story of stock manipulations in Wall Street; also, "Don Miguel Lehumada, discoverer of liquid from the sun's rays," by Sue Greenleaf, a story that will interest theosophists, occultists and kindred spirits who like startling new ideas and mysticism.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish shortly "Casa Grande," a romantic and picturesque story of the squatter days on a California ranch in the early fifties, by Charles Duff Stuart, of San Francisco; also, "Affairs of State," by Burton E. Stevenson, author of "The Holladay Case," etc., which gives a decidedly vivid and lively account of some international complications at a Dutch watering place. They also announce a work entitled "Panama and the Panama Canal," which is believed to be the first complete history of the four centuries of canal agitation and attempts at creation available in any language. Dr. Willis Fletcher Johnson, the author, since De Lesseps' time has been a close student of, and frequent writer on, Isthmian Canal affairs, especially in the New York Tribune and London Times. He has been on the spot with Secretary Taft, to whom by permission the book is dedicated.

The author is already well known by his "Century of Expansion."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just ready volumes 1 and 2 of the "Harvard Psychological Studies," edited by Hugo Münsterberg, the firm having taken over the publication of these studies, comprising the experimental work of the Psychological Laboratory of the university of which Hugo Münsterberg is the director and whose assistants are Professor E. B. Holt and Dr. R. M. Yerkes. They have also just ready "Studies in Philosophy and Psychology," by former students of Charles E. Garman, which were presented to him on June 20, 1906, in commemoration of his twenty-five years of service as teacher of philosophy in Amherst College, and are now issued in book form; Part XII. of "A Hebrew and English Lexicon of the Old Testament Based on Gesenius," edited by Drs. Francis Brown, S. A. Driver and Charles A. Briggs; also, volume 5 of "The Proceedings of the International Congress of Arts and Science at St. Louis in 1904," containing biology and psychology.

DUFFIELD & Co. will bring out on the 26th inst. "Marcel Levignet," by Elwyn Barron, a story of modern Paris, with a strong detective interest. They are issuing a new edition, with considerable new material, of "The Compromises of Life," by Colonel Henry Watterston. One of the new papers is "Go South, Young Man," which since its original delivery as a speech has become a watchword with people on the Southern side of Mason and Dixon's line. They have included in their catalogue "Some Truths and Wisdom of Christian Science," by Margaret Beecher, a granddaughter of the famous preacher, Henry Ward Beecher. The same firm have annexed "The King's Lyrics" and "The Queen's Garland," selections of Elizabethan lyrics, edited by Fitz Roy Carrington. These quaint little books, originally published by R. H. Russell, will be reissued by Duffield & Company uniform with Mr. Carrington's new book, a collection of religious and devotional verse, to be called "The Pilgrim's Staff."

HARPER & BROTHERS have brought out this week "Sidelights on Astronomy," by the famous American astronomer, Professor Simon Newcomb, which has to do with the larger aspects of astronomy rather than with its minute technical details, and is designed to put before the lay reader the nature of the big problems which excite the curiosity of the ordinary man as much as that of the scientist, and, in a general way, to describe the methods now employed by astronomers in working toward their solution. They will publish at once "The Gentleman Ragman," a humorous novel by Wilbur Nesbit, author of "The Trail to Boyland." His new book, Mr. Nesbit's first venture into fiction, tells its story from a boy's standpoint, and has to do with exciting and amusing local affairs in a typical inland village. The Harpers are augmenting their Young People Series by the addition of Livingston B. Morse's "The Road to Nowhere," previously published by them only in a more expensive edition. The story is of the "Alice in Wonderland" type—humorous and full of quaint conceits. The illustrations of the original volume will be retained in the cheaper reprint.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish on the 27th inst. an important work on "Inventors at Work," by George Iles, author of "Flame, Electricity and the Camera," which was so comprehensive that it has been introduced as a text-book in many colleges and schools. His new book aims to bring all the achievements of modern invention as closely up to date as possible. It pictures great inventors in their workshops and laboratories. Bessemer tells in his own words the story of his steel process. Bell recites how he transmitted speech along a beam of light. The production of dynamite by Nobel, of the incandescent gas mantle by von Welsbach are recounted, as well as the supreme discoveries of all time—the discovery of gravitation by Newton, of magneto-electricity by Faraday. Throughout the book principles are brought into relief: first, those underlying Form as conferring strength, ensuring efficiency of tools and machines, minimizing the resistances of ships. Properties next have attention, as fitting one substance for food, another for raiment, a third for shelter. Measurement is next taken up, and its new instruments of astonishing refinement are described. Among the very important problems that are exhaustively dealt with are light production and the utilization of electricity. They will also publish on the same day "Crumbs and His Times," by Dolores Bacon, the story of Mrs. Bacon's little child, which is said to be one of the most intimate glimpses into the development of child life that has been published in some time; "Set in Authority," by Mrs. Everard Cotes, a novel of English life in India and particularly of the social set which dominates the English colonial policy in so many parts of the world; "The Arab Horse," by Spencer Borden, whose wide experience with this breed of horses enables him to speak with authority, with a preface by Professor Henry Fairchild Osborne, of the American Museum of Natural History; a work on "Farm Animals," by E. V. Wilcox; "Confessions to a Heathen Idol," by Marion Lee; "The Cynic's Word Book," by Ambrose Bierce; also, "They," by Rudyard Kipling, all of which have already been more or less fully described by us. October 2 has been fixed as the date of publication of Rudyard Kipling's new book, "Puck of Pook's Hill," and next month will also appear Anthony Fiala's "Fighting the Polar Ice," which will be elaborately illustrated. With the second edition which is shortly to be brought out the title of "Recollections and Letters of George Washington" will be changed to "Washington as a Country Gentleman."

AUCTION SALES.

SEPTEMBER 27, 28, 3 P.M.—Miscellaneous books and engravings. (683 lots.)—Merwin-Clayton.

OCTOBER 2, 3, 10 A.M. and 2 P.M.—English consignment of old and rare books, including scarce Americana, first editions, long sets of magazines, etc. (1187 lots.)—Libbie.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of new nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Bight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

DODGE PUBLISHING COMPANY

BUSINESS DOUBLED

Many booksellers have stocked up liberally with the DODGE publications this year. The steady increase in popularity, the fact that every book will bring the full list price, and the demand for unique books for the holiday trade, are a few of the reasons for the doubling of this year's sales.

If you are not one of the many book buyers making the Dodge productions the central attraction during the Fall and Holiday season send for a copy of "Good Things for Booklovers." It's well worth having.

LITTLE BOOKS ON ART. This series forms an exquisitely artistic little library of art. Daintily bound, artistically printed and copiously illustrated, they are practically indispensable to the art lover. Four new titles are now ready—"Raphael," "Greek Art," "Van Dyke," "Millelt." Cloth, $1.50.

HUMPTY DUMPTY AND OTHER SONGS.

By Joseph Moorat. A very beautiful child's book, containing many of the old favorite nursery rhymes set to music, with illustrations by Paul Woodroffe. Among the compositions are: The King of France, Hush-a-Bye Baby, Rub a Dub Dub, Humpty Dumpty, Bye Baby Bunting, There Was a Crooked Man, Three Little Mice, etc., etc. Boards, $1.25.

GREAT IDEALS. Five new titles are now ready—Duty, An Ideal, Crossing the Bar, The Psalm of Life, Day by Day. Dainty bindings in leatherette padded, 35 cents; English leather, 75 cents. (Ready.)

 HAND COLORED BOOKS. "Rimes of the Ancient Mariner," "Legend of Sleepy Hollow" and Brown-ing's "Saul." Hand colored initial letters, Japan inserts, original ornaments. Bound in full morocco, $2.00.

 TOLD TO THE LITTLE TOT. Edmund Vance Cooke's first book for children is going to make a decided hit everywhere. Bound uniform with his volume of poems about children, "Chron-icles of the Little Tot," and containing thirty-nine illustrations by Bessie Collins Pease, nine in full color. There is probably no one in the world better fitted to tell stories to children than Mr. Cooke. His recent poems about children show a wonderful insight and a thorough knowledge of child-life and character, and in a very short time Mr. Cooke's poems have obtained a wide and cordial reception. Cloth, $1.50.

Mr. Cooke's other works are "Rimes to be Read," miscellaneous poems, cloth, $1.50; "Chronicles of the Little Tot," poems about children, cloth, $1.50.

 THE BIOGRAPHY OF OUR BABY. Verses by Edmund Vance Cooke and drawings by Bessie Collins Pease. An entirely new baby record book. New colored plates by a popular artist; verses by the author of "Chronicles of the Little Tot" and paper made to be written on with pen and ink. These are a few of the points that go to make this the best book on the market at the price. Cloth, $1.50; silk, padded, $3.00; ooze leather, $4.00.

 THE DODGE LEAFLETS. A series of inspiring gems of thought by some of the greatest writers. Printed in large, clear type, with decorative initial letters in colors on a fine pasted antique bristol board. 64 titles, 5 cents each.

 WHO ENTERETH HERE. A new wall card by Max Ehrmann. Printed in red and black on Japanese wood and mounted on a heavy beveled card. 50 cents. Also made in large size at $1.00.

Also a most artistic line of imported Christmas cards, special novelties in calendar pads, Holly cards, passe-partout mottoes, postal card frames, pictures, art calendars, etc., etc. Send for catalog to-day.

SOME REVIEWS

"Dr. Hyatt's Book is an excellent condensation of facts, regarding the care of the teeth, which should be available to parents whose knowledge of oral hygiene is of such importance, to the health of children through their life. An especially useful characteristic of this little volume is the clear presentation in its pages of the relation between soundness of the teeth and the general health of the body. The Book will be of benefit in the hands of every reader."—The Daily Standard Union, Brooklyn.

"Popular yet scientific—a monograph of elementary principles and facts regarding the teeth and their intimate relation with the structure of the whole body."—The Public, Chicago.

"In this dainty cloth-bound book Dr. Hyatt has given some of the most important directions regarding the care of the teeth."—Suggestion.

This little book is attractively bound in blue linen covers, printed on good paper, and particular attention has been given to the illustrations, which are clear and easily understood.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO

PUBLISHERS : : : : :

Of course you know that in January last we moved our Book Factory to the present address. It may also interest you to know that we then acquired additional space to the extent of 15,000 square feet and that we have since added 5,000 feet more. Even this has proved insufficient and we have now secured still another 15,000 feet. These facts would seem to indicate that our work and our methods were giving general satisfaction to our patrons, and while we are not seeking additional orders for 1906 delivery, we are making all possible preparation for handling your next year's business.

ROSA N. CAREY'S LATEST NOVEL

No Friend Like a Sister

A new story by Rosa N. Carey is always welcome. She is to-day, by all odds, the most popular writer for young women and for girls who have outgrown their fondness for purely juvenile reading.

Her stories are always wholesome, and, besides their pure views of life, they are written in a highly interesting and entertaining manner.

Miss Carey's latest novel, as its title indicates, is intended for young women, and from first page to last is a spirited story, marked by that heart interest which is the strongest appeal to every reader.

FALL BOOKS Illustrated in Colors

PETER PAN

By J. M. BARRIE

With 50 illustrations in full colors by Arthur Rackham. 8vo, $5.00 net.

The full and complete story of Peter Pan, famous from "The Little White Bird" and from the play, and illustrated in the most striking and beautiful way by the distinguished water colorist, Arthur Rackham. One of the most beautiful books that has been brought out in years.

ON NEWFOUND RIVER

By THOMAS NELSON PAGE

A rewritten and enlarged version of Mr. Page's early love story, representing the perfection of his power as a story-teller. It is an inimitable picture of the life he knows so well and describes so finely. With illustrations in color by John Edwin Jackson. 12mo, $1.50.

THE QUEEN'S MUSEUM and Other Fanciful Tales

By FRANK R. STOCKTON

With 10 full-page drawings in color and other drawings in black and white by Frederic Richardson. 8vo, $2.50.

A selection of the most popular of Mr. Stockton's fanciful tales, full of whimsical humor and gay spirits, brilliantly illustrated in colors by Frederic Richardson, who is a most discerning and sympathetic interpreter of Mr. Stockton's quaint imaginings. His work makes him a worthy successor of Maxfield Parrish and Jessie Wilcox Smith, whose illustrations for Eugene Field's "Poems of Childhood" and for Stevenson's "Child's Garden of Verses," respectively, were similar in general style and appearance.

THE DAWN OF A TO-MORROW

By FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT

AMONG BAVARIAN INNS

By ROY FRAPRIE

Octavo, decorated cover, with many illustrations in duogravure, $2.00.

A record of travel and observation in that part of Europe perhaps the most Bohemian and pleasure-loving.

The various phases of life in Munich, the cross-roads of Europe, the students' resorts, its carnivals and festivals, are described in a most fascinating manner. The famous old Inns, quaint mediæval cities, and the royal castles of Ludwig the Mad, are visited, and much little known and interesting information is furnished to both the tourist and the student of history and manners.

The new volume in The Travel Lovers' Library

Uniform with by his life-long friend and collaborator.

CASTLES AND CHATEAUX OF OLD TOURAINE AND THE LOIRE COUNTRY

By FRANCIS MILTOUN

Author of "Cathedrals of France," "Cathedrals and Churches of the Rhine," etc., etc.

With cover design, eight colored plates and 50 full-page illustrations and many decorations from drawings by BLANCHE McMANUS.
Octavo, decorated cover, boxed, $3.00.

The author knows every nook and cranny of the old chateaux, and has their histories and legends by heart. His knowledge of art and architecture is sound and scholarly, and his descriptions are illuminated by Miss McManus's splendid illustrations.

A Unique Volume of Travel

A WOMAN ALONE IN THE HEART OF JAPAN

By Mrs. G.
Adams-Fisher

With frontispiece in color and 32 reproductions in duogravure from original photographs, boxed, $2.50

The author's experiences were uncommon and most varied and interesting.
She went into the remotest districts of Japan to study the habits of the people, their quaint customs and the conditions of their life, so novel to the Western civilization.

RAMBLES ON THE RIVIERA

By FRANCIS MILTOUN

Author of "Rambles in Normandy" and "Rambles in Brittany," etc.

With frontispiece in color, and 32 full-page plates, cover design and many decorations from drawings by BLANCHE McMANUS, boxed, $2.50.

In all the world there is no more delightful and romantic a region. Monte Carlo; Aix-en-Provence with its memories of King René, Les Baux and the Courts of Love; Le Chateau D'If; all have contributed to the history and romance of the world, inspiring the masterpieces of such writers as Mistral, Dumas and Daudet.

IN COLONIAL DAYS

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

With seven colored plates and 37 other illustrations from drawings by FRANK T. MERRILL. Square quarto, decorated cover, boxed, $2.50.

A most charming holiday edition of a great author's work, which includes the following little masterpieces: "Howe's Masque-rade," "Edward Randolph's Portrait," "Lady Eleanor's Mantle," and "Old Esther Dudley."

(Just Published)

RICHARD ELLIOTT, FINANCIER

By GEORGE CARLING

With seven illustrations by HENRY S. WATSON. $1.50.

An expose of trust methods as frank and complete as it is novel in its treatment.
The author's weapon is truth; its point sharpest satire, and its broad edge deep-cutting irony. The reader who is satiated with the cry of the amateur muck-raker and bored by the solemn arraignments of the serious minded, will appreciate Mr. Carling's well-directed ridicule, and the brilliancy of his thrusts at the hypocrisy of monopoly.

Holiday Editions of the first two volumes a splendid Christmas sale is assured
"The Giant Scissors."

The Leading Juvenile of the Year

Have you placed your first order for the new volume in Annie Fellows Johnston's The Little Colonel Series?

THE LITTLE COLONEL MAID OF HONOR

Last year we went to press on December 10th with the third large edition of "The Little Colonel's Christmas Vacation," which was shipped clean by the 20th. The sale of this year's "Little Colonel" book will be even greater. We will be prepared for it, but cannot guarantee to fill rush orders promptly after Nov. 15. Get your stock in early and watch the pile so that you may safely estimate the quantity you should re-order.

KEEPING TRYST

By Annie Fellows Johnston

16mo, cloth, 50 cents; or paper boards, 35 cents.

A companion volume to "In the Desert of Waiting" and "The Three Weavers."
"Keeping Tryst" is included in "The Little Colonel's Christmas Vacation," but there has been a strong demand for its separate publication.

Special editions will also be issued this year of "The Three Weavers" and "In the Desert of Waiting," in paper boards, at 35 cents.

BORN TO THE BLUE

By FLORENCE KIMBALL RUSSELL

12mo, with exceptionally excellent illustrations by R. FARRINGTON ELWELL. $1.25.

The boy is the son of a captain of the United States Cavalry stationed at a frontier post in the days when our regulars earned the gratitude of a nation. His military training is begun at a very early age; and how well he profits by the soldierly qualities of manhood and honor and modesty and courtesy instilled is brought out in a series of incidents and adventures which will appeal to every youngster.

The author is herself "of the army," and knows every detail of its life.

& COMPANY'S FALL PUBLICATIONS

The Second Volume in "THE RIVAL CAMPERS SERIES"

THE RIVAL CAMPERS AFLOAT

or, THE PRIZE YACHT VIKING

By RUEL P. SMITH, Author of "The Rival Campers." Illustrated. ($1.50)

Of "The Rival Campers" the New York Sun said: "Henry Burns is the 'Tom Brown' of America"; and the San Francisco Examiner: "It is the best boys' book since 'Tom Sawyer.'"

Every boy who read "The Rival Campers" will eagerly welcome the new volume which tells of the further adventures of Henry Burns and his friends.

Roses of St. Elizabeth Sorios

"The Roses of Saint Elizabeth," a dainty little story, with unusually attractive format, published last year, has furnished the name for a series of juvenile stories of a similar nature, which has been augmented this year by the three following titles:

GABRIEL AND THE HOUR-BOOK

By EVALEEN STEIN

With illustrations and decorations by ADELAIDE EVERHART.

"A thoroughly delightful little story with a picturesque subject which will please the youngsters, for whom it was intended."

—N. Y. Sun.

THE ENCHANTED AUTOMOBILE

By MARY J. SAFFORD

With illustrations and decorations by EDNA M. SAWYER.

"Recommended to all little children who would like to visit Fairyland and find out what the characters in their favorite fairy-books do when at home."—N. Y. Globe.

PUSSY-CAT TOWN

By Marion Ames Taggart

With illustrations and decorations by REBECCA CHASE.

A most unusual and delightful "cat story" of a town founded on the River Meuse by three wise and well cared for kittens as a home for the friendless and unfortunate of their kind. Written with an intimate knowledge of feline ways, and with a sprightly imagination sure to absorb its young readers.

Each one volume, square quarto, printed on tinted paper, with illustrations in color, and especially decorated cover and linings. ($1.00.)

The New Volume in THE WOODRANGER TALES WITH ROGERS' RANGERS

By G. WALDO BROWNE

Author of "The Hero of the Hills," "The Young Gunbearer," etc.

Large 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated by L. J. BRIDGMAN. ($1.25.)

Like the "Pathfinder Tales" of J. Fenimore Cooper, these stories deal with the early pioneer days of America. The backwoods of those days were full of mystery, and lurking savages and wild beasts gave plenty of excitement for the "Rangers," which, while appealing to every boy with a spark of adventure in him, also interests him in the American history of the period, 1750.

Sales Which Make Other Sales

This is the kind of business which every bookseller values, and this is the kind he gets by introducing

Everyman's Library

The careful editing, with introductions by authors of the first rank, the excellent design, good paper, clean type and other merits of this most attractive edition, commend it strongly to the genuine book-lovers who buy regularly; and the rapid additions to the series are a constant and worthy temptation to people who already own one or more favorite volumes in this form. Wherever you sell one copy from Everyman's Library you are pretty sure to sell more.

150 Volumes Now Ready

During the summer months fifty volumes have been added to the one hundred announced last spring. This strengthens the Library in every department, affording a choice not only of "books found in every library" but many less familiar works not heretofore offered in a good moderate priced edition.

Great Fortunes ' Their Winning and Their Using

By JEREMIAH W. JENKS, PH.D.

Professor of Economics, Cornell University

C This well-known economist has here made a scientific analysis of the whole subject of great fortunes as they are accumulated to-day in America. He analyzes the origins of these fortunes, and criticises their distribution from the point of view of the economist and social philosopher. No more illuminating book on the subject has been written.

The Life of Pasteur

By A. VALERY-RADOT

C A new edition in one volume and at a popular price of one of the greatest biographies ever written. There has been a steady demand for the work in the original expensive two-volume edition; but this re-issue, it is hoped, will carry the book to a far wider audience, and help to establish it still more firmly as one of the great works of science and letters of our age.

Frontispiece, 8vo, net, $2.50

The Great
Lord Burghley

By MARTIN HUME

C Robert Cecil, Lord Burghley, was the greatest of Elizabeth's ministers, and one of the great founders of the modern British state. No good readable Life of Lord Burghley has previously been written, and this volume, derived from the best contemporary sources, will fill an important place in all historical libraries, public and private.

Frontispiece, 8vo, net, $3.50

The Complete Photographer

In series with "The Complete Golfer" and "The Complete Motorist"

C The most important book which has ever yet been published on the subject of photography. Many books indeed have already appeared in this field, but none which is anyway nearly so thorough. A book for the beginner as well as for the expert, and both will find it indispensable. Even those who do not develop or print their own pictures will want to have it for its practical field suggestions.

Three Popular Novels

BLIND ALLEYS By GEORGE CARY EGGLESTON

Author of "Dorothy South," "A Carolina Cavalier,"
"Daughter of the South," etc. Illustrated. Cloth. $1.50

In "Blind Alleys" George Cary Eggleston enters upon a new field of fiction, casts his work in a larger mould than any that he has hitherto used, and gives us altogether the most important novel that he has yet written.

"Blind Alleys" is a novel of New York life—not of Wall street, not of Fifth avenue, and not of the slums, but of the more typical and significant aspects of life in the great city, and of those who constitute its real and not its exceptional population. The book is full of those curious and intricate mysteries of life that abound in a great city. There is a sweet and wholesome love story, of course. Indeed, there are two of them, and altogether the novel is one of peculiarly fascinating interest.

HEARTS AND THE CROSS

By HAROLD MORTON KRAMER. Illustrated. Cloth. $1.50

Only the novels that can take hold of their readers in a new way can hope to exist under the present day conditions of fiction. This is hard to do, but every now and then a new novelist enters a fresh field, and with bold, original conception and treatment carries the public with him. "Hearts and the Cross" is a book of this class. Its author is another of the Indiana journalists that have contributed so much to recent literature. The story is of a man whose vigorous personality enables him to secure justice for himself under most trying conditions. A mysterious wanderer, he wins the better element of a somewhat rough community by his eloquence as the preacher in a neglected parish, meanwhile working in the fields for his support. His fearless honesty and sympathy provoke deadly hatred, augmented by the jealousy of the lover of the heroine whose interest in the mysterious preacher, so clearly above his present station, adds fuel to the jealous flame. Lawlessness, heroism, and noble self-sacrifice have their part in the development of an intensely dramatic plot.

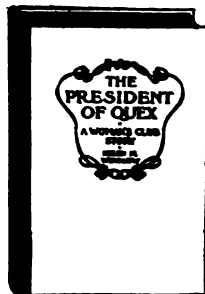

THE PRESIDENT OF QUEX A Woman's Club Story

By HELEN M. WINSLOW.

This is the first novel to deal with women's clubs from the inside, and Miss Winslow was chosen by those who encouraged this work as the best equipped of all the women writers, both in experience and in force and charm of style, to be the champion of women's organizations and show the spirit of earnestness and worthy endeavor which characterizes the modern club movement.

Under the leadership of the president and her loyal supporters, Quex becomes a power for social betterment that even a legislature must reckon with, and is especially efficient in respect to that blot upon our civilization, child labor. It comes at a time when the attention of the whole country is focussed upon that very subject, and shows what women's clubs may do in beneficial civic lines. The book is as capable of interesting an intelligent man as it is the women for whom it is especially written, and who will welcome it. No more lovable heroine appears in modern fiction than the "President of Quex."

RALPH CONNOR

A TALE OF THE ROCKIES. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50
Black Rock had its Ranchman—The Sky Pilot had its spiritual leader—The Man from Glengarry, its man from the East—and The Prospector, its miner. When moral, spiritual and physical healing is wrapped up in one vigorous heart among men of reddest blood, and Ralph Connor puts these men into a book, a great book may be expected, and it does not disappoint.

The Undertow

Author of
"St. Cuthbert's"

ROBERT E. KNOWLES

A NOVEL. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50
Under this singularly striking title Mr. Knowles has written an exceedingly interesting novel of life. Without preaching Mr. Knowles draws from the breakers the analogy in life in a startling book for which we predict a warm welcome. ST. CUTHBERT'S has prepared for him a large public eager for the new book.

The Adventures of Billy Topsail

NORMAN DUNCAN

Author of DR. LUKE OF THE LABRADOR. 12mo, illustrated.....$1.50
It's a boy's book, but it's "a book to be chummy with"—that includes everybody. A ripping story of adventure by sea is regarded by every true-hearted boy as the very best story of all. If the tale moves like a full-rigged ship with all sail spread to a rousing breeze, the boy will say "Bully!" Such is "The Adventures of Billy Topsail."

My Old Balliwick

Author of "Mamie Rose," "Wisdom of the Simple"

OWEN KILDARE

SKETCHES FROM THE PARISH OF MY MAMIE ROSE. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50
Kildare was a real Bowery Man. There his wits were sharpened and his intellect has survived and triumphed. His biography is brilliant and pathetic—his story one of the last of the district.

Fairest Girlhood

MARGARET E. SANGSTER

Illustrated by life studies specially posed and photographed by W. B. Dyer. Quarto, cloth . . . Net, $1.50
None knows the girl-heart as does Margaret Sangster, and we yield to none in daintiness of manufacture of this gem. Its predecessor, "Winsome Womanhood," has long charmed the woman-heart and become standard as a gift for young women.

Why the Robin's Breast is Red

Author of "J. COLE"

A New Story by EMMA GELLIBRAND. Decorated in colors.....Net, 75 cents
A daintily drawn story from the lives of a few bird families. There are chirps of appeal and trills of pathos and songs of joy in the pages of this beautiful bird-book, whose word-pictures are daintily drawn by the gifted author of "J. Cole."

On the Trail of the Immigrant

EDWARD STEINER

12mo, cloth, illustrated.....Net, $1.50
From the trail to the city, and as the stranger within our gates, Mr. Steiner traces the foreigner from all over Europe until he settles in his "quarter" or assimilates with and mingles among the American citizens.

S. H. Hadley of Water Street

J. WILBUR CHAPMAN

A MIRACLE OF GRACE. Illustrated, 12mo, cloth.....Net, $1.25
The Water Street Mission has been permitted a wonderful record of saving grace. From every side comes request for the story of the life of Hadley. None knew this man and his work, his struggles and his victories, better than Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman.

The Silver Maple

Author of
"Duncan Polite"

MARIAN KEITH

A STORY OF YOUNG CANADA. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50
Especially in the older portion of Ontario is there rich material for the novelist, for the truth could be but a revelation of romance of purity and probity. Miss Keith has a forceful, interesting style that binds the reader from first to last.

Alexander McBain, B.A.

A Prince in Penury

ADELINE TESKEY

By the author of "THE VILLAGE ARTIST." 12mo, cloth.....$1.25
The author has dared to picture the actual steps in the downfall of a cultured young man with an inherited tendency toward inebriety. Miss Teskey is a brilliant and sympathetic writer, and has given her powers full play in this story.

SAALFIELD'S FALL ANNOUNCEMENT

The Pond in the Marshy Meadow

By ANNE H. WOODRUFF

Illustrated by H. H. BENNETT. 8vo, ornamental cloth, fifty halftones, $1.50

The House of Defence

EDWARD F. BENSON'S STARTLING WORK

FIFTH OF THE FAMOUS $150,000 SERIES

While the "House of Defence" has a strikingly interesting and original plot, its chief novelty consists in the double fact that it upholds in brilliantly skilful fashion the doctrine of Christian Science; and that the author who thus upholds the creed of Faith is the third son of the Archbishop of Canterbury. The startling effect of this daring radicalism on Church of England society may be readily imagined.

The Earl of Thurso, married to a beautiful girl and who recently succeeded to the title and estates of his millionaire uncle, is the central figure of one of the grimdest, most astounding scandals in the annals of the London smart set.

Lord Thurso went to his Scottish estates to help his tenants during a typhoid fever epidemic. The nervous strain brought on a series of severe headaches, and to relieve these he had recourse to laudanum, which the local medico thoughtlessly prescribed. The effect was peculiarly soothing and exhilarating on his system, and in a very few weeks the opium habit had taken a firm hold upon him.

This was, for the time, hushed up by his family, and he returned to England. But before long his eccentricities became so noticeable as to arouse wonder.

For instance, at a house-party given by Lady Thurso at Bray-on-Thames, the Earl went on a secret opium spree, under whose effects he nearly murdered one of his wife's guests. Again, in order to procure opium he posed as a physician and narrowly escaped arrest and penal servitude. As a last resort his sister prevails upon him to go to New York to try a new cure, and with surprising results. The entire work shows the audacity of the versatile and brilliant author.

"Unlike anything that has yet appeared in fiction."

—Philadelphia North American.

WONDERFUL BIBLE

The Holman Linear Bible has the King James Version in verses as a basis for comparison, and is printed in one wide single column from large, clear, open type, and is the only Bible of the kind that is easy to read.

The original scheme included an arrangement in double columns, and the first pages were so made. The proofs showed conclusively that this plan would not do; it gave such a crowded, confusing page that it was hard to read. So it was abandoned in favor of the

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price. ☞

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Andrews, Mrs. Mary Raymond Shipman, [Mrs. W: Shankland Andrews.] A good Samaritan; il. by Charlotte Harding. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1906. c. 2+51 p. S. $50 c.

A short story that appeared about a year ago in McClure's Magazine. It tells how a young graduate from a theological seminary, on his way to keep an important engagement on which his future hangs, meets an old college friend in an intoxicated condition—how he is forced to play the Good Samaritan and to steer his friend homeward through many adventures in the city streets—how he incurs thereby disgrace in the eyes of the girl he loves, with other episodes.

Bearne, Rev. D: Charlie Chittywick. N. Y., Benziger Bros., 1906. c. 4+205 p. sq. D. cl., 85 c.

Charlie Chittywick is the hero of a boy's story, with its setting in an English country town forty years ago. Charlie as a small boy gets the reputation of being both a thief and a liar. He is the victim, however, of a bad father, who almost starves him; and when the opportunity offers for Charlie to do honest work he does it courageously and stops stealing. He has many trials in his life but finds good friends. The characters are chiefly Catholics, and a boy of Protestant parentage is converted to Catholicism.

Buchanan, A. H., M.D. Manual of anatomy systematic and practical, including embryology. In 2 v. v. I, Osteology. Chic., W. T. Keener & Co., 1906. 16+596 p. il. 8°, cl., $2.75 net.

Coryell, J: Russell, ["Nick Carter," pseud.] Out of death's shadow; or, a case without a precedent. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1906.] c. '05. 3-209 p. D. (Magnet lib.) pap., 10 c.

Dean, Rev. J: Marvin. The promotion: a story of the Philippine war. Phil., Griffith & Rowland Press, 1906. [S.] c. 5+207 p. il. D. cl., 75 c.

From his own experiences as a missionary in the Philippines, the author has written this story dealing to some extent with our military operations there and also touching on our missionary work in the islands.

Dole, C: Fletcher. The spirit of democracy. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1906.] c. 8+435 p. D. cl., $1.25 net.

Consideration of some of the problems of democratic government, which the author considers is still on trial before the world. Various aspects of popular government, especially that of our own country, are discussed under such subjects as: What is government? Suffrage; The treatment of crime;

Pauperism; Imperialism; Labor unions; The party systems; The problem of war; Anarchy and socialism, etc. Mr. Dole, who has also written "The coming people," "The relation of a gentleman," etc., thinks that while the problems to be faced were never more difficult than they are to-day, neither has there ever been so much reason to hope for success in solving them.

Fitzhugh, Percy Keese. The story of General Anthony Wayne (Mad Anthony), the hero of Stony Point; il. by Noble Ives. N. Y., McLoughlin Bros., [1906.] c. 94 p. col. front. il. D. (Young folks' colonial lib.) cl., 40 c.

A biography of one of the heroes of the Revolutionary War; written especially for young people.

Frederick, J. G: Breezy; il. by W. D. Stevens. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1906. c. 4+37 p. S. cl., $50 c.

First appeared in McClure's Magazine. The story of a boy who attended strictly to business. Obtaining a position as a clerk in a big grocer's store he makes a hit at the counter to which he is assigned by his signs calling attention to the special bargains of the day. This and other enterprising acts, raise him so high in the estimation of the firm that he becomes manager of the store.

Kirk, Mrs. Florence, [Florence Hewitt.] Old English games and physical exercises. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. 8+51 p. O. bds., 50 c.

Intended for the use of children in the elementary schools. The tunes are exactly as children sing them, with the addition of simple accompaniments. Includes games with or without music, physical exercises to nursery rhyme accompaniments, and breathing exercises. Each game includes words and music (if required), and full directions.

Lathrop, Elise. Where Shakespeare set his stage; decorations by C. W. Hood. N. Y., Ja. Pott & Co., [1906. S.] c. 10+247 p. il. O. cl., $2 net; ¾ levant, $4 net.

Twelve of Shakespeare's plays have been selected for the subjects of as many chapters and for illustration, namely: Julius Caesar, Anthony and Cleopatra, Romeo and Juliet, The taming of the shrew, The merchant of Venice, Othello, Macbeth, Hamlet, A midsummer night's dream, The merry wives of Windsor, Richard III, and Henry VIII. The author has been at great pains to trace the exact localities of the scenes of the plays, the period at which the action of the drama might have taken place, etc. Also describes the personal appearance and general characteristics of the chief personages as mentioned by their friends or by history. The localities in widely scattered countries in which Shakespeare set his stage have been illustrated with great care in selection of pictures.

Madison, Janet, comp. Sweethearts always: poems of love; selected by Janet Madison: il. by H. Putnam Hall. Chic., Reilly & Britton Co., 1906. c. 232 p. O. vellum cl. $2; ed. de luxe, mor., boxed, $4.

A collection of the best love poems. The limitation imposed in this little collection is that all the poems must sing of constancy in love. Each poem is enclosed in a heart-shaped wreath of forget-me-nots printed in two colors. At the foot of each page is an appropriate motto or ring poesy such as was in olden times engraved in engagement or wedding rings.

Matheson, G.; D.D. Rests by the river: devotional meditations. N. Y., A. C. Armstrong & Son, 1906. 16+367 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Author, formerly minister of the parish of St. Bernard's, Edinburgh. These meditations appeared originally in the pages of Saint Andrew, an organ of the Church of Scotland. They are intended for devotional moments and are divided into two parts, the first containing a thought, and the second either an invocation or a prayer. There are two readings per week for one year and each reading may be scanned in two or three minutes.

Matson, Esther, comp. All the year in the garden: a nature calendar. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1906. S.] c. 7+156 p. il. D. cl., $1 net.

A verse for every day in the year, in praise of gardens, taken from the works of leading poets.

Originally published by Herbert S. Stone, Chicago. See note, "Weekly Record," P. W., April 17, 1897, [1316].

Nansen, Fridtjof, ed. The Norwegian North Polar expedition, 1893-1896: scientific results. v. 5. Published by the Fridtjof Nansen Fund for the Advancement of Science. N. Y., for sale by Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. 4+152 p. il. pls. map, Q. cl., $8.

Volumes 1 to 4 and vol. 6 of these "Scientific results" of the expedition taken in the "Fram" have appeared at intervals since April, 1900. The volume under notice contains the investigations of specialists relating to three North Polar phenomena, viz., Section 14, The bottom deposits of the North Polar Sea, by O. B. Boggild, with an appendix by O. N. Heidenreich and C. J. J. Fox on Analyses of the bottom deposits, and another, by Hans Klaer, on Thalassophora of the bottom deposits and the mud from the ice surface; Section 15, On dead-water, by V. Walfrid Ekman; and Section 16, Protozoa on the ice-floes of the North Polar Sea, by F. Nansen. There are many valuable maps, full-page plates and tables.

Noble, W. Arthur. Ewa: a tale of Korea. N. Y., Eaton & Mains, [1906.] c. 6-354 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

The story is told by a young Korean, the aim being to present Korean affairs from the standpoint of the Korean. The hero at eighteen is told he must marry, and a bride four years his senior and by no means attractive is chosen for him. He runs away from home, meets Ewa, a pretty slave girl, whom he loves, and becomes a slave himself for her sake. On this slight plot are hung many discussions of the life, customs, government, religion and superstitions of the Korean. The lovers in the end become Christians.

Palmer, W. Scott. An agnostic's progress. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. 3+169 p. D. cl., *$1.20 net.

Retrospective journal, describing the gradual development of an eager, inquiring mind during the second half of the last century from conventional religion, merely professed religion, to agnosticism and then, step by step, by means of scientific research, psychical investigation and philosophy to a scientific Christianity, which is to him a realization of the theory of evolution. In relating the various phases of this progress the author touches on the philosophical, psychological and physical questions of the day and their exponents, his starting point having been Darwin's "Origin of species."

Priestman, Howard. Principles of worsted spinning. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. 8+321 p. diagrs., O. cl., $2.50.

Technical treatment of the theory and practice of this branch of textile manufacture by the author of "Principles of wool-combing."

Reed, Myrtle. A spinner in the sun. N. Y., Putnam, 1906. c. 6+393 p. D. cl., boxed, $1.50 net.

Interest centres in the mystery of the veiled lady, who returns to her desolate home after twenty-five years' absence, a stricken, solitary creature, shunning notice, waiting only for death. But the kindly ministrations of her fellow-kind, involuntary contact with the joys and woes of others, and, above all, the example and counsel of a wanderer, whose aim in life is to lighten and sweeten others' burdens, revive her interest in life. By degrees the secret of her past is disclosed, and with forgiveness for others comes a new outlook on life for herself. There is a pretty love story introduced and also the humorous portrayal of a big-hearted old maid whose prayer is "Oh Lord, keep me from the contamination of marriage." By the author of "At the sign of the Jack-o-lantern," "Lavender and old lace," etc.

Standish, Burt L. Frank Merriwell on top; or, a narrow escape. N. Y., Street & Smith, 1906. c. '00. 3-249 p. D. (Eagle ser. of popular fiction.) pap., 10 c.

Tappan, Eva March. American hero stories, [1492-1865.] Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1906. c. 5+264 p. il. por. sq. D. cl., †$1.

Contains five accounts of voyages and explorers, ranging from Columbus to Lewis and Clark; stories of five colonies of marked dissimilarity—Virginia, Quebec, Plymouth, New York and Philadelphia; brief lives of four pioneers of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries; and fifteen short stories of war times. The chapters are arranged in chronological order, with a thread of continuity running through them.

Temlinson, Everett Titsworth. The self-effacement of Malachi Joseph. Phil., Griffith & Rowland Press, 1906. [S.] c. 235 p. il. D. cl., *$1 net.

A young graduate from one of our theological seminaries is advised by one of his professors to settle in a small town in northern New York and make a field for himself. This he does, and his trials and testings and triumphs are embodied in this story.

Walker, Williston. John Calvin, the organizer of reformed Protestantism, 1509-1564. N. Y., Putnam, 1906. c. 18+456 p. il. por. D. (Heroes of the Reformation; ed. by S. Macauley Jackson.) cl., $1.35 net.

Author is Titus Stout Professor of Ecclesiastical History in Yale University. This biography lays "special weight on Calvin's training, spiritual development and constructive work rather than on the minutiae of his Genevan contests or the smaller details of his relations to the spread of the Reformation in the various countries to which his influence extended." The questions of his conversion and his relations to Servetus are also clearly brought out.

Walpole, G. H. Somerset, D.D. The mission of the Holy Ghost. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. 5+103 p. D. cl., *60 c. net.

Four lectures delivered to the members of the St. Paul's Lecture Society during the autumn of 1905 by the rector of Lambeth (London), formerly professor in the Theological Seminary, New York. Separate subjects are: Mission of the Holy Ghost; The Holy Spirit and nature; The Holy Spirit and man; The Holy Spirit and the church.

Ward, Mrs. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, [Mrs. Herbert D. Ward.] The man in the case; il. by H: J. Peck. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 4+267 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Joan Dare, an attractive New England woman, nearing middle life, has just promised to marry Douglas Ray, an architect, and the future seems to both most hopeful, when a mystery all at once darkens Joan's life. What it is that apparently is breaking her heart she refuses to tell even to her betrothed; she discharges her faithful maid, Mary Caroline, and shuts herself up in her lonely house, her dog her only companion. She soon becomes a subject for gossip, her friends and neighbors carefully avoiding her. The explanation of the mystery, which comes about in a dramatic way, is a touching story of a woman's self-sacrifice.

A second series of rhymed riddles—120 in all—with answers.

White, Eliza Orne. A borrowed sister; with il. by Katharine Pyle. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 5+150 p. D. cl., $1.

Lois Page, the little heroine of "An only child," is made happy by a long visit from Jessie Matthews while the latter's parents are in Europe. They have many good times together, planting garden, attending the "Darning-class," playing with their kittens, taking summer excursions, etc., and finally they have a Christmas tree.

Wilde, Oscar. The Duchess of Padua. [Also] Salome. N. Y., F. M. Buckles & Co., 1906. c. 120+4-60 p. D. cl., $1 net.

"The Duchess of Padua," discovered after the author's death, is a drama of the Middle Ages in Italy. "Salome" was written in French for Sarah Bernhardt in 1893. The English version is here given.

Woods, F. H. For faith and science. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. 14+207 p. D. cl., $1.20 net.

By a clergyman of the Church of England, rector of Bainton. In the preface he says: this book "is written for believers who are beginning to fear that the researches of science may compel them as honest men to give up their most cherished convictions. It is written by one who has a profound respect for the great apostles of science, . . . and who believes that . . . science inasmuch as it has been working on the side of truth is therefore on the side of God." The discussion has been arranged under three headings, i.e., What do I believe? Why do I believe? What influence is science exercising on the Christian faith? And the author's conclusion is "that, in spite of appearances to the contrary, religion on the whole owes a great debt of gratitude to science."

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 29, 1906.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE FALL OUTLOOK.

FOR the past five years, in reviewing the prospects for the fall and winter trade, we have been encouraged to take a hopeful view of the outlook—a view that, at the conclusion of each such season, was realized and more than justified. This year again every indication points to an exceptionally rich fall and holiday trade in books. The record of the retail trade for the first half of the year, judged by reports that come from all over the country is most gratifying. The publishing trade, very likely because it was hampered by the printers' strike during the early part of the year, was not quite so active in putting out new books as in the early part of former years; though the fact that during the past six months there was a larger number of successful books than ever, that called for frequent reprintings, may also account for some of the delay in bringing out new books, as it certainly accounts for the unusual activity of the retail trade.

But the deluge is fairly upon us, and all concerned in handling books must be prepared for strenuous times from now until the end of the year. Conditions for retail buying are encouraging everywhere, and the careful bookseller will do well to look ahead and be prepared for his share of the harvest. The publisher undoubtedly has sounded the depths, encouraged by advance orders, and has made preparations for a fairly Gargantuan appetite for books. As evidence of this we point to the list of announcements and to the advertising pages in this issue, which have taxed the strength of the editorial corps and the resources of the printing office as never before. The number of the forthcoming new books and new editions runs into the thousands, and threatens almost to paralyze the judgment of even the most expert buyer in making a representative selection for his stock.

Some timid ones are apt to complain that the best judgment known cannot always get the better of the element of chance that rules whether a book or a drama will please the public or leave it cold; but the bookseller, in a great measure, can best reduce the element of chance by really knowing his public. Local booksellers in small towns have a great advantage in this direction. By a little adroit advertising and good taste in window display they can make their carefully-selected stock come within reach of the right people.

To the average reader a book means a novel, and novels are coming out in the usual great abundance. All the well-known novelists are represented and many new names arouse curiosity. Some excellent stories on the problems of labor and socialism, and several stories dealing with the many religious creeds of the moment and the life led by those above want and satiated with amusement are told by both the known and the unknown writers.

Biography and history are specially rich in promise to those who appreciate this most satisfactory of all the departments of literature. The time and the persons described and studied include from the earliest biblical characters to the men of the passing hour, and the works expected are written by men and women well qualified to deal with their special subjects.

Most important new books in the fields of travel and description, art and music, nature and out-door books, and in science and technical books, may be found among the announcements.

The department of Theology and Religion is better filled than for some years, and the books show that however bold and brave we have become in doubting, denying, asserting or inventing in this field, there remains something ever in humanity that longs to worship and that some of the most learned scholars and idealists are appealing to in books of enduring value.

As ever, the old "books that are books" year by year are put on the market in more and more attractive shape, and almost any bookseller can make a sale, for these little models of size and shape and binding that appeal at once by outward and visible form even to those not quite able to appreciate fully their inward and spiritual grace.

INTERNATIONAL FIGHT AGAINST UNDERSELLING.

THE following abstracts, showing what the booktrade in different countries is doing to prevent underselling, have been prepared by Edward Bell, President of the English Publishers' Association, and are printed in the London Publishers' Circular for September 15. We omit Mr. Bell's resumé of the rules of the American Publishers' Associations (1) because they are already well known to the American booktrade, and (2) because the information given by Mr. Bell does not quite agree with the facts:

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

The Austro-Hungarian Booksellers' Union is affiliated to the Börsenverein of Leipzig, and maintains the same principles. There are special regulations adopted by the societies of Hungary and Bohemia, and the latter apply to the sale of Czech literature in Austria.

Any offer of discount to the public by marked price or otherwise, through circulars or in shop windows, and the offer of other advantages such as would be equivalent to discount, is prohibited.

Exceptions.—When a purchase amounts to not less than 20 krone (16s. 8d.), and at the express demand of the purchaser, a discount of 5 per cent. may be given, but only if the amount is paid in cash at one time, or in the course of a year by terms or instalments of which the totals represent the full price of the books bought. In this case the discount is only deducted when the account is balanced.

Official bodies, public libraries and institutions are allowed (but only on demand) 5 per cent. on amounts of less than 100 krone (£4 3s. 4d.), and 10 per cent. on 100 krone or more. There is no discount on periodicals that appear more than once a year.

These arrangements do not apply to "second-hand" business. Nevertheless, when books coming in this class are advertised at a reduced price the bookseller should indicate the fact that the copies in question are second-hand, soiled, remainders, or old editions. Any kind of announcement suggesting that the dealer sells new books on other than the authorized terms is prohibited.

Penalties.—On a slight offence the delinquent is made to sign a special undertaking; in more serious cases he has at the same time to deposit a sum as caution money, which is forfeited on further offence. If these measures fail the bookseller is deprived of the privileges of the Austro-Hungarian Society, and the fact is then communicated to the Börsenverein of Leipzig in order that the German booktrade may also take the necessary steps with regard to the offender.

HUNGARY.

The Society of Hungarian Booksellers allows a discount of 10 per cent. on any purchase, but expressly forbids any offer of discount in any form.

Penalty.—A fine of which the maximum is 600 krone (£25), and in case of obduracy or repetition the cessation of all relations with the publishing trade. (New regulations almost identical with those of the Austrian trade will soon be in force.)

BOHEMIA.

Any offer of discount is prohibited. Under certain conditions, and on demand, a discount of 5 per cent. is allowed on purchases of not less than 20 krone (16s. 8d.). Officials, public libraries, and institutions may (on demand), if the amount of their purchase (for their own use) is less than 100 krone, receive a discount of 5 per cent., and of 10 per cent. on 100 krone and upwards. School shops receive a discount of 10 per cent., but in general neither school books nor periodicals have any discount.

BELGIUM.

There are no rules as to the sale of books, though the Booksellers' Association (Cercle de la Librairie) has the matter under consideration.

DENMARK.

The published price is maintained with the following exceptions: A discount of 6 per cent. is allowed on annual accounts of not less than 200 krone (about £11) if promptly paid and if the customer insists on a discount. A discount of 10 per cent. is allowed on an account of not less than 1000 krone in the year. Public libraries generally receive a discount of 25 per cent. These rules apply to all three Scandinavian kingdoms.

Members of the Booktrade Association are pledged to give trade terms only to the Danish booksellers authorized by the association. The authorization is granted only on a written undertaking as follows:

1 To observe the regulations made as to net prices.

2 To accept, in disputed cases, the decision of a mixed committee.

3 To deposit a guarantee if required.

Penalty.—The committee of arbitration is formed from the Booktrade Association, the Booksellers' Society of Copenhagen, and the provincial societies. This committee can impose fines up to 200 krone (£11), and in aggravated cases remove the delinquent from the list of booksellers entitled to trade terms. A bookseller who does not pay a fine within four weeks is summarily removed from the list.

There are special regulations in all the Scandinavian countries for the sale of English, French and German books.

FRANCE.

The authorized terms are fixed by what is called a "tariff minimum," mutually agreed upon by the two associations of booksellers and publishers, which determines the discount allowable on books of all classes except educational.

This tariff is not based on the published price, but on a mean between the full price and the ordinary discounted prices, which amounts to a discount of from 5 per cent. to 11 per cent.

Educational books and elementary school books must not be advertised, marked or catalogued below the published price.

Most publishers when they open an account with a new customer require a written undertaking to maintain the tariff.

Penalty.—In cases of infringement on the part of a bookseller, whether he belongs to the booksellers' association or not, the publishers' association and its provincial branches make friendly remonstrances, which have hitherto nearly always been successful. In case of continued opposition all the members of the association close their accounts with the delinquent and refuse to allow him trade terms even for cash.

No thorough measures have yet been taken for the establishment of net prices. The above regulations aim rather at retarding the further degradation of prices and preparing the way for the net system.

GERMAN EMPIRE.

No discount is given on magazines, on educational books in small numbers, nor on any purchase whatever of less value than ten marks, whether for cash or to account.

In the kingdom of Saxony every book of less value than three marks is sold without discount. At Leipzig, purchases of less than three marks are not subject to discount. Under the rules of the Society of Bavarian Booksellers no discount is allowed in any case.

A cash discount of 2 per cent. is allowed on half-yearly accounts for purchases not specified above. In Brandenburg, Berlin and Leipzig this discount is sometimes 5 per cent. Official bodies, public libraries and institutions are allowed a discount of 5 per cent., except on purchases specified above.

Certain special conditions may be agreed upon between local booksellers' societies and the committee of the Börsenverein. Purchases by public authorities of any kind or price are subject to a discount of 5 per cent.

All conditions established by local societies must be observed by members of other societies dealing with the localities.

Penalties.—Booksellers who infringe the rules of their respective societies (which must have been previously approved by the committee of the Börsenverein) are first warned, then are liable to have their accounts closed, and finally are excluded from their society.

HOLLAND.

There is no accepted rule, but the Publishers' Association attempts to maintain the published price for two years at least, by refusing to deal with booksellers who offer discount publicly.

Exception.—Ten per cent. is generally given to professors, and to institutions dealing with educational books. Public institutions generally invite tenders for the supply of books.

ITALY.

The following is the substance of rules that have been adopted by the Associazione Tipografico-Libraria Italiana:

1. Any offer of discount (except under rules 4 and 5) is prohibited.

2. A discount, which must not exceed 15 per cent., may be allowed on educational books to schools, colleges, municipalities, officials, associations, scholastic bodies and teachers in general.

3. If a private customer asks for discount it must not exceed 10 per cent.

4. Publications which have been reduced in price and are not in regular sale (i.e., old stock) are not limited to the above discounts.

(The Italian booksellers' journal publishes from time to time lists of the books the price of which has been reduced by the publishers. When a publisher does this he is bound to take back unsold copies in exchange for other publications. This does not apply to school books.)

5. Publishers of educational and scientific journals may offer their subscribers a discount of 15 per cent. on their own publications—carriage free.

6. Retailers who are recognized by the association receive the usual trade terms from publishers; those who are not recognized receive only the same terms as private buyers. Publishers may give their registered agents better terms as they please.

(Publishers and booksellers mutually agree to consider as booksellers and retailers only those members of the associations who are actually engaged in the retail trade, or persons to whom the committee of the association has given a certificate as such.)

7. Benevolent societies and institutions that sell books under any form are regarded as booksellers.

8. All disputes between booksellers and publishers must be submitted to the committee of the association.

9. Offenders against the rules as to discount are liable to have their names posted in the journal.

NORWAY.

Prices are strictly maintained under severe rules. No publisher may reduce the price of his publications within five years without the special authority of the committee of the Booksellers' Association.

No bookseller may give any discount on Scandinavian books.

Exceptions.—Libraries have a special discount of 8-13 per cent.; teachers, drapers and mercantile companies may receive, in districts where there is no bookseller, a trade allowance of 10 per cent.

Penalty.—Delinquents are punishable by fine of from 10 to 100 krone (krone equal to 13d.), and in case of repetition by exclusion from the society.

There are special rules for English, French and German books, which are sold at fixed prices throughout Norway.

RUSSIA.

There are no regulations, and continual disputes. In Finland, however, some regulations have just been adopted by publishers and booksellers which prohibit any allowance to private buyers, but allow a discount of 10 per cent. to primary schools and schoolmasters.

The discounts are also given more freely in districts where there are no booksellers.

SPAIN.

There are no general rules, but the publishers can apparently compel the booksellers to maintain the prices by threatening to close their accounts. There are two prices prevalent—one for Madrid, and the other, somewhat higher, for the provinces.

SWEDEN.

There are no general rules; the published price is fairly well maintained; schools and libraries often receive from 5 per cent. to 10 per cent. discount. There is an agreement between the "New Society of Publishers" and the booksellers, by which a discount on books of secondary education is prohibited unless the account amounts to 50 krone (about £2 14s.), or unless fifty copies of one book are bought at the same time. In this case the discount is 10 per cent. On other publications no more than 10 per cent. may be given during the first year. There is no penalty.

SWITZERLAND (GERMAN).

The Society of (German) Swiss Booksellers forms part of the Börsenverein at Leipzig.

Offers of discount are strictly prohibited; there is a special tariff for books from certain other countries. No discount is allowed on periodicals appearing monthly or oftener.

The augmentation of prices determined by the tariff of 1874 may be deducted at once on purchases amounting to 100 francs, and on every bill of 100 francs and more which includes purchases within one year. In addition, a discount of 4 per cent. is allowed to a customer whose purchases amount to 600 francs in the year.

Professors of universities and technical schools, students (when they pay cash), and public libraries may receive discount of not more than 5 per cent. This applies only to German or German-Swiss books.

Penalty.—Warning, and closing of accounts. On repetition, exclusion from the society, subject to an appeal to a general meeting within eight weeks.

SWITZERLAND (FRENCH, ETC.).

In the French-speaking parts of Switzerland nearly all the booksellers and publishers belong to their respective societies or to the Börsenverein of Leipzig, and the sale of books is regulated by rules almost identical with the above.

FICTION IN DEMAND IN ENGLAND.

ACCORDING to the London Book Monthly, the following books have been most in demand in London during August:

The Treasure of Heaven. Marie Corelli.
The Dream and the Business. John Oliver Hobbes.

A Sovereign Remedy. Flora Annie Steel.
The Guarded Flame. M. B. Maxwell.
A Woman's Victory. Maarten Maartens.
The Wickhamses. W. Pett Ridge.

PUBLISHERS IN DEFENSE OF SIMPLIFIED SPELLING.

MR. HENRY HOLT, the senior member of the firm of Henry Holt & Co., and Dr. I. K. Funk, president of the Funk & Wagnalls Company, contributed to the New York Times Saturday Review of Books for September 22 communications in defense of simplified spelling, both deprecating Mr. Brett's fear that the general adoption of the new spelling would affect the sale of books intended for export trade.

Mr. Holt, while thoroughly in sympathy with the movement in general, and though as a matter of fact he has adopted some of the new forms of spelling in one of his text books and in the Educational Review, is not prepared to print anything with changes that people are not ready for. For this reason he thinks "that Mr. Brett and those who share his misgivings may rest assured that there is no influence at work in the Simplified Spelling Board to change the spelling of printed books fast enough to hurt their market anywhere."

"But the authorities of England and America and the vast majority of the educational world of America are agreed that a gradual change is desirable; there are 85,000,000 people in America and only 35,000,000 on the British Isles; moreover, there is a suspicion about that, take the American people through and through, the amount of their correct spelling, even by the old standards, has been proportionally somewhat larger than that of the British people. It looks, then, as if the decision of how the language is to be spelled were apt, and not unreasonably, to rest with America."

Dr. Funk cites as instances, to prove that the English people are not altogether averse to the proposed innovation, the large sales in England of Webster's Standard and Century dictionaries, notwithstanding the fact that these works have adopted some of the forms of spelling recommended by the Simplified Spelling Board, and claim that "the simplified forms of spelling are nearly all backed by classic English authors," continuing: "We have borrowed these forms from classic England. Would England stop us going back to 'purest wells of English unde-filed?' These 300 spellings urged by President Roosevelt were in reality selected—nearly all—by Dr. Henry Sweet, of Oxford University, editor of 'Old English Texts.' And the chiefest philologists of England, Dr. Murray and Dr. Bradley, editors of the great Oxford Dictionary; Professor Wright, editor of the 'English Dialect Dictionary,' and Dr. Skeat, the eminent English etymologist, are members of the Simplified Spelling Board."

In conclusion Dr. Funk says: "Even though it did cost the American publishers some sacrifice to help bring about a reform that means so much to the coming generations, which one of us would not cheerfully bear the loss, remembering that it is true in business as in the life of the individual, 'Whosoever will save his life shall lose it.' Selfishness in the long run is short-sighted, and defeats itself. The universe is constructed that way."

FICTION IN DEMAND IN AUGUST.

ACCORDING to The Bookman the six novels which sold best during the month of August in the order of demand are the following:

	POINTS.
1. Coniston. Churchill. Macmillan	334
2. Awakening of Helena Richie. Deland. Harpers	228
3. The Jungle. Sinclair. Doubleday, Page & Co.	109
4. Pam Decides. Von Hutten. Dodd, Mead & Co.	91
5. Lady Baltimore. Wister. Macmillan	87
6. The Fighting Chance. Chambers. Appleton	81

A TOWN IN THE PUBLISHING BUSINESS.

THE town of Bordeaux, being justly proud of the fact that Montaigne was once mayor of the town, says the London Academy, is publishing a definite edition of the essays. Owing to the author's corrections and additions the text of the essays varies considerably, but the new edition—which is under the care of M. Strowski, professor in the University of Bordeaux—will contain the complete text with notes on the variations. One of the older editions of that book "altogether without guile" contains in the preface a eulogy, by the "incomparable Thuanus," in which it is said that "while Montaigne was at Venice he was elected mayor of Bordeaux, which place was bestowed only upon persons of the first quality, and even the governors of the province thought it was an honor for them."

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF NEWS-DEALERS, ETC.

At the twenty-fourth annual convention of the National Association of Newsdealers, Booksellers and Stationers, held at the Palmer House in Chicago last month, the following officers were elected to serve for one year:

S. Stratton, Paterson, N. J., president.

W. H. Kessler, Wilkesbarre, Pa. first vice-president.

A. D. Mynders, Albany, N. Y., second vice-president.

A. Hillman-Russin, New York, N. Y., secretary.

Joseph Ettenberger, Newark, N. J., treasurer.

W. T. Suttle, Jr., Paterson, N. J., custodian. Executive Committee—M. Libien, New York, N. Y.; J. Rumler, Paterson, N. J.; F. Seyfarth, Brooklyn, N. Y.; D. Brophy, New York, N. Y.

Among resolutions passed are the following:

Whereas, Funds are necessary to organize the newsdealers of the United States thoroughly, be it resolved that each and every association is hereby taxed 50 cents per capita, instead of 25 cents per capita, payable semi-annually on the 1st of January and July.

Whereas, The business of the National is growing to be so very important that not much work can be accomplished in our sessions lasting only two days, therefore be it resolved that the sessions of the Convention should last three days.

Whereas, The Executive Committee has the power to change the place of the Convention, be it resolved that the place the Convention chooses should remain and the Executive Committee should not have the power to change; they should only have the power in choosing a place when the Convention has not designated any.

Resolved, That this Convention recommends to the newsdealers of the United States and Canada to assist the publishers by a regular revision of their standing orders for magazines and other publications with a view of making their returns as small as possible.

Resolved, That the Convention recommends that the members of this Association refuse to buy cut or second-hand novels or conduct an exchange business in said novels.

Resolved, That this Association recommends that publishers be requested to abolish all fractional rates for their publications and to make a flat rate on same. Also that all publications be returned at full price, without any deduction of any character.

Resolved, That the Executive Committee of the National Association confer with publishers and news companies with a view of establishing a system whereby each dealer would know exactly what goods are to cost. We suggest that all magazines and periodicals be invoiced to retail at regular selling price, subject to a stated discount.

The Place Committee recommended that the selection of place for next convention be left to the Executive Committee. This was adopted.

B. & J. F. MEEHAN OF BATH.

"Book Auction Records" recently gave an interesting brief account of the bookselling firm of B. & J. F. Meehan, of Bath, Eng., in an article entitled "Go to Bath." The Meehan business was founded by Bartholomew Meehan, the father of the present proprietor, John Francis Meehan. Bartholomew Meehan was born within the sounds of the "Shandon Bells," in July, 1816. At the age of twenty-three he left Cork for Liverpool and engaged in the old book business. Leaving Liverpool he engaged for a time in the book business in Swansea, then fitting to Merthyr, Penzance, Plymouth and Portsmouth, finally settling in 1867 in Bath, being first located in York Street. His growing business obliged him to remove to 11 Pulteney Bridge, and in 1883 to still larger premises at 32 Gay Street. For a number of years the father carried on (concurrently with the business managed by his son in Bath) a book business in South Wales, first at Swansea, where he renewed his old acquaintances, and afterwards at Pentre, Rhondda. He died in Bath on November 10, 1902, in his seventy-sixth year, since which time his son, John Francis Meehan, has carried on the business as sole proprietor. J. F. Meehan, besides fulfilling the best traditions of his calling as a bookseller, is also winning laurels as a historian, having produced several works of standard value, notable among these being "The Famous Houses of Bath and District," now out of print, and "More Famous Houses of Bath and District." Among his recent publications is an account of "Hetting House," now known and used as the Abbey Church House in Westgate Buildings, Bath, which dates back to 1570, and has a most interesting history. Mr. Meehan is also a frequent contributor to magazines.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ALEXANDER BELFORD, the well-known publisher of books and magazines, senior of the late firm of Belford, Clark & Co., etc., died in Los Angeles early this month. He was a son-in-law of Andrew McNally of Rand, McNally & Co. of Chicago.

BLOODGOOD H. CUTTER, the so-called "Farmer Poet of Long Island," died September 26, at Great Neck, L. I., where he was born August 20, 1817. As the original of the "Poet Lariat" of Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad" the Farmer Poet was placed among the immortals long ago. His other claim to fame is the collection of verses he has written for many years, doggerel fired at any object in sight and read with amusement all over the country. As a sample of his poetical powers we quote the "ode" with which Mr. Cutter celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday:

Bloodgood Cutter is eighty-eight,
Obeying God and defying fate.
He lives in Great Neck town,
His age goes up and won't "go down."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE cover of the new Putnam's Monthly was designed by Ingalls Kimball, of the once flourishing young firm of Stone & Kimball, publishers. The design is simple, chaste and effective.

The Circle, the new magazine announced by the Funk & Wagnalls Company, will begin its career probably near the first of December. According to the publishers' announcement, The Circle will be "a monthly picture of real life at home, at business, in the school, on the field of sport, in church, on the highways of travel, at the work bench, in the study, the laboratory, and the executive chamber, on the farm, in the forest, on the bounding wave. Wherever man goes throbbing with life and purpose this new Circle will draw its magic around him, joining in his enthusiasm, inspiring his ambition, helping his achievement, cheering his heart, bringing brightness into his eyes, a smile to his lips and a note of gladness and triumph ringing in his voice."

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY has ready for distribution its holiday catalogue for the season of 1906. The book is the most comprehensive work of the kind that the company has ever undertaken, and gives an exceptionally good idea of the enormous line of fine holiday goods carried. Wherever possible, dealers should, of course, visit the sample room and make their selections personally, but where this is not possible, the catalogue issued this year can be used to excellent advantage. The line of the American News Company this year includes the following goods, all of which are described in the catalogue, which will be sent to dealers on request: Brush and comb sets, shaving, manicure and military sets, post card, auto and photograph albums, scrap books, pocket books, gents' wallets, ladies' handbags, and all the latest novelties in leather, glass inkstands, paper weights, metal goods, clocks, candle holders, crumb trays, pocket flasks, poker sets, medallions and mounted pictures, toy books and games of endless variety, etc.

THOMAS L. BRADFORD, of Frankford, Pa., is at work on a list of State, town and local histories of the States and Territories of the United States, which will be edited by Stan V. Henkels, the well-known Philadelphia auctioneer, who will publish the work. It will be issued in about five volumes, and will contain some five thousand titles, together with the auction sale prices of these volumes for the last forty years, and many bibliographical notes. Such a work should prove of great value to the librarian, the historian, the collector and the dealer. The first volume will be ready about January 1, 1907. It may surprise many to learn that these local histories have been published in such numbers; but the last quarter century has been marked by a very large number of such publications. The centennial celebrations of many towns have brought about the publication of memorial town histories, and some of the earliest issues of these works have sold for very high prices. While the historian may care little for the values of the books in the auction market, this is a feature which must appeal to the librarian, the collector and others who are trying to make up series of these works.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALBANY, N. Y.—George B. Frederick and J. K. Frederick, for upwards of twenty-five years with Banks & Company, of Albany, have established themselves in business under the firm name of Frederick Brothers, at 114 State St. They will make a specialty of new and second-hand law books.

CHEHALIS, WASH.—W. B. Charles, who recently purchased the Globe Bookstore, has moved to larger quarters, and put in a line of shoes.

CLEVELAND, O.—The Babbitt & Crummel Co., booksellers, it is reported, have filed a petition in bankruptcy.

DECATUR, ILL.—J. H. Bevins, bookseller, has been succeeded by Vradenburg & Parkhurst.

FAYETTE, Mo.—J. L. Whiteside, bookseller, has been succeeded by George N. Brown & Son.

FORT COLLINS, COL.—C. R. Secord, bookseller, has been succeeded by Secord & Wood.

GEORGETOWN, TEX.—W. T. Penn, bookseller, has sold out to Wilcox Bros.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA.—F. A. Kiger & Co. has bought the book business formerly owned by Joseph R. Gallick.

JOHNSTOWN, PA.—George E. Lightcap, the book and stationery buyer for William F. Goble & Co., of Altoona, Pa., has resigned his position with that firm and will engage in the same business here in connection with H. A. Hershberger. The book, stationery, art goods and framing department will be under the supervision of Mr. Lightcap and will occupy one side of the building, while the other half of the room will be conducted by Mr. Hershberger with a complete and up-to-date line of jewelry, optical goods, cut glass, fine china, etc. The new firm of Lightcap & Hershberger will open up in their new home, No. 536 Main Street, on or about October 20.

MONTREAL, CANADA.—John Wiley & Sons, of New York, have appointed E. M. Renouff, Ltd., at Catherine and University Streets, their agents for the Dominion. The trade and all Canadian customers will in future be supplied through this agency, and they are requested to correspond direct with E. M. Renouff.

NEW YORK CITY.—We learn that the affairs of the Abbey Press are likely to be disposed of this fall. If the actions pending in the courts turn out favorably to the estate there ought to be a dividend of about ten per cent. for the creditors.

NEW YORK CITY.—The referee reports concerning the Consolidated Retail Booksellers that no dividend can be declared for some time to come. The dividend is likely to be very small unless the referee is successful in recovering on two rather doubtful litigations now being prosecuted.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Outdoor News Company has been incorporated at Albany, to print, publish and circulate daily, weekly and monthly magazines, newspapers, and illustrated matter, and to carry on the business of newspaper proprietors in the State of New York and other States of the Union and in foreign countries. The directors are: Julien A. Ripley, 4 West Twenty-second Street, New York; George R. Knapp, Asbury Park, N. J.; Paul Thompson, 312 West Twentieth Street, New York; and the incorporators are: Charles P. Howland, 13 West Eleventh Street, New York; William W. Lancaster, 126 East Twenty-eighth Street, New York, and Harold E. Field, 835 Green Avenue, Brooklyn.

PLATTEVILLE, WIS.—C. E. Gilmore, bookseller, has been succeeded by Gilmore & Smith.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—The John L. Boland Book and Stationery Co. has secured a building site in the new wholesale district of this city, fronting 100 feet on the north side of Locust Street by 155 feet on the west line of Sixteenth, running through to St. Charles Street. A modern seven-story, slow-combustion structure will be erected on the site.

TACOMA, WASH.—Theodore's Book Store Co. have changed their firm name to Theodore & Little.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY will publish on October 1 their last new novel of the year, George Carling's "Richard Elliott, Financier," which deals with the question of trust methods and high finance in business circles.

A. J. HOLMAN & Co. call attention to their new lines of Bibles, among which their "Black-Face" Text, Reference and Teachers' Bibles, their "Linear" Bible, and their "Vest Pocket Red Letter Testament" will be found specially useful and attractive.

JOHN LANE COMPANY have just brought out the "Memoirs of Count de Cartrie: being a Record of the Extraordinary Events in the Life of Ambrose Toussaint de Cartrie, Count of Villeniere, as written by himself," with an introduction by Frederic Masson. The memoirs throw some bright sidelights on the war in La Vendée. They announce "The Beloved Vagabond," a new story by William J. Locke, author of "The Morals of Marcus Ordeyne," which in its dramatized form was produced at the Garrick Theatre in London with marked success.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish at once "Dunny," a new story of Western life by Philip Verrill Mighels, along the lines of his "Bruvver Jim's Baby," the scene being set in a typical rough Western lumber camp, where the humorous side of life has been appreciatively set forth from first to last; Robert Hichens's new novel, "The Call of the Blood," already fully described by us; also, "Their First Call," by Grace MacGowan Cooke, the story of how two boys paid their first real "call" on the girls, fortified with "Helps and Hints to Young Men in Business and Social Relations," and their awkward applications of its principles, for which Peter Newell has made a number of characteristic funny pictures.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS have just brought out an entirely new edition of the "Oxford Teachers' Bible," with new Twentieth Century Helps arranged under one alphabet, including a concordance, subject index, glossary, chronologies, botany, etc. They have also just ready fine new editions of "Oxford Black-faced Type Bibles," of which their brevier sixteenmo has been described as "a quart in a pint measure." Among their gift books the additions to their Oxford Bijou edition will prove specially attractive. In a volume 2 x 1½ inches in size, printed on the Oxford India paper, may be had the "Four Gospels," in four volumes, the "Book of Psalms" in one volume; "Dickens's Christmas Books," with illustrations by Leech and others, in five volumes, and the "Ellen Terry Shakespeare," in forty volumes. The text, though printed in small type, is easily read. Their World's Classics series and The Boys' Classics are steadily growing in size and in favor.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY will publish early in October "On the Trail of the Immigrant," by Edward A. Steiner, who for the past twenty years has gone over the whole field himself, as an actual immigrant, living in huts in Poland and the Balkans, herding in European trains and in the steerage of ocean liners and working in Pennsylvania coal mines and in Wisconsin forests; "The Missionaries and their Critics," by Dr. J. L. Barton; also "Listening to God," a volume of sermons, by the Rev. Hugh Black, who is coming to New York from free St. George's in Edinburgh, to occupy the chair of Practical Theology in Union Seminary. They have in preparation a volume entitled "The Universality of Jesus," by the Rev. G. A. Johnston Rees, of the University Church at Cambridge, England, who made a deep impression upon the great Northfield audiences which he addressed this summer; also an elaborate work on "Ancient Jerusalem," by the Hon. Selah Merrill, our consul for many years at the Holy City.

E. P. DUTTON & COMPANY have just ready "The Trials of Commander McTurk," by C. J. Cutcliffe Hyne. McTurk is on the retired list of the U. S. Navy, and is there from having exceeded instructions by overzeal in the Philippines. The book records his trials in many enterprises of unusual character into which he enters in all parts of the world with the one object of so distinguishing himself as to win the notice of the naval department and gain a reappointment. Those who know Mr. Hyne's "Captain Kettle" will be prepared to find his successor sketched in the same graphic, lively and amusing manner—a type of the cool, tenacious and unconsciously humorous American. They will publish immediately "The Life of Sir Henry Vane the Younger, with a History of the Events of His Time," giving an account of his sojourn in New England and Governorship of Massachusetts, his return to England and his life under the Protectorate and Restoration, and his trial and execution. The work is by Dr. William W. Ireland, of Edinburgh. They also announce for early publication "The Voice of the South," a new book by Gilbert Watson, being his personal experiences of travel in Algeria and the desert.

THE FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have in preparation a religious historical novel by William Schuyler, entitled "Under Pontius Pilate;" also, "Miserere," by Mabel Wagnalls, a fascinating story of music and its devotees. F. Berkeley Smith, who has brought out three successful books on Paris, has now about ready "In London Town," fully illustrated. Another work of description will be "The Pacific Islanders," consisting of articles contributed to the Missionary Review during the past eighteen years by well-known writers. "A New Appraisal of Christian Science," by Joseph Dunn Burrell, is not made strictly in the spirit of Mr. Eddy. Useful books will be "How to Speak in Public," by Grenville Kleiser; and "The Mechanism of Speech," by Alexander Graham Bell, a scientist who is an authority on his subject. Ellis Parker Butler, whose "Pigs is Pigs" amused so many readers this spring, will offer "The Incubator Baby," a gentle satire on "scientific motherhood." A volume of literary interest will be made of essays by Tolstoi, Ernest Crosby and Bernard Shaw. Tolstoi's essay is "Our Shakespeare;" Crosby treats "Shakespeare's Attitude Towards the Working Classes;" and Bernard Shaw furnishes a characteristic letter on the same general subject. Two nature books by William Beutenmüller, of the American Museum of Natural History in New York City, are entitled "Common American and European Insects" and "Common Butterflies and Moths."

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish shortly a sumptuous book entitled "Glimpses of Italian Court Life," by Mrs. Tryphosa Bates Batcheller, a chronicle of the experiences and impressions of an American woman, well known as an amateur singer, who had very exceptional opportunities of studying the exclusive circles of modern Italian society, illustrated with portraits, snapshots of the fashionable hunts, private theatricals and other intimate pictorial documents; also, "Dem Good Old Times," an interesting "Southern" book by Sally M. Dooley, with pictures that express the Southern type of beauty. Instead of waiting until November, this firm have decided to bring out at once their illustrated edition of "They." This story has attracted more attention than any short story written since "The Lady or the Tiger," and by many people is considered to be one of Mr. Kipling's greatest achievements. This edition, which is illustrated in color by F. H. Townsend, was prepared under the special supervision of the author. Another change in Doubleday, Page & Co.'s plans consists of the immediate publication of Frank Norris's little story of "The Joyous Miracle," which will be brought out on October 2, instead of in November, as originally planned. This little Christ story is one of the most perfect things ever written by the man whom many leading critics thought liable to become our greatest American novelist. It was originally published as a long magazine story, and is an exquisite piece of imaginative writing and execution.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY has published this week two stories for children, "Merry-lips," by Beulah Marie Dix, author of "The Fair Maid of Graystones," etc., and "The Railway Children," by E. Nesbit, author of "The Literary Sense;" "The German Empire," by Burt Estes Howard, Ph.D.; an illustrated book on "Surrey," painted by Sutton Palmer and described by A. R. Hope Moncrieff; "Tuberculosis: its Origin and Extinction," by W. Pickett Turner, M.D.; "A Beginner's Latin Book," by Virgil Prettyman, principal of Horace Mann High School, and Alexander J. Inglis, instructor in Latin, Horace Mann High School; also, Thackeray's "Henry Esmond," edited by John Bell Hennehan (in the new series of Macmillan's Pocket Classics). They announce for early publication a volume of poems by a hitherto unknown author, whom American readers will be predisposed to like—Coningsby William Dawson, son of that genial critic and man of letters, the Rev. W. J. Dawson. Mr. Dawson is a young Oxford man and has recently come with his father to live in this country. His volume of poems will be called "The Worker, and Other Poems." The piece from which the volume takes its name is said to be a bold and original treatment of a novel theme. F. Marion Crawford's new novel, "A Lady of Rome," is not, as has been supposed, a sequel to "Fair Margaret," but a story dealing with entirely new characters and comparable in setting and spirit with his "Cecilia," rather than with his latest published book. The new story is announced for publication next month.

W. H. LOWDERMILK & Co., Washington, D. C., announce a work on "American Consular Jurisdiction in the Orient," by Dr. Frank E. Hinckler, clerk of the United States Court for China. The privileges and conditions under which foreigners in the Orient—China, Korea, Turkey, Siam, etc.—are allowed to reside and trade in those countries have developed many important principles of consular extraterritorial jurisdiction, and of recent years there has been a growing need and demand for an accurate work on the subject for English readers. This book is therefore intended to supply the want of a thorough and explicit treatise, historical and practical, on the origin, growth and present practice of those consular courts and of the U. S. Court for China. The author has examined all known literature on the subject—English, French and German, but principally American—depending chiefly for his statements on the official sources as contained in the correspondence of the State Department and documents of Congress, in both of which is obviously to be found the most detailed and authoritative explanation of the nature of the privileges enjoyed by American citizens in Oriental countries. The historical portion of the book is most readable, as the author has an interesting style and presents the narrative in an attractive manner. The notes and references are full and complete and there is an exhaustive index. The work is of value not only to the legal student but to all who have any interests in the Oriental countries, or who may come under the jurisdiction of the courts therein.

THE AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION has among its fall books, in the True American Types series, "Cap'n Chadwick," by John White Chadwick, a story of the author's father who was a Marblehead fisherman and shoemaker, and a typical character of the Massachusetts coast; "Life's Enthusiasm," by David Starr Jordan, a call to do things because we love them, to love things because we do them, to keep the eye open, the heart warm and the pulses swift; a holiday portrait edition of "Daughters of the Puritans," by Seth Curtis Beach, which had an excellent sale last year; "The Message of Man," edited by Stanton Colt, a book of ethical Scriptures which in scope, quality and arrangement is as near a perfect expression of the concentrated thought of the world's greatest thinkers as can be compressed into a little pocket volume, arranged in chapters by topics with an index of authors and editions, etc.; "The Shepherd's Question," by Burt Ester Howard, a little volume which, in the rhythmic language of the heart and with the prophetic note of the spirit seeks to convince one of the realizing of the hope of immortality; "Father Taylor," by Robert Collyer, the unique life history of the founder of the Seamen's Bethel in Boston, as told by an old friend who knew him well; also "Representative American Idealists," by Charles W. Eliot—four essays, on Washington, Franklin, Channing and Emerson, which bring into a single volume a summary of the achievements of four men in the foremost rank in shaping the political and intellectual thought of our republic, and, by their lives and writings in framing our American ideals.

HILLS & HAFELY Co., 27 East Twenty-second Street, New York, have been organized and incorporated to specialize the publications of Hills & Co., Ltd., of London. From a typographical standpoint the issues of Hills & Co. are "dainty," and reflect the best achievements of the printer's art. Prominent among their announcements are "Words of Wisdom," a series of twelve little booklets containing choice extracts from the writings and sayings of great men—appropriate gifts for young or old; "A Little Book of Friendly Counsels," classified quotations from the best authors, printed in two colors and daintily bound; a series of six "Religious Booklets," each book containing a Scripture text and a verse for each day of the month, arranged upon a novel plan, each booklet comprising a distinct topic, such as "Hope," "God's Love," "Praise," "Faith," "Comfort," "Prayer." Their birthday and anniversary books are entitled to recognition, both for their literary qualities as for their attractive get-up. There is a series of poets—including Tennyson, Longfellow and Shakespeare—each with a portrait of the poet represented by the volume, and there is a larger size, including six titles, "Friendship's Record," "Pearls of Beauty," "Should Auld Acquaintance be Forgotten," "By the Sea Shore," "Across the Far Blue Hills" and "Flowers of Thought," illustrated in colors and daintily bound. Indeed it would be difficult to say which of the line were the more desirable when all are so good. Their line of Christmas cards comprises 250 varieties in colorograph, photogravure, gold blocking and hand painting, distinctive in design and faultless in manufacture. The line of Birthday Cards and Wedding Congratulations is also very full and complete. Their line of Wall Texts for church, home, school, hall and office use has been augmented with a number of attractive cards that may be retailed for from 10 to 50 cents. Catalogues of all these lines are now ready and will be mailed on application.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS announce that the demand for their American Standard Bible and the New Testament is growing, and that it is steadily finding favor in colleges, universities, theological seminaries and Bible training schools, and that it is also coming into more general use in many churches and Sunday-schools in the United States. As a proof of this the publishers are constantly adding to the line, and will publish at once an "Emphasized" edition of the American Standard New Testament on both white and India paper. This "Emphasized" edition will be self-pronouncing and have the words of Christ printed in black-face type. It will be in vest-pocket size, making it one of the handiest and most convenient Testaments ever published. They also have ready an India paper edition of the Minion 32mo Testament and Psalms. The American Standard Bible is now published in the following styles: Teacher's, Concordance, Reference, Scholar's, Text and Pulpit editions, and the Old and New Testament bound separately. In the King James version they announce the Red-Letter Teacher's Bible, containing the complete Red-Letter Bible and their usual Teacher's Helps—Concise Bible Dictionary and Combined Concordance; also, Red-Letter New Testament and new illustrated editions of their Text and Reference Bibles. They have brought out a number of new styles of binding in prayer books and hymnals, and call special attention to the Oblong editions and Bridal Souvenirs in write binding, and to their Altar Service and Fold-Stool Book in great primer type for church use. Nelson's line of colored Toy Books, known all over the country for the fine quality of work and the low prices at which they are sold, has been augmented by many new titles, making it larger and better than ever. The "E. F. G." Pocket Dictionaries make dainty and acceptable holiday gifts. The Nelson Devotional and Juvenile books contain some of the best-selling titles in these lines. Nelson's New Century Library is being added to from time to time, and they announce for this year "George Eliot's Works" complete in 12 volumes, to be ready in November in time for the holiday trade. These volumes will be uniform in style with the works of "Shakespeare," "Dickens," "Thackeray," "Scott," "Brontë," etc., now published in the New Century Library.

H. M. CALDWELL COMPANY have just published "Louis's Salads and Chafing Dishes," by Louis Muckensturm, which is really the work of three masters in the culinary art—two of whom are chefs at large and prominent Boston clubs, and the third holds a responsible position in one of the leading Bohemian resorts in the same city—giving new receipts, generally for three or four persons, and valuable hints on the care of foods; also a companion volume entitled "Louis's Mixed Drinks," carefully prepared receipts for all well-known cocktails, punches, "cups," etc. They will publish this fall a neat little presentation book for men, entitled "Cigarettes in Fact and Fancy," by John Bain, Jr., and Carl Werner, giving facts on the growth, manufacture and blending of the tobacco, and touching also on the lighter side of this daintiest form of smoking; "Over the Nuts and Wine," a catchy little volume of toasts and bon mots, by James Clarence Harvey, author of "In Bohemia," etc.; "The Value of Love," a posthumous work by the late Frederic Lawrence Knowles, a fitting companion to his other autologies, "The Value of Friendship" and "The Value of Courage," with an introduction by Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton; "My Lady's Point of View," an up-to-date half-memory book and half diary, designed by A. J. Iorio, intended to cover the interesting points of a young girl's life from the time of her debut to her marriage; also, "Recollections of a Gold-Cure Graduate," by Newton Newkirk, editor of the humorous column of the Boston Post, a companion volume to "The Log of the Water Wagon," with illustrations by Wallace Goldsmith. For children they will have "The Jingle of a Jap," by Clara Beil Thurston, with taking little jingles of the love of a Japanese doll for her beautiful Parisian one, the illustrations by the author being in colors; "The Wisbone Boat," a fascinating little story, by Alice C. D. Riley, in the Pleasant Street Series; "Seem So's," by L. J. Bridgman, the author of and illustrator of "Guess, Guess Again," who founds his clever little book on the queer shadow often cast by figures; also, Polly, the Autobiography of a Parrot," by Mrs. Mollie Lee Clifford, who tells the story of a parrot that is taken from the jungles of South America to a city home and taught to speak, and that often gets herself and her mistress into trouble, but with it all shows much common sense. In their various series the Caldwell Company have added many new titles for the coming season. To the Red Letter Library has been added six volumes, namely, "Verse," by C. S. Calverley, with an introduction by Owen Seaman; "Last Essays of Elia," by Charles Lamb, with an introduction by Augustine Birrell; "Essays," by William Hazlitt, with an introduction by Charles Whibley; "Spectator Selected," by Joseph Addison, with an introduction by Louis Bettany; "Psalter in English Verse," by John Keble, with an introduction by Archbishop of Armagh, and "Religio Medici," by Sir Thomas Browne, with an introduction by Charles Whibley. The Remarque edition has four new titles: "Tales of a Wayside Inn," by Henry W. Longfellow; "King of the Golden River," by John Ruskin; "Love Letters of a Violinist," by Eric Mackay, and "Sketches of Young Couples," by Charles Dickens. The last consists of several of the earlier sketches by Dickens, in which, however, are seen his clear and wonderful characterization unequalled by any other modern author, and even unsurpassed in his later and better known works. As far as is known, this is the first time these sketches have been issued in a volume by themselves. New and attractive cover designs, and also new volumes have been added to their Laureate Series, Golden Counsel Series, Famous Books for Girls, Young Folks' Library, Sesame Classics, Rosemary Classics, Alcazar Classics and the Academe Series, the last being now bound in full limp red paste grain leather as well as cloth.

AUCTION SALES.

A COLLECTOR'S BEQUEST.

"My wish is that my Drawings, my Prints, my Curiosities, my Books—in a word these things of art which have been the joy of my life—shall not be consigned to the cold tomb of a museum, and subjected to the stupid glance of the careless passer-by; but I require that they shall all be dispersed under the hammer of the Auctioneer, so that the pleasure which the acquiring of each one of them has given me shall be given again, in each case, to some inheritor of my own tastes."—From the Will of Edmond de Goncourt.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Bight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

NOTE In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

NOTE Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

FALL BOOKS FOR GENERAL READERS

Three Important Announcements, Supplementing those in Publishers' Weekly of September 1st

PANAMA AND THE PANAMA CANAL. By WILLIS FLETCHER JOHNSON. With 16 illustrations and 7 colored maps. 8vo. Probable price $3.50 net. (Oct.)

The first complete and up-to-date account in any language of the four centuries of canal agitation and attempts at creation. The author's style is graphic, simple and interesting.

MORALS IN EVOLUTION. By L. T. HOBHOUSE, author of "The Labor Movement," "The Theory of Knowledge," "Mind in Evolution," and "Democracy and Reaction." (Oct.)

There are few, if any, equally interesting compendiums of the revolutionary thought of the last half of the last century.

A ROMANCE OF OLD WARS. By VALENTINA HAWTREY. 12mo, $1.50.

A very human love story, with Von Artvelde's attack on the French as a background.

JUST PUBLISHED

JOSEPH VANCE: An Ill-Written Autobiography. By W. DE MORGAN. $1.50.

The New York Globe says—"Perhaps the story as nearly measures up to the best standards of English fiction—the standards of Dickens and Thackeray—as any story recently published. American readers should be grateful to the publishers of (The Divine Fire) for giving them another novel of such conspicuous merit." The English reviewers are highly enthusiastic. The Spectator calls it "A fine novel, by whatever standard we judge it," and The Athenaeum, Speaker, Academy, Westminster Gazette, etc., join in the chorus of praise.

AFFAIRS OF STATE. Being an account of certain surprising adventures which befell an American family in the land of windmills. By BURTON E. STEVENSON, author of "The Marathon Mystery," etc. Illustrated by F. Vaux Wilson. 335 pp., 12mo, $1.50.

SELECTED OCTOBER ANNOUNCEMENTS

IN THE SHADOW OF THE LORD. A Romance of the Washingtons. By Mrs. HUGH FRASER, author of "A Maid of Japan," "Letters from Japan," etc. 12mo, $1.50.

Mrs. Fraser, an author of established reputation, has given the requisite tone of dignity and moral elevation to this impressive story of the mother of George Washington.

THE CRUISE OF THE "VIOLETTA." By ARTHUR COLTON. 12mo, $1.50.

! A highly fanciful tale. The story suggests now Stockton, now Stevenson, again Kipling.

A KING'S DIVINITY. By DOLORES BACON, author of "The Diary of a Musician." Illustrated by Phillips Ward. 12mo, $1.50.

A human, humorous and dramatic tale of Europe and America.

THE POET AND THE PARISH. By MARY MOSS. 12mo, $1.50.

A novel showing both the tyrannies of the conventions and the justification of them.

DADDY'S DAUGHTERS. By MARION AMES TAGGART, author of "Nut Brown Joan." Illustrated. $1.50.

THE BIRD: Its Form and Function. By C. WILLIAM BEEBE, Curator of Birds in the New York Zoological Park, author of "Two Bird Lovers in Mexico." With frontispiece in color and 370 illustrations from photographs. 496 pp., sq. 8vo, $3.50 net.

THE LOG OF THE SUN: A Chronicle of Nature's Year. 191 illustrations (fifty-two in color) of Nature's varying aspects, by WALTER KING STONE, with text by C. WILLIAM BEEBE. 8vo.

A CHEERFUL YEAR BOOK. With aphorisms by F. M. KNOWLES. Illustrated by C. F. Lester and with a prolog and epilog by CAROLYN WELLS. 12mo. Probable price $1.50 net. A very pretty, entertaining, humorous picture book with a handy diary attached.

THE FRIENDLY TOWN. A Book for the Urbane. Compiled by E. V. LUCAS. Uniform with "The Open Road." 380 pp. Cloth, $1.50. Also available in leather.

THE LABOR MOVEMENT IN AUSTRALASIA. By VICTOR S. CLARK. $1.50 net. A competent, temperate, and judicial treatment of an important subject.

The Baker & Taylor Company

Power Lot

By MRS. SARAH P. MCL. GREENE. Author of "Cape Cod Folks," "Vesty of the Basins," etc., etc. Illustrated. $1.50.

Mrs. Greene's best book. The evolution of Robert Hilton, a dissolute city lad, in the rugged fishing town, the beauty of Mary Stingaree's character and life, and the quaint humor of Power Lot people, are charmingly set forth.

By ROY ROLFE GILSON. Author of "In the Morning Glow," etc., etc. With illustrations in color by ALICE BARBER STEPHENS. 8vo, $1.50.

The subtlety and charm of Mr. Gilson's stories reach their highest point in this book. Larry, the bachelor newspaper man, humorous, kindly, homely, lives over again the romance of his younger days in the charming little daughter of the woman he lost.

Max Fergus

By OWEN JOHNSON. Author of "Arrows of the Almighty," etc. Illustrated by F. C. RANSOM. 12mo, $1.50.

Max Fergus, rich and miserly, marries a woman through the machinations of a disreputable lawyer. She is an adventuress against her will. His discovery leads to a remarkable revenge. A powerful story, full of mystery and of exceptional quality.

A History of Architecture

By RUSSELL STURGIS. Author of "A Dictionary of Architecture and Building," "How to Judge Architecture," etc., etc. In three volumes, large 8vos, with 500 illustrations to each volume, cloth, per set, net, $15.00; half-morocco, per set, net, $22.50.

The first volume of this most important architectural work, treating of the entire architecture of the world in a narrative and critical style, will be ready in October.

A NEW WILLIAMS DICKENS BOOK

Mr. Pickwick's Christmas

With ten illustrations in color and line by GEORGE ALFRED WILLIAMS. $2.00. A companion to "A Christmas Carol" and "The Cricket on the Hearth."

Mr. Williams' charming illustrations make very attractive this well-known section of the Pickwick Papers.

Lady Hollyhock and Her Friends

A BOOK OF NATURE DOLLS

By MARGARET COULSON WALKER. 52 illustrations, $1.25.

A most charming and unusual juvenile, giving descriptions in an attractive text of how to make dolls out of flowers, fruit, clay, spools, peanuts, and hundreds of other everyday articles. 16 illustrations in full color.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR CO., Publishers

Two Sterling American Novels

A TENDER, IMPELLING STORY THAT THOUSANDS WILL SMILE OVER, AND CRY OVER AND BE GLAD THEY HAVE READ.

THE STORY OF MARTIN COE

Illustrated by Howard Giles

¶ A tender, impelling story of a young filibuster and deserter from the United States Navy, who is regenerated by a woman's affection and a girl's love. A big souled story, with the swinging sea and a quiet Maine village as a background. The author's previous book, THE PRAYING SKIPPER, was called by the critics the best book of short stories of the year. In this novel Mr. Paine proves his ability to write a long story; one that is full of sturdy Americanism of which he himself is a type.

Cloth, $1.50

A STRONG, TRUE AMERICAN STORY THAT GRIPS YOU IN THE BEGINNING AND SWEEPS YOU OFF YOUR FEET IN THE END

THE BALANCE OF POWER

By ARTHUR GOODRICH

Illustrated by Otto Tenspern

¶ Every little while there appears that rare achievement, a novel that really stands for something, that actually entertains, inspires and makes one glad for the reading of it. This is one of them. It deals with vital American life and vital American types. It is diverse. The old, old story is told over. Humor runs through and enlivens its pages. There is fighting in it—fighting for the right. There are high purposes and ideals and the spirit of the "Golden Rule." There are portrayed manly men and womanly women, Americans all strong and self-reliant, but yet like Douglas of old, "tender and true." A novel of courageous optimism.

Cloth, $1.50

By HORACE KEPHART

THE BOOK OF CAMPING AND WOODCRAFT

Net, $1.50

With many illustrations of camping scenes reproduced by half-tone plates from photographs. A very practical book written by a man of vast experience. The volume will serve as a superior guide to those who contemplate "life in the open."

Leather binding, camper's edition, $2.00 net

By W. B. MERSHON

THE PASSENGER PIGEON - Net, $3.00

Illustrated with colored frontispiece, by Louis Agassiz Fuertes, and many other colored and half-tone reproductions.

This book completely covers the history of the passenger pigeon, a bird once plentiful but now as extinct as the buffalo. The authoritative book on this subject.

By ROBERT DUNN

THE SHAMELESS DIARY OF AN EXPLORER - - - - - Net, $1.50

Illustrated with numerous half-tone plates from photographs taken by the author.

This volume gives an account of an attempt to ascend Mt. McKinley, and is written from a novel point of view.

By FRANCIS METCALFE

SIDE SHOW STUDIES - - - $1.25

In this book Mr. Metcalfe tells many funny things of the freaks and the exhibits. The yarn of how the elephant was white-washed, how a mouse busted up the mermaid show, and the many other droll stories, make a volume at once amusing, instructive and entertaining.

"Its amusing stories remind one of Artemus Ward's 'Kangaroo'"—Southern Star, Atlanta, Ga.

"The function of the book, like that of the circus, is to amuse the reader, and it is a success in that."—Columbus, O., Despatch.

DILLON WALLACE'S remarkable story of Labrador exploration. THE LONG LABRADOR TRAIL will appear in the early spring. Mr. Wallace's former book "The Lure of the Labrador Wild" created and held a deep interest among a wide reading public, an interest which will be increased by the story of the last and successful adventurous journey. Net, $1.50

STOKES' AUT

New Fiction

THE CATTLE- BARON'S DAUGHTER

By HAROLD BINDLOSS

Author of "Alton of Somasco," Etc.

A romance of real issues treating of the conditions in the cattle country at that critical period of transition when the great tracts of land, previously used for grazing, were taken up by incoming homesteaders.

The struggle between the old order and the new envelops the interests of Hetty Torrance, the daughter of the most influential cattle-baron, and Larry Grant, the leader of the new movement.

The tale of their devotion fraught with numerous difficulties arouses profound admiration for the plucky girl and deep respect for the man whose stern sense of honor puts to shame the greed and selfishness of the cattle-barons.

The BREATH of the RUNNERS

By MARY MEARS

"To succeed, this word unknown a century since, is to-day the sovereign ruler of all lives."

How this desire for recognition may both bless and ban, how it strains at the very breath of the runners as they move, is the theme. The environment is that great undercurrent art-world just beginning to be known in our new land.

The opening chapters have a surprising flavor of originality, and play with unusual delicacy upon the sympathies. These chapters have also the true atmosphere of a section of New York little known by the thousands who pass it daily on their way to and from the Brooklyn ferries or their homes uptown.

A well known art critic says, "The style is marvelous; it is a book of youth, of enthusiasms; it is unlike anything in our literature."

THE COLLECTOR'S MANUAL

By N. HUDSON MOORE

Author of "The Old China Book," "The Lace Book," Etc.

A guide for collectors and lovers of antiques. It covers such topics as Old Glass, Brass and Copper, English Pottery and Porcelain, besides many items of furniture, beds, chairs, sideboards, tables, etc. It gives information by which the collector may select what is good, and points out the means of detecting the fraudulent. The illustrations, selected with great care, are surprisingly numerous and fine.

The chapter on "Cottage Ornaments" has never been treated before. Many of the popular subjects with the names of their makers are given.

This book will interest and educate all home-makers.

With 336 Illustrations. Cloth, Large 4to, Gilt Top, Bound, Net, $5.00. Postpaid, $5.45

DECORATIVE STYLES and PERIODS

By HELEN CHURCHILL CANDEE

A careful study of the sequence of styles as one followed another from antiquity, through the Renaissance, down to the present time; a valuable résumé both for collectors and the makers of artistic homes. Among other matters is traced the derivation of the much-prized furniture styles of the early American colonists, ignorance of which causes much confusion and diversity of opinion.

Large 12mo, Cloth. 290 Pages. Illustrated. $2.00 Net. Postpaid, $2.18

CHATS on OLD PRINTS

By ARTHUR HAYDEN

Written to enable collectors and those interested in old prints to discriminate between the various styles of engravings. The book contains a glossary of technical terms, a bibliography, a full index and a table giving over 350 of the leading engravers who worked in England from the sixteenth to the nineteenth centuries.

Each Large 12mo, Cloth, Profusely Illustrated, $2.00 net. Postpaid, $2.18

CHATS on FANCY COSTUMES

By G. W. BHEAD

The subject of dress is approached from the æsthetic standpoint. The book is in no sense technical, and consists of an introduction, dealing with the subject in its general aspect, followed by a series of entertaining chats on the characteristic styles of dress of all ages and nations.

The MAKING of a HOUSEWIFE

By ISABEL GORDON CURTIS

In simple story form the author tells how a capable housekeeper gives daily aid to a young bride next door, who has taken upon herself the care of a home in total ignorance of the problems confronting her.

New Books for Children

JACK the YOUNG CANOEEMAN

By GEORGE BIRD GRINNELL

The fourth volume in the Jack Series which has become so popular with boys. All through the book is found the same faithfulness to nature and to fact that has characterized the previous volumes, and while there is abundant information about outdoor life and nature, it is so deftly concealed that the reader is unaware that he is being informed. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

The WILD FLOWER BOOK for YOUNG PEOPLE

By ALICE LOUNSBERRY

The author has told a story, wherein the lives of wild flowers, and those of children, are intermingled by the happy incidents of out-of-door life in the country. The language of the book is simple, and relates the surprises in the unfoldings of Nature, and wonders at her laws and beauties. Cloth, 12mo, net $1.50; postpaid $1.67.

THE CHILD'S LIFE OF JESUS

By Rev. C. M. Steedman

The story of the birth, life, death and resurrection of Jesus told with a simplicity of language and a religious fervor which is in refreshing contrast to the cold and pedantic treatises of the so-called higher critics. With thirty original pictures in colors by Paul Woodroffe. Large 8vo, cloth, gilt top, net $3.00; postpaid $3.25.

AN ISLAND STORY

By H. E. Marshall

STOKES' AUT

STOKES' ENCYCLOPEDIA of FAMILIAR QUOTATIONS

Compiled by ELFORD E. TREFFRY

Since the last appearance of a reliable encyclopedia of familiar quotations many authors then unknown have come to be widely quoted, while many quotations then familiar are now known only to the erudite few.

The clearing out of this dead wood and substituting for it the actually familiar quotations of more recent writers was then one of the main ideas in the compilation of this new encyclopedia; but, on the other hand, the immortal quotations are here given more fully than ever before.

The index gives all the important words of a quotation instead of the first only; its arrangement by subject instead of by authors makes the work more convenient than the older volumes.

Cloth, 8vo, net, $2.25; postpaid, $2.45; same, half crushed levant, gilt top, net, $4.50; postpaid, $4.75.

TIBET: THE MYSTERIOUS

By SIR THOMAS HOLDICH

All the expeditions that have been undertaken to explore this well-nigh impregnable land, from the earliest times up to the late investment by the English troops under Colonel Younghusband, are here chronologically described with both dramatic force and close historical accuracy. Fully illustrated, colored maps, etc. 8vo, cloth, net $3.00; postpaid $3.18.

A SHORT HISTORY of MODERN ENGLISH LITERATURE

By Edmund Gosse, M.A., LL.D.

Mr. Gosse's work on English Literature has attained the rank of a classic. The author has now made important revisions and additions, and the publishers have brought out the work as an enlarged Portrait Edition. Illustrated with eight photogravures and 64 half-tone portraits. Cloth, 8vo, with gilt top, net $2.50; postpaid $2.68.

The GARDEN MONTH by MONTH

Each, 32mo, net $1.00; postpaid $1.10.

What Mr. Ade has done in his "Fables," and Mr. Dunne in "Dooley's Philosophy," Mr. Outcault now does with Buster Brown philosophy as expressed in his "Resolutions."

MY RESOLUTIONS: BUSTER BROWN

By R. F. OUTCAULT

Whereas our other American humorists have chosen the direct method of expressing their "wit and wisdom," Mr. Outcault is more original in using "Buster Brown"—a child—as a means of giving his observations. Thus, his preaching has a genial effect and is apt to be inoffensive. To those who have known Mr. Outcault as a fun-maker only, this book will be an "eye-opener."

Like our greatest American humorist, Mark Twain, he has a serious and thoughtful side, although this is the first time he has shown it to any marked degree in his writings and drawings.

New Handy Shakespeare.

Edited by W. J. Rolfe, Litt.D. This is in all respects the finest handy volume edition of Shakespeare's plays and poems ever made. It is most complete, but although the text and commentary occupies 8500 pages, the excellent thin Bible India paper used reduces the bulk of the volumes so that they are not more than three-quarters of an inch thick. The work comprises the Cambridge text of William Aldis Wright. The commentary includes introductions, notes and glossaries by Israel Gollancz, editor of the Temple Shakespeare, together with the complete notes and variorum readings of Alexander Dyce, a general introduction by William J. Rolfe, Litt.D., and a history of the drama and general criticism by Henry N. Hudson and others. Other features are an index of characters; also biographical and genealogical prefaces to the historical plays by George Russell French, edited by Dr. William J. Rolfe. BLACKIE & SON'S Announcements for Autumn 1906

THE CHILD'S CHRISTMAS

In this beautiful volume Mr. Charles Robinson and Miss Evelyn Sharp describe with mingled sentiment and humor all the joyous happenings of the Christmas season. The author of "The Youngest Girl in the School," and other books that seem likely to be numbered among the classics of the school-room, is unequalled among living writers in the sympathetic understanding of childhood and childhood's ways; and in describing for children the season of the year that peculiarly belongs to them, she has a subject after her own heart. And who could be found better fitted than Mr. Charles Robinson to illustrate the Christmas season? In nearly two hundred charming illustrations, in color and black-and-white, the artist tells pictorially what the author describes in words—the events of Christmas-Eve; the visit of Santa Claus; the joys of Christmas-Day; the Christmas party; the Christmas pantomime; the outdoor sports; all, in fact, that makes Christmas a time of pure delight to the young, and to "grown-ups" a season of kindness and good-will. In the sumptuousness of its get-up, the richness of binding, the quality of paper, the technical excellence of printing, and the care that has been lavished on the reproduction of the line illustrations, "The Child's Christmas" is a triumph of modern book production.

THE LOST EXPLORERS

By ALEXANDER MACDONALD, F.R.G.S. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, price $1.50.

Jack Armstrong and Robert Wentworth, two young English engineers, go to the wilds of western Australia in search of gold, and are joined by an amusing Scotchman. They find the precious metal and as usual in such cases have to defend their claim from outlaws. The ingenuity and inventiveness of Wentworth overcome difficulties and frustrate the schemes of claim-jumpers. Here we have a vivid description of camp life not unlike that of the Californians of '49. Going to newer fields the party are lost in the desert, and narrowly escape death from thirst. Encounters with native savages enliven this part of their journey, and on their return they find a city built around their original diggings.

Mr. Macdonald has a tale to tell, and tells it well. An exploring experience in Patagonia, the Klondike, Central Africa, and in these arid regions of Australia—where he now is, and concerning which he is writing for us a new book—has given him a power of description unusual in authors of juvenile books. There is no writer of boys' books to-day who so quickly gains and holds the interest of youthful readers.

"The mantle of Henty seems to have fallen upon Captain Brereton."—Times.

ROGER THE BOLD: A Tale of the Conquest of Mexico

By CAPTAIN F. S. BRERETON. Illustrated by STANLEY L. WOOD. 12mo, cloth elegant, price $1.50.

Captain Brereton could not have chosen a more attractive background for his new book than the Conquest of Mexico, and the story which he has woven into it is of surpassing interest. The story opens shortly after the discovery of Mexico, and Roger joins an expedition which goes to explore the new country. He is a great fighter, and the tale tells how he is put in charge of a wonderful disk, how a certain traitor robs him, and how he finally comes as a prisoner to Mexico. There he nearly loses his life on the altar of the god of war, but he makes such a determined opposition that the Mexicans think he is a god, and ask him to take the post of cacique or chief. They offer him all their treasure if he will aid them in their fight against the Spaniards, stipulating only that he shall first recover the disk, for without that the secret of the whereabouts of the treasure is lost. The reader will learn with bated breath of the adventures which Roger experiences in attempting this task, of the desperate and historical defence which he organizes on the Mexican causeways, and of his narrow escape from the city before retreat is cut off. He returns to England, rich enough to retrieve the fallen fortunes of his family.

WITH ROBERTS TO CANDAHAR

By CAPTAIN F. S. BRERETON, author of "Roger the Bold," "A Gallant Grenadier," "The Dragon of Pekin," "Foes of the Red Cockade," "A Soldier of Japan," etc. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, price $1.50.

A new story by Captain Brereton, dealing with the incidents of the third Afghan war. Alec Dennisson, a young English lieutenant, whose father, Major Dennisson, was supposed to have been killed in the massacre of the British at Cabul, joins the punitive expedition under General Roberts—the idolized "Bobs" of the British army. On arriving at Cabul, with two young companions, he is attacked and cornered by native fanatics, but after a successful defense in a deserted house, ingeniously escapes. The vivid and historically correct description of the attack on the British defenses at Cabul by the Afghans is given greater interest through the important part taken by our hero in that battle. During British occupation a thrilling adventure in the native quarter comes to a successful termination through the help of an Afghan whose life the hero spared in a previous engagement, and through his later assistance, Alec finds and liberates three white prisoners of the Afghan Sirdar—one of whom is his father, supposedly killed at the Cabul massacre. The newness of the scenes and the novelty to American boys of Afghan life combine to give the tale an interest not found in American stories.

ROUND DE OLE PLANTATION

A picture-book for children. Humorous illustrations of the old negro melodies. By G. F. CHRISTIE. Artistically bound, with picture design on side, price $1.00.

A book full of delightful humor, in which bright pictures of little negro children are made to illustrate such popular plantation songs as "The Golden Slippers," "I'se gwine back to Dixie," "Shine, bright Moon," "Come under de ole Umbrella," etc. There are 24 pages of pictures in full color, and the illustrations are as artistic as the treatment is novel.

THE CHILDREN'S YEAR

In picture boards. 192 pages of new stories and pictures, 40 full-page colored illustrations. Cover design by CHARLES ROBINSON. Price $1.00.

This is a fresh departure in gift-books for little folk. It is a handsome volume, printed on fine paper, in bold type, and lavishly illustrated, in color and black-and-white, by many of the most eminent artists of the day. The contributions, in prose and verse, are by the best living writers for children.

THE AMERICAN STANDARD SCHOOL DICTIONARY

Crown 8vo, 448 pages, strongly bound in cloth, price 25 cents.

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL DICTIONARY, now issued for the first time, has been compiled, under the most competent editorship, with the express purpose of providing a really reliable and up-to-date dictionary at the cheap price of 25c. It is in the confident expectation of securing a very large sale that the publishers have ventured to produce a book of this importance and size at so exceedingly low a price, but they believe that the demand for a full, reliable, and very cheap dictionary is so general that the event will show them to have been warranted in their expectations.

Containing a large vocabulary, the book will be found to be thoroughly practical. In typographic arrangement it is clear. The definitions are equally so, and to these are added pronunciations, irregular forms of verbs, peculiar plurals of nouns, etc. To the dictionary proper have been added, in the form of Appendices, useful lists of various kinds such as: FOREIGN WORDS AND PHRASES; ABBREVIATIONS AND CONTRACTIONS; MONEYS, WEIGHTS, AND MEASURES. In order to meet the needs of the great and rapidly increasing number of the community which is interested, professionally or otherwise, in science, engineering and technical pursuits, special appendices are given in which the chief TERMS USED IN PHYSICS, CHEMISTRY, CIVIL AND ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING, etc., are explained, while a section is devoted to presenting pictorially the most important MECHANICAL MOVEMENTS.

Announcements for Fall

The following books represent a few of the many good things we have to offer the trade for the coming holiday season. The public looks forward with eagerness each year to the showing of the "Dodge" publications, and in many of the larger stores our unique productions are the central attraction. We would suggest a personal visit to our comfortable sample rooms, if convenient, but if you cannot visit us we promise you careful and prompt attention by mail. Samples will be cheerfully forwarded to responsible booksellers and advertising literature gratis. If you have not got our booklet "Good Things for Booklovers," send for it to-day.

BIRTHDAY BOOKS. An entirely new line, printed from new type, with decorated borders in color by Gerta Schroedter. Three titles—Shakespeare, Longfellow and Emerson. Beautifully bound in decorated cloth, $1.00; full limp morocco, $1.50; half morocco, hand sewed and tooled, $2.50; full morocco, hand sewed and tooled, $3.50.

COSY CORNER CONFIDENCES. By Walter Pulitzer.

A companion volume to "A Cynic's Meditations." This is a rare collection of real epigrams, original, witty and worthy of a permanent place on any library shelf. The sayings are even better than "A Cynic's Meditations" (now in its 16th edition), concerning which John Kendrick Bangs says: "Many of the epigrams are delicious," and the London Sketch adds: "We certainly place Mr. Pulitzer far above other American writers of epigrams." Made in unusual size and style. Boards, 75 cents; leather, $1.00.

 THE BIOGRAPHY OF OUR BABY. Verses by Edmund Vance Cooke and drawings by Bessie Collins Pease. An entirely new baby record book. New colored plates by a popular artist; verses by the author of "Chronicles of the Little Tot" and paper made to be written on with pen and ink. These are a few of the points that go to make this the best book on the market at the price. Cloth, $1.50; silk, padded, $3.00; ooze leather, $4.00.

 TOLD TO THE LITTLE TOT. Edmund Vance Cooke's first book for children is going to make a decided hit everywhere. Bound uniform with his volume of poems about children, "Chronicles of the Little Tot," and containing thirty-nine illustrations by Bessie Collins Pease, nine in full color. There is probably no one in the world better fitted to tell stories to children than Mr. Cooke. His recent poems about children show a wonderful insight and a thorough knowledge of child-life and character, and in a very short time Mr. Cooke's poems have obtained a wide and cordial reception. Cloth, $1.50.

Mr. Cooke's other works are "Rimes to be Read," miscellaneous poems, cloth, $1.50; "Chronicles of the Little Tot," poems about children, cloth, $1.50.

 CHRISTMAS BOOKS by Charles Dickens, containing all of the Christmas stories, beautifully printed and bound. Two volumes, cloth, $1.50; limp leather, $2.50.

 THE PHILOSOPHY OF REST. By E. A. Fletcher. A work of great helpfulness to those who would find rest from the nerve-wrecking rush of present-day life. Cloth, 75 cents.

 A PRAYER. By Max Ehrmann. This beautiful prayer, which has had a circulation of about half a million copies, is printed with several other choice prose poems by the same author in an artistic little volume in gold and two colors. One of the most successful books made this year. Leatherette, 75 cents; ooze leather, $1.50.

 THE INGOLDSBY LEGENDS. A handsome edition of this favorite classic, beautifully printed and bound. Made in two handy volumes, with frontispiece in photogravure. Cloth, $1.50; limp leather, $2.00.

 GREAT IDEALS. Five new titles are now ready—Duty, An Ideal, Crossing the Bar, The Psalm of Life, Day by Day. Dainty bindings in leatherette, padded, 35 cents; English leather, 75 cents.

 HAND COLORED BOOKS. "Rime of the Ancient Mariner," "Legend of Sleepy Hollow" and Brown-ing's "Saul." Hand colored initial letters, Japan inserts, original ornaments. Bound in full morocco, $2.00.

 GOLDEN TREASURY OF IRISH SONGS AND LYRICS. Edited with notes by Charles Welsh, with the assistance of such distinguished Irish scholars and poets as Dr. Douglas Hyde, Stephen Lucine Gywnn, Lady Gregory, D. J. O'Donoghue, Prof. Robinson, of Harvard; Dr. Maurice F. Egan, of the Catholic University in Washington, D. C., and many others of equal prominence. Two volumes, cloth, $2.50; half morocco, $6.00. (Ready November.)

 LITTLE BOOKS ON ART. This series forms an exquisitely artistic little library of art. Daintily bound, artistically printed and copiously illustrated, they are practically indispensable to the art lover. Four new titles are now ready—"Raphael," "Greek Art," "Van Dyke," "Millett." Cloth, $1.50.

 HUMPTY DUMPTY AND OTHER SONGS. By Joseph Moorat. A very beautiful child's book, containing many of the old favorite nursery rhymes set to music, with illustrations by Paul Woodroffe. Among the compositions are: The King of France, Hush-a-Bye Baby, Rub a Dub Dub, Humpty Dumpty, Bye Baby Bunting, There Was a Crooked Man, Three Little Mice, etc., etc. Boards, $1.25.

 POEMS WE LOVE. Edited by Leigh Mitchell Hodges, author of "The Great Optimist." A compilation of old favorite poems, carefully selected from the works of the best writers. Printed on a heavy deckle-edge paper in two colors. A beautiful and very lovable book.

 THROUGH THE YEAR WITH LONGFELLOW and THROUGH THE YEAR WITH TENNYSON. Two new volumes in the Through the Year Series. Printed in red and black. Cloth, $1.00; leather, $1.50.

 THE ROYAL LIBRARY. A series of standard works bound in a beautiful imported pig grain leather, of a rich, dark red color, gilt tops, gold side titles, colored linings. An exceedingly attractive gift book.

The author finds undisputable evidence through historical research and Bible study of its human and not divine origin. The chapters devoted to each of its translations are fascinating.

THE INITIAL VOLUME OF McLoughlin Bros.' Athletic Library

"Midget" Blake, Pitcher

By LESLIE W. QUIRK

Author Baby Elton, Quarterback, etc.

Profusely illustrated in tints, with colored frontispiece, done in lithography. Cloth, 12mo, exquisitely stamped in three colors. Price, Fifty Cents.

A pulsating baseball story for boys. The young hero, nicknamed "The Midget," is bound to win his way straight to the hearts of all lovers of the national game. He is the star pitcher of the college nine that finally wins the championship, after a series of the most exciting games that were ever put into a book. It is not a superficial treatment of baseball, but a thoroughly technical story of the sport, with "bunts" and "flies," "spit-balls," "home-steals," marvelous catches, "squeeze" plays and the like. The scene is a college, and young readers will catch the infection called "college-spirit" before the first chapter is read. Besides the hero, there are a number of familiar types of characters—big, bluff Coach Kling; Traitor Bounder, who threw the game but later made up for his dishonesty; a rival pitcher who did all in his power to lessen Midget's glory, and countless others. Readers of the author's stories in St. Nicholas, Youth's Companion, American Boy, etc., will find Midget one of the strongest characters Mr. Quirk has ever offered his thousands of boy readers.

Ready October 1st

Young Folks' Colonial Library

"That is a good book that is opened with expectation and closed with profit."

—ALCOTT.

This series of books will consist of biographical stories of the minor characters in the War for Independence. They are written in a style appealing especially to young people; but the adult will find them authentic as well as interesting reading. The stories have been carefully prepared and deal only in facts, with enough romantic coloring to give them freshness and interest. Our young folks will find them a material aid to the study of our country's history. The books are profusely illustrated in tints, frontispieces in colored lithography. Cloth, 12mo, stamped in three colors. Price, per Vol., Forty Cents.

The Story of Ethan Allen

The Green Mountain Boy

This book tells the thrilling tale of the capture of Crown Point and Ticonderoga, by "the Green Mountain Boys," as well as other stirring events in which this patriotic band had a part.

The Story of General Anthony Wayne

("Mad Anthony")

The Hero of Stony Point

The subject of this tale, as well as the style and plan of the book, renders it unique in American biographical literature. It is a series of glimpses, a sort of fast moving panorama in which may be seen the most dramatic incidents in the War for Independence.

McLOUGHLIN BROS., 890 Broadway, New York

Young Folks' Colonial Library

The Story of General Francis Marion

The Bayard of the South

The reader's interest in this volume is centered in the swamps of South Carolina, where "Marion and his Merry Men" made their home. The life of Robin Hood itself cannot rival that of the extraordinary Marion in romantic interest. He is forever associated with midnight camp-fires, rousing songs, gallant raids and hair-breadth escapes. Volumes to follow shortly :

The Story of Baron Johann DeKalb

This book deals with a period of peace as well as one of war, being unique among the other works in the series.

It gives a pleasant view of Colonial life previous to the War for Independence, showing the old tavern life in the days of stage-coaches and post-boys. It tells the story of France's relations with the Colonies and how the brave DeKalb chanced to come to America, and how he became a Continental officer. From this point on the story describes his participation in the fight for freedom and his final end in the battle of Camden, where he was the hero of the day.

The Story of General Richard Montgomery

This story affords a vivid glimpse of the most dramatic episodes in two wars. It describes the most exciting incidents in the French and Indian conflict, and ends with the disastrous invasion of Canada by the Continental forces in the fight for independence. The sad fate of the hero of this historical tale forms one of the most interesting and pathetic episodes in American history. The story of how he came to the thirteen colonies as a British Colonel, and finally cast his lot with the struggling patriots, is filled with all the incidents requisite to a thrilling and absorbing narrative.

"Making an Oxford Bible"

Most Remarkable Product of the Greatest of Printing Houses

"The Oxford Bibles are, as all the world knows, more popular and more widely circulated than any other edition of the sacred volume, and all the world knows also that their remarkable popularity depends upon the marvelous qualities of the paper on which they are printed. For the Bible is one of the longest books in the world; and, in order that it may be presented to the student in a shape at once serviceable and compact, paper of very peculiar attributes is required. It must be very thin, but at the same time it must be strong in texture and opaque. The famous Oxford India paper fulfils these conditions in a greater degree than any other paper in the world; and during the last twenty years it has entirely revolutionized the Bible trade."

ESSAYS IN PASTORAL MEDICINE

By AUSTIN O'MALLEY, M.D., Ph.D., LL.D., Pathologist and Ophthalmologist to Saint Agnes's Hospital, Philadelphia, and JAMES J. WALSH, M.D., Ph.D., LL.D., Adjunct Professor of Medicine, Professor of Nervous Diseases and of the History of Medicine, Fordham University, New York. 8vo. pp. viii-363. $2.50, net. By mail, $2.68.

"The term Pastoral Medicine is somewhat difficult to define because it comprises unrelated material ranging from disinfection to feticide. It presents that part of medicine which is of import to a pastor in his cure, and those divisions of ethics and moral theology which concern a physician in his practice. It sets forth facts and principles whereby the physician himself or his pastor may direct the operator's conscience whenever medicine takes on a moral quality, and it also explains to the pastor, who must often minister to a diseased mind, certain medical truths which will soften harsh judgments, and other facts, which may be indifferent morally but which assist him in the proper conduct of his work, especially as an educator. Pastoral medicine is not to be confused with the code of rules commonly called medical ethics."—Extract from Preface.

ABYSSINIA OF TO-DAY

An Account of the First Mission sent by the American Government to the King of Kings. By ROBERT P. SKINNER, Commissioner of Abyssinia, 1903-4; American Consul-General; Fellow of the American Geographical Society; Soci dou Felibrige. With numerous Illustrations and Map. 8vo. $3.00, net.

The object of this American Mission to the Emperor Menelik was to negotiate a commercial treaty. The Mission was extremely well received, and the expedition appears to have been a complete success. The picture drawn by Mr. SKINNER of the Abyssinians and their ruler is an exceedingly agreeable one; and his notes on this land of grave faces, elaborate courtesy, classic tone, and Biblical civilization, its history, politics, language, literature, religion, and trade, are full of interest; there are also some valuable hints on the organization and equipment of a caravan.

WESTERN TIBET AND THE BRITISH BORDER

By CHARLES A. SHERRING, M.A., F.R.G.S., Indian Civil Service; Deputy Commissioner of Almora. With 275 Illustrations and 5 Maps and Sketches. Royal 8vo. $6.00, net.

During the last few years Tibet, wrapped through the centuries in mystery, has been effectively "opened up" to the gaze of the Western world, and already the reader has at his disposal an enormous mass of information on the country and its inhabitants. But there is in Western Tibet a region which is still comparatively little known, which is especially sacred to the Hindu and Buddhist, and in which curious myths and still more curious manners abound; and it is of this portion of the British Borderland, its government, and the religion and customs of its peoples, that Mr. SHERRING writes.

The book contains an account by Dr. T. G. LONGSTAFF, M.B., F.R.G.S., of an attempt to climb Gurla Manhata, the highest mountain in Western Tibet, with two Swiss guides, which is especially noteworthy as being the first occasion on which a Tibetan mountain has been attacked according to approved modern methods. A special feature of the numerous illustrations in the book are the magnificent panoramic views.

The Belle of the Blue Grass Country

By H. D. PITTMAN

A story of Kentucky life just after the Civil War. A graphic pen picture of characters fast disappearing. One can fairly smell the fragrant fields of the "Bluegrass" country. Mrs. Pittman has done for Kentucky what Ouida did for Florence. A love story of wonderful sweetness pervades the entire book. Illustrated. Cloth bound. Price, $1.50.

A Wilderness Cry

By GEORGE EDWARD DAY

A protest and a warning. A story with a strong moral lesson. A story that every young woman should read and profit thereby. Fully illustrated. Price, $1.50.

The Untamed Philosopher

By FRANK W. HASTINGS

Author of several widely unknown works

Out of the Ashes

By HARNEY RENNOLDS

The unique novel of the age. A powerful tale well told. One of the greatest modern social problems—divorce—finds a natural and the only possible solution in this book. Price, $1.50.

Four Girls

By MARY RODNEY

A story of infinite sweetness. The life of four sweet little women, just out of school. Their ambitions, their love affairs, their courtship, and finally their respective marriages. Illustrated. Cloth bound. Price, $1.50.

Signal Lights

By LOUISE M. HOPKINS

A frontier story of the good old-fashioned sort. The plot starts with a whoop, and fairly races to the last chapter. It's the sort of a book a boy would forget his dinner to read. Illustrated. Cloth bound. Price, $1.50.

Maid of the Mohawk

By FREDERICK A. RAY

A romance of the picturesque Mohawk Valley in the days of the American Revolution. Historically correct and as full of interesting facts as a nut is of meat. A love story, too, and an unusually good one. Illustrated. Cloth bound. Price, $1.50.

20,000 SOLD IN 40 DAYS

The Kentuckian

By JAMES BALL NAYLOR

THE BOOK OF THE YEAR "THIS WAS A MAN!"

By HATTIE HORNER LOUTHAN

If you read but one book this year, this is the book that you should read. It is the most powerful, soul-stirring tale that has passed through the presses in many years. It is a story of heredity, a story based on the belief that "blood will tell," a story of sinners and of one who "was a man." The scene is laid in Colorado at the present time. Frontispiece of Paul the hero. Price, $1.50.

Yarb and Cretine

By Dr. GEORGE B. H. SWAYZE

The author, a prominent Philadelphia physician, has written a bit of fiction that will be handed to our children and grandchildren in years to come, along with Dickens and Shakespeare. Fully illustrated. Price, $1.50.

Fires of Desire

By

LAWRENCE ROGERS MANSFIELD

A young Chicagoan of the cloth is sent to India as a teacher. He meets a beautiful native girl, pretends to marry her, but in reality betrays her. Returning to America he finds that his sweetheart has gone to India and has met the girl he has betrayed. The end is tragic. A tale of great strength which every one should read. Illustrated. Price, $1.50.

Highland Mary

By CLAYTON M. LEGGE

A novel of more than ordinary interest, portraying many important characters and telling for the first time in fiction the sweet love story of "Bobbie Burns" and Highland Mary. Ten full-page illustrations. Price, $1.50.

ANOTHER QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER

Jay Gould Harmon

By GEORGE S. KIMBALL

The Boston Transcript, Nov. 8, 1905, says: "Full of vigor and distinctly realistic. Its description of the lumber drive is of compelling interest, an absolute photograph from life; indeed, a most remarkable piece of writing. Masterly handling of incident and dialogue. A splendid success." Illustrated. Price, $1.50.

The Man from Maine

By FRANK CARLOS GRIFFITH

Asa King's quaint and witty remarks in "The Man from Maine" are sure to provoke as much mirth as did the philosophy of David Harum. Fully illustrated. Price, $1.50.

Lords of the Soil

By LYDIA A. JOCELYN and NATHAN J. CUFFEE

"It is an epic of the Indian race, a 'Hiawatha' in prose, the eloquence of which will wing straight to the heart of thousands of readers."—Boston Herald, Sept. 16th, 1905. Price, $1.50.

Ande Trembath

By MATT. STAN. KEMP

Spice

By "GINGER"

A NEW IDEA. Bound to be a big hit on your humorous counter. It may seem almost impossible but the author-illustrator has evolved a Book of Humor built on a new plan.

The author of The Book of Spice is a writer of widespread fame, who in this instance modestly hides behind a pseudonym to observe the reception of his first pictures, and his new ideas in humor to fit them.

jingles and paragraphs set in double page illustra-
strange ways.

Pepper is very lively, Cinnamon is different, Thyme is not dull, Cloves leave no bad taste, Sage suggests no end of wisdom, Mustard is brilliant, Mace is irresistible, but this Book is All-spice. As unique in scheme as "The Foolish Dictionary," and far cleverer. Printed on Spice Paper; Bound in Spice Covers. Order at once and liberally.

SALOME

By OSCAR WILDE. With the Beardsley illustrations.

Oscar Wilde's remarkable tragedy of Salome has the double distinction of having been written for Sarah Bernhardt and illustrated by Aubrey Beardsley. Inserted, on Japanese vellum, are faithful reproductions of the Beardsley drawings, than which no better example of the suggestive and weird genius of the artist can be found. The appearance of this play in its entirety is particularly timely this fall, as Herr Conried has announced that the Metropolitan Opera Company is to include among its notable creations for this season the Strauss opera of Salome, the libretto of which is Mr. Wilde's play.

THE NEW AGRICULTURE

By T. BYARD COLLINS

8vo, Cloth, 376 Pages, 100 Illustrations, $2.00

This new and valuable work sets forth the changes which have taken place in American agricultural methods which are transforming farm life, formerly so hard, into the most independent, peaceful, and agreeable existence. Farm life to-day offers more inducements than at any previous period in the world's history, and it is calling millions from the desk. The present work is one of the most practical treatises on the subject which has ever been issued. It contains 376 pages and 100 illustrations. In brief the contents are as follows: A general statement of the advantages of farm life; the vast systems of irrigation which are transforming the great west; the principles and importance of fertilization; the importance of canals and good roads; some new interests which promise a profit; some new human creations in the plant world; new varieties of grain, root and fruit and the possibilities which they indicate; improper methods in agricultural practice; new machinery by which the drudgery of life on the farm is being eliminated. The relation of a body of specialists to the American farmer who can have the most expert advice upon every phase of his work without any expense whatever to himself is shown in Chapter X.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN BOY

By A. RUSSELL BOND

12mo, 320 Pages, 340 Illustrations
$2.00 postpaid

This is a story of outdoor boy life, suggesting a large number of diversions which, aside from affording entertainment, will stimulate in boys the creative spirit. In each instance complete practical instructions are given for building the various articles. The needs of the boy camper are supplied by the directions for making tramping outfits, sleeping bags and tents; also such other shelters as trees, houses, straw huts, log cabins and caves. The winter diversions include instructions for making six kinds of skate sails and eight kinds of snow shoes and skis, besides ice boats, scooters, sledges, toboggans, and a peculiar Swedish contrivance called a "rennwolf." Among the more instructive subjects covered are surveying, wigwagging, heliographing and bridge building, in which six different kinds of bridges, including a simple cantilever bridge, are described. In addition to these, the book contains a large number of miscellaneous devices, such as scows, canoes, land yachts, windmills, water wheels and the like.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN REFERENCE BOOK

12mo, Cloth, 516 Pages. Illustrated
6 Colored Plates. $1.50

The result of the queries of three generations of readers and correspondents is crystallized in this book. It is indispensable to every family and business man. It deals with matters of interest to everybody. The book contains 50,000 facts, and is much more complete and more exhaustive than anything of the kind which has ever been attempted. It is a book of everyday reference, more useful than an encyclopedia, because you will find what you want in an instant in a more condensed form. Sixty years of experience alone have made it possible for the publishers of the Scientific American to present to the purchasers of this book a remarkable aggregation of information.

Fall Announcements

Odds and Ends from Pagoda Land

By W. C. GRIGGS, M.D.
Price, 90 cents.

Pagoda Land in Burma, and from the notebook of Doctor Griggs there have found their way into this volume bits of information and familiar gossip scarcely to be found elsewhere. From the byways in it, from the out-of-the-way places he has gathered them, and they ought to find a warm welcome from every mission band and circle in the land.

The Message of Hosea and the Twentieth Century

By Rev. B. A. COPASS.
Price, 50 cents.

The distinctive message of the prophet to Israel, or the man of his own time, was that their sin against God partook of the nature of unchastity. This same message Doctor Copass applies to our own times. It is a spirited interpretation of an old book applied in a virile way to modern life.

The Church at Libertyville

By J. W. CONLEY, D.D.
Price, $1.00.

As we all know, there are trying people in the church at large, and they help to bring about trying circumstances. In addition to these, there are trials in church and ministerial service that inhere inevitably in this phase of life. Doctor Conley has treated of these in story form, and in a very suggestive, animated, and helpful fashion.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE BAPTISTS

By Prof. HENRY C. VEDDER, D.D. 12mo, 416 pp. Illustrated edition. Price, $1.50.

For a number of years now Professor Vedder's "Short History of the Baptists" has been a standard work in our libraries. In this present form it is enlarged and illustrated and thus has its value enhanced. It is a busy age. Ponderous volumes or many-volumed works are quite apt to be passed by or put aside for the leisure season that rarely comes. It is the compendium, the handbook, that gets the right of way. And so this short history will win its way while longer ones wait for their chance. It contains all that is essential. Beginning with the founding of Christianity, it traces its development and the sects that sprang up in its pathway, its decline and reformation, and the appearance and enlargement of our own denomination.

Sunny

By MARGARET A. FROST.
Price, 75 cents.

"Sunny" is the winsome daughter of a physician who becomes suddenly blind. In some way the child very early receives the idea that her father is under her special care, and that she must minister to him. The story weaves itself about this fact, and her development as to body and mind is full of interesting incidents.

The Self-Effacement of Malachi Joseph

By EVERETT T. TOMLINSON.
Price, $1.00.

A young man graduate of one of our theological seminaries desired settlement in an established field. He went to his professor for advice, with the result that he was told to go out and make a field for himself. This he did, and his trials and testings and triumphs are embodied in this book.

The Promotion

By Rev. JOHN M. DEAN.
Price, $1.00.

The author of this book spent several years in missionary work in the Philippine Islands, which form the scene of this story. It deals to some extent with our military operations therein, and also in a particularly gratifying way with our missionary work. The story has a somewhat sad ending, but its lesson and general influence will be found helpful.

The Book of the Prophet Jeremiah

By Prof. C. R. BROWN, D.D. Price $2.00.

Another portion of the American Commentary on the Old Testament. It will be a notable contribution, at once helpful to the scholar and the ordinary student.

For the Work of the Ministry

By Prof. T. HARWOOD PATTISON. Elaborated by his son, Rev. HAROLD PATTISON. Price, $2.00.

Practical Ideals in Evangelism

By CHARLES HERBERT RUST. Price, 60 cents.

This work is the result of Mr. Rust's personal experience in the chapel-car work, and the general field of evangelistic effort.

A New Critical Translation of the Book of Jeremiah

By Prof. C. R. BROWN, D.D. Price, $1.00.

SOME EARLY AUTUMN BOOKS

The Secret of the Moor Cottage

By

H. RIPLEY CROMBIE

5x7½ INCHES; 285 PAGES; $1.25.

THE mere statement that this new novel is written by the sister of A. Conan Doyle is enough to awaken public curiosity. It is a story of mystery and adventure that naturally involves a detective, who ultimately works out the puzzle that surrounds him and later writes about it himself.

Father Pink

By

ALFRED WILSON BARRETT

5x7½ INCHES; 326 PAGES; $1.50.

A LIVELY narrative of wily machinations of a seemingly harmless priest, in which large property rights are involved, including a hoarded pile of diamonds, with eager rivals for the hand of the woman who owns the property in question. The priest, as the cleverest actor in the drama, is an unusually interesting character.

The Electric Theft

By

NEIL WYNN WILLIAMS

5x7½ INCHES; 311 PAGES; $1.50.

FOR one who likes action, and not analysis; an unhackneyed plot, original and novel, but reasonably probable; a love romance knit into the thread of incident, with a titanic struggle between two strong rivals, who make the very earth tremble in their efforts for mastery—for such a one this is a book well worth while.

Intimations of Immortality

Compiled by

HELEN P. PATTEN

5x8½ INCHES; 280 PAGES; $1.50 net.

THE brief but salient comments of the great and learned of olden and modern times on Immortality—a compilation of remarkable diversity and value, arranged under such topics as The Testimony of the Ancients, The Speculations of Philosophy, The Voice of the Church, The Vision of the Poet.

The Cheerful Cricket

AND OTHERS

By

JEANNETTE MARKS

8½x10½ INCHES; 100 PAGES; $2.00.

THE life and doings of diminutive creatures of nature, expressed not in dull natural history facts, but in animated incident and action. Written in delightful language, with pictures in four colors that are fascinating. The most beautiful and entertaining juvenile of the year.

Stella's Adventures in Starland

By

ELBRIDGE H. SARIN

6x7½ INCHES; 175 PAGES; $1.50.

FOR children it would be hard to find a more entertaining book than this. Prompt action, frequent incident, bright conversation, do not allow curiosity to flag. Mercury the Messenger-Boy, Ill-Tempered Mr. Moon, Venus and her School, Mr. Mars, and Neptune are characters that, along with the pictures, will delight any child.

Latter-Day Love Sonnets

Edited by

LAURENS MAYNARD

6x7½ INCHES; 100 PAGES; $2.00 net.

THE latest addition to the LOVE SONNET SERIES, comprising the most brilliant Love Sonnets of nearly one hundred poets of the present day, both British and American—a notable group of poems and of authors, issued in the handsome style characteristic of this series.

In Childhood's Country

By

LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON

6½x8½ INCHES; 78 PAGES; $1.00 net.

A NEW edition of this delightful children's classic. What child will not be made happy over "Monk and Maid," "The Doll's Decline," "To Rosebud Ruth," "The Lily's Rival," and other verses written with the author's sympathy with and appreciation of the child mind?

New and Unique Editions

THE SONG OF OUR SYRIAN GUEST

By WILLIAM ALLEN KNIGHT, is produced in a unique manner, with peculiar artistic taste, that not only makes the publication pleasing as an example of book-making, but satisfies the artistic sense by its originality and harmony of scheme.

An interesting frontispiece from a painting by Harold Sichel will embellish the fore part of this publication; also the Twenty-third Psalm printed in two colors with decorative border and decorations. The book throughout printed in two colors; harmonious and decorative fly-leaves, bound in boards with colored label; size 8 x 5 inches, about 40 pages. 50c. net, postage 6c.

The Pilgrim Press have produced a limited number of THE SONG OF OUR SYRIAN GUEST, especially decorated, bound in ooz leather, with an appropriate and striking design, in blind tooling, and a gold die, gilt top, decorative fly-leaves, enclosed in a box. This edition is particularly pleasing as a gift-book for all seasons. $1.25 net, postage 8c.

THE SONG OF OUR SYRIAN GUEST

The Book of Common Worship

Prepared by the Committee of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

For Voluntary Use

LARGE TYPE EDITION

Price, 75 cents, postpaid; in quantities, 50 cents, delivery extra.
Full leather, $1.50; postage extra.

SMALLER EDITION, 35 cents, postpaid; in quantities, 25 cents, delivery extra.
Full leather, $1.00; postage, 5 cents.

The very large demand for the book and the warm commendation that the work of the Committee has received on all sides, clearly indicate that the Book of Common Worship has met a real need, and that it is destined to a wide and increasing usefulness.

"It contains nothing which could not be employed with edification by any sincere believer in the Lord Jesus Christ."

"The thoroughness of the workmanship manifested in this book is admirable. The book has homogeneity of style, and the style is of a quality at once liturgical and literary, lofty and not stilted; smooth yet virile, devout and not affected. The book has unity and balance of parts and a large measure of completeness. It is an achievement that is an honor to our Church and will command notice and respect from the Christian world. Our age is not esteemed one fitted for creed- or liturgy-making. The Brief Statement was surprisingly well done, nevertheless, and the Book of Common Worship far surpasses it."—The Westminster.

"It is Protestant, Trinitarian, Christological, and imbued with the spirit of the Westminster Confession. Whether it will ever be generally used by Presbyterian ministers in the pulpit is not so important a question as whether ministers will use its forms as a model by which to frame their own free supplications, and thus give dignity to that part of our service which should be the most impressive and which is often least worthy. Its forms for Marriage, Burial, and Reception of Members, we doubt not, soon will be in common use."—The Interior.

"There can hardly fail to be, however, a warm reception both within and without the Presbyterian Church for this honest and praiseworthy effort to meet a real need. . . . The movement toward the enrichment of the service has gained strength with every passing year, and we are as far away, generally speaking, from the unadorned service of the Pilgrim Fathers and Colonial days as we are from their bare and homely meeting houses."—The Boston Transcript.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO

PUBLISHERS : : : : :

Of course you know that in January last we moved our Book Factory to the present address. It may also interest you to know that we then acquired additional space to the extent of 15,000 square feet and that we have since added 5,000 feet more. Even this has proved insufficient and we have now secured still another 15,000 feet. These facts would seem to indicate that our work and our methods were giving general satisfaction to our patrons, and while we are not seeking additional orders for 1906 delivery, we are making all possible preparation for handling your next year's business.

THE SHEPARD PUBLICATIONS

IBSEN

$1.25 net.

His life, etc., etc. By HALDANE MACFALL, with portraits by Joseph Simpson. A masterly biography by a writer whose deep and sympathetic study has given Ibsen students a character portrayal so vivid with brilliant understanding, and absorbing with that touch of genius which has vitalized this splendid work. 200 pages. Size, $5\frac{3}{4} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$; handsomely bound, with cover design by Joseph Simpson. Price, \$1.25 net.

DIARY OF A '49R

$1.25 net.

Edited by CHAUNCEY L. CANFIELD. A direct and boldly plain narrative of pioneer days; sparkling with diamonds in the rough. Unvarnished realism told with a rugged force that holds the mind by its simple power. The "Diary Tale" has the personal and direct fascination of a human document, and a literary allurement through the writer's unaffected style. 260 pages. Size, $6\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{4}$; decorative cover, designed by Harold Sichel. Price, \$1.25 net.

GIFTS AND GIVERS

75 cts. net.

A Sermon for all Seasons. By MARGARET COLLIER GRAHAM. This brochure represents the author's finest work. The humor, truth, and searching analysis that lays bare affectation and "motive" in the giving of gifts goes directly home to most of us givers or recipients. We look at the pages and see ourselves mirrored in brilliantly polished phrase or sparkling humor. A beautiful spirit of sincere gift-giving adds a new joy to the Christmas spirit. Beautifully decorated and bound, "wood veneer" covers; text in two colors. 50 pages. Size, $4\frac{3}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$. Board edition, 75 cents; leather edition, \$1.25.

BIRDALONE ESSAY SERIES

50 cts. net.

The first issue of this series will include Emerson's FRIENDSHIP, PRUDENCE, HEROISM, and are now ready for distribution. The publishers' object is to give a beautiful book, clearly printed, perfect in form and convenient in shape. The above have been designed by Fred W. Goudy. Title and text in two colors; a decorated frontispiece in three colors. Size, $4\frac{3}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$. Bound in flexible boards, 50 cents; leather stamped with gold, \$1.00.

LIONS

By JOSEPH SIMPSON, with introduction by Haldane Macfall. A series of remarkable characters by the great Caricaturist, whose brush paints a striking portrait, accentuates personal peculiarities without a touch of brutality or vulgarity. Published in portfolio form, to include fourteen pictures, including Theodore Roosevelt, Kipling, Rockefeller, Morgan and other great figures whose minds are shaping the course of Policies, Finance and the Arts. Portfolio, tipped portraits on Japan Vellum. Size, 11×15 inches. Price (later).

OVER IN THE MEADOW

$1.00 net.

A remarkable book for very little boys and girls. The old verses of Olive Wadsworth's "Over in the Meadow," with additions set to music by Mabel Wood Hill; captivating drawings by Harold Sichel, all in three colors. Story, song and pretty sermon crowded with fun and suggestion; absolutely original in every way. Dealers are urgently advised to order liberally. Size $8\frac{1}{4} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$; bound in boards; brilliant cover; new scheme. Price, \$1.00 net.

CARDS, FOLDERS, LEAFLETS.

An extensive line of beautifully printed and wisely selected Mottoes and Aphorisms have been produced by Morgan Shepard Company. The colors, designs and forms are entirely new; the prices range from 10 cents to 20 cents each; liberal discounts in quantity orders.

THE STRUGGLE

It is a problematic novel at an opportune time

By SIDNEY C. TAPP

"The Jungle has been out-Jungled."—Baltimore World.

"It is destined to have an effect upon our civilization, that no novel has had since 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.'"—Atlanta News.

The Metropolitan press have made a "find" in the book; they say the characters in the book have their doubles in our civilization. It is a book that is here not for a day, but for the generation.
